REPUBLICANS ADMIT SLUMP

DEMOCRATS SWEEP STATE

10,000 BEST CLAIM FOR DRAPER

FOURTH EDITION.

BOSTON AMERICAN

Copyright, 1909, by the New England Newspaper Publishing Company. Registered in U. S. Patent Office.

VOL. 6—No. 224. BOSTON, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1909. ONE CENT.

Commissioner O'Meara Attacked by Pastors

(Photo by Purdy)

VAHEY ATTACKS DRAPER ON BEEF SCANDAL

The Democratic ward chairmen of Boston were urged to get out a rousing vote to-morrow at a meeting at noon to-day in the rooms of the Democratic City Committee in the Old South Building, in addresses made by James H. Vahey and Eugene N. Foss, candidates respectively for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor on the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Foss said that a Democratic victory meant a building up of commerce, more labor and cheaper living.

Mr. Vahey spoke as follows:

"Bad Beef Not Forgotten."

"A final word about the Governor of the State and his attitude toward the great masses of he people. He has indeed been insolent and arrogant enough about the eight-hour bill, but the people of the State have not forgotten his utter disregard of public opinion on the beef question last Spring. The whole State was aroused about the diseased beef which was being sold with the consent of the State authorities. The great masses of the people, who are compelled to eat meat to produce blood and muscle for their daily labors, were alarmed because of the fear that their chief food product was improperly inspected.

"The attention of the Governor was frequently called to the deplorable condition of affairs by the great newspapers of the State. The medical men all over the Commonwealth urged the Governor to stop the sale of diseased meat. Day after day he was urged to prevent the sickness and death which would follow in the wake of such outrageous trade. The Governor stood insolent and defiant. He was backing up the beef and his officials, and abandoning the people to the mercies of men who were bringing this meat into the State. Nor until the force of public opinion, press, pulpit, doctors and others became so overwhelming that he could no longer withstand it did he finally recede from the stand he had taken. It was another indication that he is out of touch and lacked sympathy with the great mass of the people of the State. No longer will such arrogance and insolence be tolerated by our people."

Means a Lower Tariff.

Mr. Foss said:

"If we win it means an immediate reduction of the tariff downward, it means a reversal of this reactionary section of the Aldrich bill. This means fairer trade relations with Canada, which in turn means the building up of our commerce, more labor for the people, cheaper living. It means that wharf property instead of being a drag on the market will be worth $5 a foot instead of fifty cents a foot.

"We want to build up the port of Boston. We want our harbor alive with shipping, our wharves teeming with life, our people employed.

"I have been trying all my life as a business man to build up the manufacturing interests. In my factories at Hyde Park and Cambridge I have employed up to thousands. I am engaged in building a big cotton mill in East Boston to give employment of more thousands. There ought to be twenty cotton mills here in Boston. We have every facility for handling the business and power of manufacturing sites are available and the most efficient labor in the world. Every man in Boston is interested or should be in this endeavor to build up this city, to enlarge her manufacturing interests, to increase her foreign trade.

"Treat Canada Decently."

"We don't do these things and indulge in commercial warfare without neighbors. We must have reciprocal trade with Canada. We must treat Canada decently.

"I appeal to every man and every voter, irrespective of party, to join with me tomorrow in voting for this change.

"I would not be held by party lines and sit idly by to see the commerce of Boston suffer. If we ever are going to make this a great metropolitan center, if we ever are going to make Boston one of the biggest shipping ports in the world, we must have peace and friendly relations, fair trade along reciprocal lines with our neighbor and with our best customers abroad.

"I want to see every business man, every voter, irrespective of party, use his vote intelligently to-morrow and join with me in making this possible.

"The high cost of living is due to this unnecessarily high tariff, as clearly assumed by the advertisement inserted by the Republican leaders on Saturday.

"Victory Is With Us."

"I think that Mr. Dooley should sue them for infringement of copyright. About every article enumerated in their list is controlled by two of the biggest trusts in the world, which have secured an absolute monopoly of trade through the high tariff wall that shelters them, while just across the Canadian border competition rages and it not quite fifty per cent. less than they do here.

"Victory is with us this year. Thousands of Republicans are going to register their protest against a longer continuance of the policy that has brought higher prices, absolute monopoly and tariff warfares. Against a State control that defies the request of the President for the right to impose an income tax by the federal government, that is fighting direct nominations in order to retain control.

PEARY IS IN WASHINGTON WITH PROOFS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Commander Robert E. Peary arrived here to-day from his home in Maine, bringing with him the data which he says will complete the report he forwarded some time ago to the sub-committee of the National Geographic Society appointed to pass on the commander's proofs that he succeeded in reaching the North Pole in advance of Dr. Cook.

The commander was summoned to meet Professor Willis L. Moore, president of the society, and the sub-committee this afternoon, and formally deliver the data the subcommittee the additional data demanded. He expects to return to his home to-night. Professor Moore said this afternoon:

"Commander Peary's report, as submitted to the sub-committee, is in magnificent shape, but the sub-committee wanted everything he has in the way of proof. That which was missing was not of the highest importance, but still the sub-committee thought it should have everything the commander has which in any bears on his claim.

"I expect to call a meeting of the full committee Wednesday morning for the purpose of hearing the report of the sub-committee. A statement will be made public later in the day."

LATHAM FLIES 96 MILES, UP THREE HOURS

BROOKLANDS, Eng., Nov. 1.—After smashing the British record with a flight of forty-one miles in 1 hour and 14.5 seconds, Louis Paulhan to-day continued in a magnificent trip of ninety-six miles, coming to earth only when his petrol supply gave out after three hours. This is the longest English flight yet made and is surpassed only by two made at Rheims. A big crowd watched the flight and cheered enthusiastically as the aviator piloted his plane around the track again and again.

The results of the flight are a triumph for the plan Paulhan in the foremost rank of those who have sailed over English territory.

To-day's record is better than that made by Paulhan at the Rheims aviation meet, where he kept the air 2 hours 43 minutes and 24 seconds, covering 81.25 miles.

At the same meet Latham, the first to attempt the British Channel flight, did 96½ miles in 2 hours and 18 minutes. Henry Farman covered 112½ miles in 3 hours 4 minutes and 56 seconds. This last was the man who achieved it a prize of $10,000 for the world's record.

AUTO PLUNGES 20 FEET, FIVE ESCAPE DEATH

In a 20-foot plunge of an $11,000 touring car owned by George R. Hall, son of George H. Hall, proprietor of the Adams House, two persons were injured in Dedham early to-day. The car, which was driven by Harry B. Dumse, Mr. Hall's chauffeur, had two men and two women passengers. It turned turtle and the escape of all five from death was remarkable.

Dumse was driving the car along High street, Dedham, through the woods near Westwood. It was going at a good rate of speed in the early morning. At a perilous turn at what is known as the "blind walk," it ran into a rut, either a tire burst or the steering gear refused to work and the car shot into the fence. Carrying the fence with it the auto rolled over the embankment down a 20-foot declivity, at the bottom of which it lay upside down and wrecked.

The occupants had no chance to jump and all were carried down with the automobile. All but one were spilled out, however, and were fortunate enough to escape being pinned beneath the big car. One man was caught under the car and his arm severely injured.

Dumse ran to the nearest house, that of Dr. Shatswood, a dentist, and he notified the police. The two injured were attended by Drs. Wilder and A. H. Hodgdon of Dedham.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall left last night for a hunting trip in Maine. George G. Hall, Mr. Hall's father, said today that Dumse was a reliable chauffeur who had been in his son's employ for two years and that he had sometimes had permission to use the car himself. Dumse lives at No. 20 Dana street, Roxbury. The four other members of the party refused to give their names.

O'MEARA IS FORCED TO A DEFENCE

The way to wake up Police Commissioner O'Meara is to kick him, according to the Rev. D. P. Gifford, in an address in Tremont Temple at the dedicatory services of the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion. Most public officers, said the clergyman in the same connection, are thinking not what they can do for the city but what they can do the city for.

J. Frank Chase, secretary of the Watch and Ward Society, speaking at the same meeting, declared that there were 5,000 women of bad character in Boston and 223 illegal houses.

Mr. O'Meara in a statement defending himself and the police, refers to his critics as finest and reckless talkers "who pretend to a knowledge which they do not possess."

In the course of his address the Rev. Mr. Gifford, who is treasurer of the Crittenton League, said:

"A Police Commissioner, like a bicycle, goes when the one in the saddle, the citizen, works the pedal. A Police Commissioner, like a wheelbarrow, goes when pushed and carries what is loaded in it. When were public kicks the police hustle.

"The only way to make the present Commissioner of Police wake up and stop talking in his sleep is to kick him and convince him that it will be better to wake up. The way with most public officers is that they think not of what they can do for the city, but what they can do the city for.

"O'Meara did, they orders when orders come. The public can have anything it orders.

"Law may have her seat in the house

Continued on Page 2, Column 1.

DRAPER HITS LABOR MEN IN SPEECH

Governor Draper, at a business men's rally in Faneuil Hall at noon to-day, bitterly attacked the Democratic State Committee for its conduct of the campaign.

He charged that Chairman McLeod of the committee had tried in many ways to raise class sentiment and to array one nationality against another.

He also scored E. Gerry Brown, Dennis D. Driscoll and Frederick J. Masefield, all well known labor men, as "politicians," declaring that they "have been working to defeat me by misrepresenting their position and mine in regard to the so-called eight hour labor bill."

"The Governor furthermore denied that he knew anything about the campaign being waged in his behalf by the liquor dealers of the State. "All I have to say in regard to this matter," my advice to them is the same as it is to the labor unions—that it is very unwise to mix in political affairs as an organization.

He asserted that the campaign, on the Democratic side, is been one of the ittiest campigne in my memory."

Talks of Bitterness.

The hall was crowded to the doors, the greater part of the audience being market men off on their noon hour. Other speakers were Lieutenant-Governor Frothingham, Former Mayor Hall of Cambridge, District Attorney Hill, ex-Governor Guild, and Assistant United States District Attorney Foss.

Former Governor Guild was given a tremendous ovation. He lauded Governor Draper for his appointment of Arthur D. Hill as district attorney, told of how he had offered Hill a place on the bench, and defended the Republican party for its attitude on the tariff.

"Governor Draper did more to stop the pernicious custom of bowdling at the State House," declared the former Governor, "than any man in the State. We have had for years log-rolling on all appropriations before rivers, harbors and public lands. I stopped it and Draper did. The Governor tried and succeeded. He should have your votes for doing this great public service if he never did another.

Hill Office No Reward.

"District Attorney Hill was not appointed as a political reward. Such talk is absurd. I will tell you something about this young man Hill. I offered him when I was head of the Commonwealth a position on the Massachusetts bench. He declined the offer, saying that he wanted to devote a few years to private practice. Imagine a man, tendered such a nomination, to give the position of district attorney as 'a political reward.'"

District Attorney Hill injected a new feature into the campaign. He read a letter from the Auto Legal Association, in which the association pledged for re-election of Hill because of his determination to punish autoists charged with illegal driving.

"In spite of this letter," said Hill, "I am going to do my work without fear of automobile owners. I believe in a fine in small cases and imprisonment in serious ones.

"I have against me in this campaign every crook, every dishonest official and every friend of the grafter in the county. I have you and your votes.

"When the Governor sent for me he said: 'I want you to go into office without one thought of my election, without one though of your job.' He gave me no appointment. I have done my duty. I only ask that you send me back so that I can finish the work I set about to accomplish."

Lieutenant-Governor Frothingham scored his opponent as "a man who wears a coat of many colors." He defended the Governor on the tariff issue, saying that Draper had no more to do with the settlement of the question than of whether a certain explorer climbed S. McKinley.

They're in the home stretch to-day.

The candidates for the offices to be filled at to-morrow's State election have settled down for the final jog to the goal. The last stretch is the liveliest of the race.

The speaking campaign on the Republican side was continued to-day with the usual "day before" noon rally in Faneuil Hall for business men of the market district. The speakers were Governor Draper, Lieutenant Governor Frothingham, District Attorney Hill, former Governor Guild and E. Mark Sullivan. Former Mayor J. M. W. Hall of Cambridge presided.

To-night will end Democratic, Republican, McCall, Roberts, Stevens, Gilded Lace and other G. O. P. orators at two big rallies in Somerville. The Somerville celebration will wind up with a "watch meeting" at Charlie Underhill's club till midnight. Lieutenant Governor Frothingham will take a little side junket over to Chelsea after he has spoken at Somerville. District-Attorney Hill will follow him to Chelsea and then go to Revere.

On the Democratic end to-night's events will be among the most exciting of the campaign. Vahey, Foss, Pelletier and other Democratic spellbinders will tour those Boston wards which have hitherto escaped them. Here is their schedule: Ward 1, Bodwell Hall; Ward 2, Lyceum Hall; Ward 3, wardroom, Bunker Hill and Lexington streets; Ward 9, wardroom, Old Franklin schoolhouse, Dover and Washington streets; Ward 10, wardroom, Rice schoolhouse, Dartmouth and Appleton streets; Ward 11, Democratic headquarters.

Continued on Page 4, Column 1.

FINAL GUNS FIRED TODAY IN CAMPAIGN

ELECTION DAY TO BE RAINY

Election day will be rainy, according to to-day's forecast of the Weather Bureau. There will be southwest winds, increasing in velocity during the day, and there are prospects for a disagreeable day.

"Give me good weather to-morrow and I'll give you a handsome plurality for Draper and Frothingham," said Chairman George H. Dory of the Republican State Committee to-day.

"Vahey and Foss will win anyway," says Chairman Fred J. Macleod of the Democratic State Committee," but the worse the weather, the better will be their plurality."

The weather is going to decide to-morrow's contest for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, according to men who have watched State campaigns for years. A clear day, cold or warm, is certain to bring out more Republican voters than a stormy or cloudy day. Rain to-morrow would be about the worst thing that could happen for the Republican State ticket.

BIG RUSH FOR OPERA EXTRA

Hundreds of applications are being received by the Boston Opera Company for the fifteen extra Thursday night performances which have been arranged since it was found that the shareholders in the company had subscribed for practically every seat during the regular sixty performances originally scheduled.

These Thursday evening extras will be up to the standard of the regular performances. The first will take place on Thursday evening, November 11, when Delibe's "Lakme" will be given. This performance will mark the debut in this country of the young coloratura soprano, Lydia Lipkowska, the Russian soloist who created such a furore in Paris last Spring. Others in the cast that evening will include the Misses Gerville-Reache, Paul Bourillon, Dua Passaco, Jules Nivette, and Mesdames Frossman, Parnell, Pierre, Stanaway and Maubourg.

Applications for tickets for the Thursday evening season should be addressed to the subscription department of the Boston Opera House. Applications must be accompanied by check or money order, made out to the Boston Opera Company. The prices for the season of fifteen extra operas are $45, $30, $22.50 or $15, according to location of seats.

THREE SENTENCED IN ELECTION FRAUD

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Three men who registered illegally and prepared to do wholesale work as repeaters in Brooklyn were sent to prison for terms ranging from three months in the penitentiary to four years in Sing Sing, to-day. The men are Charles Lynch, Williams Collins and George Wilson, each registered at least three times in as many different districts.

FRISCO GRAFT FIGHT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—Riven by the graft fights, San Francisco to-day is anxiously awaiting the outcome of tomorrow's election. Francis J. Heney, the graft prosecutor, is the Democratic candidate for district attorney. His opponent is Charles M. Fickert.

THE WEATHER.

Fair to-day. Tuesday unsettled, probably with showers and warmer. Moderate southerly winds.

Sun rises—6:20 a. m.; sets, 4:37 p. m.

Moon rises—7:37 p. m.

High tide—1:27 a. m.; 1:45 p. m.

FLAMES RAGE IN TWO PIANO PLANTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Almost trapped in a burning building 150 men fled in terror to-day at the piano factory of Beck & Miller, at No. 619 Tenth avenue. The blaze threw the occupants of nearby tenements into a panic. The loss is estimated at $75,000. Lockhart & Co., piano manufacturers, were heavy losers.

FINE B. & A. $100 FOR CAMBRIDGE TIE-UP

Judge Almy of the Cambridge District Court to-day fined the Boston & Albany road $100 for blocking the crossing on October 28 at Cambridge street, near Portland street. The complainant was Patrolman George Petjen of Station 3, Cambridge. The railroad appealed. The alleged tie-up of traffic lasted eight minutes.

Chewing tobacco is a luxury that every man may enjoy. Piper Heidsieck chewing tobacco Saver plug is the best.

GREEK REVOLT ENDS; LEADER NOT TAKEN

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 1.—Four British warships have arrived at Phalerum, near Piraeus. The rebellion, for the time being at least, is at an end. The last of the naval vessels in the hands of the mutinous naval officers has been recovered, the torpedo boat destroyer Aspis having returned to the arsenal. Lieutenant Tsudios, who was the leader in the recent movement, is still at large, and no trustworthy news has been received concerning his whereabouts.

NAME NEW TRUSTEES FOR GARLAND WILL

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 1.—In the Superior Court to-day Judge Stearns appointed Arthur B. Hall of Boston and James A. Parker of Brookline as new trustees under the will of James A. Garland of Brookline, deceased. The will was filed at Portsmouth, R. I., September 13, 1901. A decree for new trustees was made necessary by the resignation of Henry B. Todd and Lloyd Vernon Briggs, both of Boston.

More AMERICANS are read in the homes in Boston than any other paper.

CONTEST TO HEAD BOSTON CITY CLUB

There are four independent candidates for president of the Boston City Club, which has 3,200 members. Geoffrey B. Lehy is president now. The head of the club is elected by an executive committee of twenty-four. The four candidates put forward by the independents are Adolphus R. Beeching, with Little, Brown & Co.; Nathaniel C. Fowler, Jr.; Lincoln Karcher, general agent for the Erie Railroad in Boston, and Assistant Attorney General Andrew Marshall.

SEMI-PRO PLAYER HURT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—As a result of injuries received in a football game between his team, the Vincents, and the Orions, another semi-professional team, John Dwyer is seriously ill at his home in Williamsburg to-day. He has a blood clot at the base of the brain.

MINISTER TO CHINA.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—It is announced that D. A. Tompkins of Charlotte, N. C., has been recommended by the National Association of Manufacturers and the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association as United States Minister to China.

Nothing succeeds like circulation. The AMERICAN has quantity and quality.

Betting Favors Election of Pelletier Over Hill as District Attorney—New York Situation Good for Hearst.

It was admitted late this afternoon by Republican leaders and managers that there will be a great falling off in the Republican vote to-morrow. Privately the Republican managers do not expect over 10,000 majority for Draper and Frothingham.

The betting, however, is in favor of Draper's re-election.

Democrats declare that Vahey and Foss will win by 10,000. The result may be very close.

The contest between Hill and Pelletier will also likely be close. If the slump in the Draper vote proves as large as the Republicans predict, Pelletier should win. The betting is still 10 to 7 in favor of Pelletier.

The prospect in New York is for the election of Hearst for Mayor, with Gaynor second and Bannard third.

this is a good old world

the sunshine of prosperity is as bright today as yesterday.

—opportunities are as plentiful as ever if you'll only go at least half way to meet them.

—the want ad way in the American is an easy road.

—TRY!

"KICK O'MEARA AND SO WAKE HIM UP," IS MINISTER'S ADVICE

Continued from First Page.

of God, but the average policeman is a long way from the seat of law. The Watch and Ward society is a voice in arouse the sleeping community and of the community to use the salaried police force.

"A blow needs to be struck at the men who fatten on rents; who live in fine sections of the city and who support luxury by rentals from illegal houses.

"I know what I would do if I had the power. I would lay the burden upon the man who leases his building for questionable houses. There is the place to strike, go after the capitalists of the Back Bay and beyond, who fatten on the rentals of the houses that go to the destruction of the social order."

Attacked by Chase.

In the course of his address Secretary Chase said:

"Fourteen years ago in Boston there was a police commissioner whom we believe was earnest in enforcing the law. The present Police Commissioner declares that the records of fourteen years ago are mere tradition. My object is to show that what Mr. O'Meara calls mere tradition is fact.

"My proof is that in the records of our society we find reports made, which at the time were published broadcast and sent to police officials of Boston and other Massachusetts cities, in which we said without contradiction that under the first year of Mr. Martin's administration the Police Commissioners took a new attitude and the whole force commenced to suppress vice in earnest. Whatever was said at the time to the contrary, it is unquestionably true that he visiting of places of immoral resort was never so fully suppressed in Boston as in 1894 under the Martin regime.

"These facts can be obtained from a pamphlet addressed to the Police Commissioners, Boston, December 31, 1894, in the form of a letter signed by such men as Charles J. Bonaparte, Robert Redfern, J. B. W. French and other citizens of equal prominence.

"In that letter this statement is made: it is a well-known fact that there are several hundred houses of ill-repute in Boston. We have a list of one hundred and eighty in division 4 alone. We observed that those most costly and attractive, and therefore most dangerous, enjoy absolute immunity from interference. Our laws prescribe the duty of the excessive force against such places. Why are these laws not enforced? Upon the public feel satisfied at the present indifference of the authorities to the great increase and undisturbed prosperity of these houses?

"As a result of this protest the police department they got honestly active and many illegal houses were closed.

"Martin Drove Them Out."

"In the pamphlet to which I have referred Rev. Frederic B. Allen said, 'The police of Boston commenced last Summer an active policy of suppression against houses of bad repute. They have followed this action with such vigorous measures that a large number of such places, amounting to over 200, have been practically closed.'

"It is a pretty late day for the present commissioner of police to attempt to deny the facts when the man who accomplished them is dead and buried and the man who published them has published his work. If the police records of the city of Boston do not show these facts it is because such houses can be closed by other ways than bringing them into court, as we have often stated. F. Martin, when he once closed himself in earnest to have these evils abolished, and gave it out in such a way that the criminals knew he meant business, drove out more of this class from the city than he ever brought into court.

"I have always maintained that a good police commissioner, by giving the public and evildoers to understand that in unmistakable terms, could close up practically all the illegal houses in Boston in twenty-four hours. The only thing he needs to do is to give out the word 'Close' and to take such police action as to show that he is sincere in his order and these people will pack every trash leaving Boston, falling over each other in their eagerness to leave the city.

O'Meara Makes Reply.

This is the statement given out by Police Commissioner O'Meara to-day:

"I have too much regard for the morals of the community, especially for the morals of the boys and girls and young men and women who read newspapers in hundreds of thousands, to discuss promiscuously such a topic as public and semi-public immorality. I have several printed pages to the subject as affecting the city of Boston in my annual report for 1908, its first appearance in such a place in any but a statistical work. I shall continue to deal with it in future reports and through the work of the police and in no other way. But in order to reassure good people who may be disturbed by sensational and irresponsible clamor, I will say these things:

"The Boston police did more in 1908 for the prosecution of persons engaged in such forms of immorality than ever was done before in a single year since night-walkers were publicly whipped in Boston 194 years ago, or since a house of ill-fame was demolished in 1734 by a mob under the countenance of some well-meaning magistrates.'

"The Boston police having so acquitted themselves in 1908 without previous suggestion from any source outside their own ranks, have done even more in 1909, in the progressive performance of their duty, as my report for the present year will show.

Answers Criticisms.

"Boston is cleaner in this respect than any city of its size or of perhaps half its size in the United States. I lead this belief as a result of many years of newspaper experience and of three and a half years of special investigation as Police Commissioner.

"There is hardly one such city outside of Boston in which as a matter of guilty special territories are not set apart, in which public immorality is allowed to be carried on with the practical and even public consent of the police.

"In Boston all persons so engaged are deemed to be criminals, and when the kind and the quantity of evidence required by law can be obtained in particular cases they are prosecuted to the courts. Without a proper understanding of such evidence and the difficulties attending its procurement and without accurate information as to what the police have actually done in the past two years, no person can detect the fallacies and misrepresentations of a fluent and reckless talker who pretends to a knowledge which he does not possess."

A SUNDAY AMERICAN want advt. is often the road to fortune.

N. J. GOVERNOR AIDS FREED CRIMINAL

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 1.—When George Stevenson was released after serving three years for burglary and all the parties interested, he went to the State House and put up a loud wail.

Governor Fort was told that the rules did not permit lending of coats until after November 1, but he ordered the man given one, saying he'd pay the bill if the board did not.

SHOT AT DOG, BUT KILLED COMPANION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Norman Patterson was shot and instantly killed near Hillsboro by his friend and companion, Alrich Lemley. The latter shot at a dog that darted in front of the buggy in which the men were driving and in his excitement shot Patterson in the neck. The dog escaped the regular vein. No arrest was made.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
TAKE LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c

Filene's
Washington and Winter Streets

Filene's
Entrance Direct from Tunnel Trains

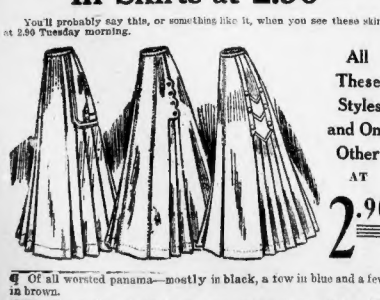
Tunnel Bargain Basement

¶ This is the kind of purchase that makes it possible for the Tunnel Bargain Basement to offer—day after day—the most Extraordinary Bargains Boston has seen—

¶ A manufacturer going out of the skirt business, has sold us his entire stock for a quick clearance in the Tunnel Bargain Basement—Tuesday.

"I Never Saw Such Bargains In Skirts at 2.90"

You'll probably say this, or something like it, when you see these skirts at 2.90 Tuesday morning.



All These Styles and One Other AT 2.90

¶ Of all worsted panama—mostly in black, a few in blue and a few in brown.

¶ The Biggest Sale of Skirts we have held. 4 new styles.

¶ Nearly all sizes—22 to 30 band measures.

¶ Every Skirt the kind of bargain you'll be willing to make a special trip to Boston to get.

Women's White Cotton Ribbed Union Suits, light weight, long sleeves, ankle length; seconds of 50c qualities, at..... 38c

Children's 25c Unbleached Cotton Ribbed Union Suits, long sleeves, ankle length, medium weight; sizes 2 to 7..... 19c

2.00 French Chemises and Gowns; with dainty embroideries 1.20

Women's 19c Light Weight Cotton Ribbed Vests, low neck, sleeveless or with short sleeves; regular and extra sizes... 15c

Hundreds of Lots Not Advertised

TO-DAY'S CABLE NEWS

Up to Midnight, London Time

Mrs. Roosevelt to Be Received by the Pope.

ROME—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, her daughter, Ethel, and Miss Carew. Mrs. Roosevelt's sister, all looking well, have arrived in Rome from Florence. They drove immediately to the Beaudsite, a modest hotel in Via Ludovisi, where Marion Crawford had an apartment. The party occupies a suite of five rooms. Many ladies drove to Saint Peters' and then attended services in the American Church. In the afternoon they drove to Villa Borghese and Pincio Hill. The American party of Rear Admiral Cowles and Kennedy of the American College, called on Mrs. Roosevelt and arranged for her and her party a private audience with the Pope.

French ex-President's Son Weds.

PARIS—Claude, son of the late M. Casimir-Perier, President of France, has married Mme. Simone Benda, the divorced wife of M. Le Bargy, who was formerly a great comedian and later a favorite of acting at the Conservatoire. The engagement of the couple was marked by several legal disputes, the last being one in which Mme. Casimir-Perier, mother of the bridegroom, appealed to the courts to prohibit the marriage. Claude Casimir-Perier was cited as correspondent in the action for divorce brought by M. Le Bargy against his wife. Two years ago the ex-President tried to break off the relations of the couple, but failed.

German Substitute for Cotton.

BERLIN—Owing to the high price of cotton, the German textile experts have been turning their attention to other fibres that might be used as a substitute for it. Recently a spinning company at Chemnitz has succeeded in spinning the fibre contained in the seed pods of the hanok, or silk-cotton tree of the tropics. In its natural state this fibre cannot be spun, owing to its extreme brittleness, but Professor Goldberg of Chemnitz has found a method of treating it to make it flexible, and the yarn is described as having a peculiarly soft, silky feeling.

Would Return Chapel Loot.

CZENSTOCKOWA, Russian Poland—The daring thieves who broke into the chapel of the Pauline monastery here a week ago and robbed the highly venerated picture of the Virgin of about $7,000,000 worth of gems have found it impossible to dispose of their loot with safety to themselves. So, impudently, they sent an agent to negotiate with the monks for the return of the jewels in consideration of a large sum of money.

To Rebuild Rosary Chapel.

VENICE—It has been decided to begin the reconstruction of the famous Chapel of the Rosary, which was erected to commemorate the battle of Lepanto, a naval victory won in the Fifteenth century by the Christian fleets over the Turks. The chapel was badly damaged by fire in 1867.

Flight of Army Balloon.

ROME—The new military dirigible balloon made a flight from Bracciano to Naples and back in eleven hours. This included the time occupied in prolonged manoeuvres over the Bay of Naples, which were executed in compliment to the French fleet here.

Six Killed in Train Wreck.

PRADES, France—Six persons were killed and twelve injured in charging through the rear of an electric train which was undergoing a speed test on the new railroad from Villefranche to Bourg Madame. The train ran away and plunged into a deep ravine.

More Earth Shocks at Messina.

MESSINA—Slight earthquake shocks are felt here daily, doing little material damage, but keeping alive the fears of the inhabitants. A slight earthquake shock has terrorized the inhabitants of Milolo.

Old Roman Tomb Uncovered.

ROME—A dispatch from Belmonte says a Roman tomb has been uncovered there, containing many fine specimens of the arms and arts of the Roman epoch.

SCHOOL BAN ON CORSETS AND RATS

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The girl students who attend Erasmus Hall High School, Brooklyn, are simply worshipping Art. Early last week the girls were told that they must not come to school with rats and brains and switches and Psyche knots and puffs in their hair. That was bad enough, the girls declared, but to-day they were asked by another teacher—Miss Catherine B. Campbell, the gymnasium inspector at the school—to leave off wearing corsets!

WIFE SLAYER MILLER BURIAL TO-MORROW

SOUTH BRAINTREE, Nov. 1.—The funeral of James J. Miller, who murdered his wife, Gladys Sampson Miller, in the square here Thursday afternoon and who was found dead by his own hand in a cabin in the cellar of the Judge Asa F. French estate on Old Plymouth road, tomorrow morning, with burial in the Plains Street Cemetery in this town.

MARRY ME, HELEN

And I'll buy you ring of the original and only Wilson Bros., who make Australian Self-Adjusting Rings in their own factory from $1.50 to $10; any special finger; any size. Write for booklet, 56 Court St. Also for only one dollar, 56 Court St.

WILSON BROS.

suit-of-town customers send for 1910 catalogue. Engrave or mail your watch and jewelry repairs.

You can get a perfect fit to our first quality $3.00 Shirt Waists for $2 and 50c. Write for the next WILSON BROS., next to big bells, 56 Court St. This ad. will save you $1 a minute.

ALARM CLOCK 50c

ROSES Per Dozen 50c
Fresh Cut, Red, White, Pink
Devonshire Florist
29 Devonshire, Room 32 Tel. 1326

BOSTON AMERICAN
Household Premium Coupon
Monday, November 1
Name
Address
City State
NOTICE—A separate coupon will appear each day. Don't miss any of the coupons. Don't delay.

ROOSEVELT TO SHOOT A GIANT PIG AND BONGO

NAIROBI, British East Africa, Nov. 1—According to present arrangements, Col. Roosevelt and party will leave Nairobi for Entebbe, in Uganda, on the morning of November 27, arriving at Entebbe on the 29.

After leaving Naivasha the party will pass over new ground. Between Naivasha (6,230 feet) and Nakuru (5,950 feet) the line rises gradually as far as Gilgil station, where the East African sheep land syndicate headquarters are. It then drops down past Elementeita lake to the station of the same name. On the way it twists and turns.

Nakuru, 449 miles from the coast, will be reached at 8 o'clock. Game here is plentiful and it is no uncommon occurrence for lions to prowl in broad daylight on the outskirts of the town.

After leaving Nakuru the line climbs 1,040 feet in twelve miles to Njora, which is the station for Soysambu, Lord Delamere's farm. It is likely that Col. Roosevelt and Kermit will accept Lord Delamere's invitation to stay with him for a few days and try for giant pig and a bongo.

The train then passes through wonderful forest scenery, past Elburgon station, and thence to Molo, at an altitude of 7,940 feet, and from there ascends to the Mau summit, which is the highest point on the line, 8,360 feet above sea level. The next stop is Londiani station, the starting point of all caravans for the government station of Eldama ravine and for the Guasp Ngishi country. If he utterly cobi here and always damp. Sheer above rises the wondrous Mau forest, through which the train has just passed, and all around are high hills and woods.

MILL STRIKE SETTLEMENT IS A FAILURE

LUDLOW, Nov. 1—The resumption of work in the big mill of The Ludlow Manufacturing Association scheduled to take place to-day was almost a failure, only 200 of the 2,500 employes going back. In anticipation of trouble fifty deputy sheriffs were stationed at the gates of the mills, but there was no disturbance.

Work had only been started a short time until twenty-five of the men who had gone into the mill quit and went home. Through the men going to work to-day the association was able to run No. 4 mill and parts of Nos. 8 and 10.

The mills are so located that it will be easy for the company to bring in outside labor over its private spur track and house the outsiders in the mills. The company has a large number of orders on hand and it will be compelled to obtain 20,000 bales of twine from other firms in the same business to fill orders this week.

The attitude of the company is shown by the manner in which R. Turner Wilson, the secretary of the State board of conciliation and arbitration to-day. After a long conference with Agent Steven Secretary Bernard J. Supple of Boston was informed that the company has nothing to arbitrate. It has offered to take back all the strikers except the workers at the old rates but the weavers are discharged and a compromise is out of the question. Secretary Supple came to Ludlow in response to a call from the strikers and now does all he can to see the trouble settled without delay.

MYERS WON'T GIVE NAMES

The Rev. Dr. Cortland Myers, pastor of Tremont Temple, declined to give the names to-day when asked to whom he referred in his sermon yesterday morning he declared that one of the candidates for a high office was allied with the liquor interests.

"I told my hearers," said Dr. Myers, "to investigate the matter and find out for themselves, and then if they did not know how to vote their names ought to be stricken off the Book of Life."

Politicians say they believe that Dr. Myers referred to Governor Draper's standing with the liquor interests because of his opposition while in the Senate to newspapers by the supporters of Mr. Vahey, the Democratic candidate for Governor.

"I told my hearers," added Dr. Myers, "that I had received the information from what I regarded as a reliable source, and that I believed them to investigate to-morrow and vote for the man who was opposed by the liquor dealers."

In his sermon Dr. Myers referred to the "dark side" of Boston, declaring:

"Behind all your lights in Boston are some of the darkest places of all civilization. The darkest places in the world are behind the places of light in Boston."

ONE DEAD IN WRECK.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 1.—One man was killed and another fatally scalded today when a Mobile & Ohio freight train ran into a burnt trestle near Rutherford, Gibson County.

POLICE AWAIT A RIOT CALL

WORCESTER, Nov. 1.—In expectation of a clash between Street Commissioner George C. Moss and his men, and employes of the New Haven Railroad, over the right to erect a grade crossing in Jackson Avenue, a dozen policemen are on guard at that spot and a force of thirty more is being held in readiness for an emergency call.

All day yesterday and almost all night the men and the railroad fought over the matter. The railroad would start to build and the city employes would dash upon the scene and drive down all the work. Finally the police, at the request of Mayor Logan, were called upon to arrest any railroad man who attempted to obstruct the street. The rights of the matter are to be fought out in court regarding the improvement which is in connection with the new depot being built here.

DIES IN HIS CAMP.

ALBANY, Nov. 1.—Controller Charles H. Gans died at a hunting lodge on the preserve of the Bourbhuais-Kimmika Club on Long Lake, in the Lecantum mountains, in the province of Quebec, Can., according to a dispatch received here to-day. Gans, who was a member of the club, left Albany about ten days ago for a brief hunting trip, expecting to return before election.

$25,000 GUARANTEE

As a guarantee that the story of Father John's Medicine is absolutely true, the sum of $25,000 will be given to any charitable institution if it can be shown otherwise.

Half a century ago, when the late Father John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass., recommended to his parishioners and friends the prescription that had restored him to health and strength, the people named it Father John's Medicine.

Its power to cure colds and throat and lung troubles is due to the fact that it gives vital strength to fight the disease.

Remember that Father John's Medicine is a pure and wholesome food medicine for those who are weak and run down. It does not contain alcohol or dangerous drugs. Not a patent medicine but a doctor's prescription. Guaranteed.

BARGAIN RUSH CROWDS WHITE STORE TO-DAY

With a rush and a whirl of business never surpassed in Boston, shoppers flocked into the new bargain basement at R. H. White's to-day and the first day's business was a phenomenal one. It surprised even the managers of the new department, who expected that the new features of the great basement of the store solely devoted to one of all kinds of merchandise at bargain prices might take slowly at first with the buying public. But the new department of the R. H. White Company was a success from the opening of the doors to-day. About each of the many lines of dry goods, from women's suits to linen handkerchiefs, were crowds of shoppers, each anxious to buy and buy quickly before the lot was exhausted.

The goods in the new bargain basement are simply the overstocks, cancelled orders and bargains that the manufacturers and the mills which the R. H. White buyers have been able to snap up for cash at extraordinarily low figures.

The prices at which the goods in the new bargain basement are marked mean the great magnet which drew the crowds, as well as the novelty of the new department of the store. Hundreds of lots of goods were displayed at prices from one-half to one-fourth less than their real value. The goods are the same quality and even the ditbon as sold at regular prices in other stores, and the bright tags were cheerfully accepted by the buying public.

R. H. White buyers have been going about the country and manufacturers buying up lots of all kinds of dry goods at unheard-of prices, and the goods have been shipped into the new bargain basement, which occupies the entire space formerly occupied by the china department. As fast as new bargains from the mills arrive they will be displayed in the new department, and thus the bargain basement will furnish a constantly changing stock of bargain lots of dry goods.

REGISTRY MAIL FEE NOW 10 CENTS

The fee charged by the United States Postoffice Department for registering a letter was raised to-day from 8 to 10 cents, and the same time the indemnity which the government pays in case a registered letter is lost was increased from $25 to $50. Superintendent A. B. Weston of the registry division of the Boston postoffice opened his office to-day for the registration, where he was summoned to attend a conference at 4 o'clock to-day. The conference is planning to soon simplify the registry system, and also to make it more perfect safety."

HOT BATTLE PREDICTED IN RHODE ISLAND

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 1.—Both the Republican and Democratic State leaders to-day expressed their belief that their State ticket would be elected to-morrow. One of the hottest State campaigns of the last twenty-five years has been waged.

"Governor Aram J. Pothier and the entire Republican ticket will be re-elected to-morrow," declared Colonel Frank W. Tillinghast, chairman of the Republican State Committee. "Personally, I don't place much confidence in forecasting elections."

Oliver Arnold, Democratic candidate for Governor, will be elected to-morrow," Frank E. Fitzsimmons, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, said to-day.

One of the most interesting election battles in this State to-morrow is for the office of Attorney-General. William J. B. Greenough, Republican, is fighting to succeed himself. James A. Williams, Democrat, and one of the best known lawyers in the State, is pouring on the Democratic ticket. Leaders on both parties to-day declared that the two candidates were running neck to neck and no predictions are being made.

William M. P. Bowen, chairman of the Republican City Committee of Providence, who displayed at prizes from one half to one-fourth less than their real value. The goods are the same quality and even the ditbon as sold at regular prices in other stores, and the bright tags were cheerfully accepted by the buying public.

R. H. White buyers have been going about the country and manufacturers buying up lots of all kinds of dry goods at unheard-of prices, and the goods have been shipped into the new bargain basement, which occupies the entire space formerly occupied by the china department. As fast as new bargains from the mills arrive they will be displayed in the new department, and thus the bargain basement will furnish a constantly changing stock of bargain lots of dry goods.

CREEDON MOURNS FINE NEW SUIT

MIDDLEBORO, Nov. 1.—James H. Creedon of the Democratic State Committee has inadvertently donated a fine suit of clothes to the Salvation Army. After wearing it a few days he decided to have it pressed and notified his tailor to send for it. A representative of the Army happened to be in Middleboro that day collecting clothes for charity distribution and called at the Creedon home. A domestic thought he was a man sent by the tailor and gave him Mr. Creedon's new suit.

"BLACK CROKER" DEAD.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—"Colonel" Perry H. Carson, who was known as the "Black Croker" of Washington, is dead, and sixty-seven. For nearly forty years he dominated the negroes in the District of Columbia, and his attitude decided political battles before the right of franchise was taken from the citizens of the national capital.

R. H. WHITE CO.

OUR NEW BARGAIN BASEMENT

An Instantaneous Success!!!

Our Bargain Basement crowded with buyers the moment the store opened this morning up to the moment this adv. went to press.

Thousands went away with a happy smile over the rare bargains they secured. As one woman exclaimed in her enthusiasm, "Why, it's almost like giving goods away!"

Do Not Forget New and surprising bargains will be opened and put on sale daily and

REMEMBER, HUNDREDS OF BARGAINS NOT ADVERTISED

But equally as low priced will always be found in

WHITE'S BARGAIN BASEMENT

Two convenient, short, stairways, near the Washington and Bedford Street corner entrances, lead directly to this new department.

Don't fail to go through our Bargain Basement every time you are down town. You will always find something you want at a very small expense.

Special items for Tuesday and hundreds of others not advertised, averagnig ONE-HALF AND LESS THAN REGULAR PRICES.

This Handsome $15.00 Broadcloth Suit At $7.90

FOR TUESDAY

A big lot but they won't last long at this tremendously low price.

The maker had a certain amount of this particular broadcloth on hand. He wished to close out the whole lot at once. We named one of the season's best styles and told him how much we would pay for the suits made up. He took us up. That's the story in a nutshell!

DESCRIPTION

Finest broadcloth—semi-fitted coat, lined throughout with heavy satin, bone buttons and finished in the best workmanlike manner. Skirt, the new side plaited effect. All sizes, all the new shades. A suit worth at any store in the country $15.00. Our price, for Tuesday..... $7.90

39c Scarfs and Squares 19c

Hemstitched Scarfs and Squares, Germany manufacture, of finest cloth with new and drawn work; sizes scarfs 12x45, squares 12x12 inches. Regular price 39c each, Tuesday, 19c

Girls' $5.00 Winter Coats 1.95

Girls' Medium Weight Coats, in Cheviots, Novelties and Tibet Cloths. Plain tailored or trimmed with silk braid and buttons. 6 to 14 years. Worth $5.00, at 1.95

Girls' $3.00 Wool Dresses 1.39

Girls' Wool Dresses, in handsome plaids. Full blouse and full plaited skirts with deep hems. Trimmed with plain materials and buttons. Sizes 6 to 14 years. Worth $3.00, at 1.39

Girls' $3.00 Rainecapes ..1.95

Girls' Rubberized Rainecapes, striped hood, has a vent, plaid lining. Sizes 6 to 14 years. Worth $3.00, at 1.95

Redeem your full books of Legal Stamps for $2.50 in merchandise or $2.00 in cash at Wolf's, "My Clothier," corner Hanover and Portland streets.

Dr. Bull's COUGH SYRUP

can be given with perfect safety to the youngest child. It is the best. Buy no substitute. 25c.

Y. M. C. A. MUST RAISE FUND TO-DAY

Hundreds of little contributions are coming into the campaign headquarters of the Y. M. C. A. in the old R. H. Stearns building to-day, swelling the total considerably and making the $500,000 needed by the association seem more like a reality than ever before.

The team totals will not be reported until to-night, when all who have engaged in the work will meet at a dinner and celebrate the completion of the fund.

The voluntary response of the people of Boston has been remarkable. Everybody has worked to make the last day notable. About $38,000 was needed to complete the $500,000 before to-night, and if the collectors do as well as the people themselves have been doing the sum will be realized.

The reminder in the churches yesterday brought great results. Besides many large subscriptions from business men, the children of the Sunday schools offered their little mites and the aggregate will probably reach into the hundreds.

Pennies and Dimes.

At the Ruggles Street Church the little boys and girls brought pennies and dimes, though no money was asked of them. They said they wanted to have a share in the new building.

Albert H. Currie, chairman of the business men's committee, reported to-day that a number of subscriptions aggregating about $200 had been received at the church before attended, the Dorchester Temple.

George Blake Johnson, son of the President of the Y. M. C. A. and one of the largest givers to the new building fund, handed $5.31 to his father to-day, saying that he wanted to have a share in the new building. He had rolled his cent in penny savings bank.

There were some almost pathetic features among the many small gifts that came into headquarters to-day. A bellboy from the Castle Square Hotel brought in $2.25 which he had collected among the bellboys at the hotel. An old man, who said he was out of work, and had only $2 left, handed over one of them and said he felt confident the act would help him find employment.

And people out of town sent in their shares. From Detroit came a check for $500 from a man who there gave $10,000 to the building fund. Senator W. Murray Crane, who with his brother is building a $250,000 Y. M. C. A. building at Dalton, sent in his check for $500.

The Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham sent in his contribution with a note saying: "With best wishes and sincere appreciation of the good work that the association is doing."

Among the subscriptions reported since Saturday noon are the following:

Many New Subscriptions.

Friend	$1,000
Friend	500
Henrietta L. Pitz	500
Senator W. Murray Crane	500
J. Cousens	500
Noble Mace	250
Percy H. Beane	200
Fred C. Archelan (additional)	100
Friend	100
William A. Jones	100
Miss Grace Rhoads	100
Friend	100
Mrs. Charles P. Hemenway	100
Miss M. Hollis	100
Dudley L. Pickman	100
C. M. and E. H. Baker	50
Mrs. Arabella Howe	50
Mrs. James Smith	25
James P. Morrill	25
E. W. Davenport	25
Mrs. Mary J. Loomis	25
W. C. Endicott	150
Arthur Leland	50
Herbert M. Leland	50
Emily W. Parker	50
The Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham	50

NEW DANCE TO-NIGHT FOR PIONEER CLUB

A feature of the Pioneer Outing Club, an organization of Roxbury young men, to-night in Warren Hall, Odiorne Corner, Dorchester, will be a whistling dance to be participated in by a number of pretty girls. Scott F. Thompson will be floor director. The proceeds will go toward the purchase of a clubhouse at Hough's Neck.

RAN DOWN OFFICER.

WELLESLEY, Nov. 1.—A motor cyclist whom Patrolman Emerzon Nortirup tried to stop for overspeeding knocked down the officer and rode off at a fast clip. An automobilist who saw the accident caught the number of the motor cycle and furnished it to the police. Chief Kingsley said that he would take the matter up immediately with the Highway Commissioners, for he believes that the driver of the motor cycle intentionally ran down the policeman.

ALL PARIS IS AROUSED OVER THE DEATH TRIAL OF MME. STEINHEIL

PARIS, Nov. 1.—Mme. Marguerite Steinheil will be placed on trial for her life on Wednesday, charged with having murdered her husband and her mother.

All Paris is athrill with expectation, for the trial promises to outdo in sensations anything in recent criminal trials. It is said the women are to be barred from the courtroom.

The president of the court, M. de Valles, earned the dislike of several hundred women, to whom requests for seats, all supported by warm notes of recommendation from personal friends, he sent a polite but firm refusal.

To one who reproached him for his severity the judge is reported to have replied:

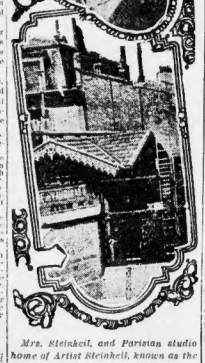
"You must blame yourselves and the newspapers. If you women had not on previous occasions came into court with extravagant hats, opera glasses, and parcels of cakes and sandwiches, the newspapers would not have been so scandalized and I should not be obliged to shut you all out."

Seats in the courtroom are at a premium. So many demands have been made on the judges that even the journalists will have to report in relays, as there is not room enough for all at a time.

Already there is considerable discussion as to the probable line of Mme. Steinheil's defence. It is expected to rest largely in the theory that she is by satisfy neurotic, and hence, to a certain degree, irresponsible for the mental and moral obliquities which have been revealed in her conduct and in her statements ever since the murder of her husband and stepmother was discovered.

CAR FAIL FATAL

John Earles of No. 9 Baldwin court, Cambridge, died in the Cambridge Relief Hospital from injuries received when he fell off a car near the West Boston bridge Saturday night.



Mrs. Steinheil, and Parisian studio home of Artist Steinheil, known as the "House of Art and Intrigue," where he was slain.

MAN KILLED IN LOWELL EXPLOSION

LOWELL, Nov. 1.—One man was killed and intwards were thrown into a panic by an explosion in the Merrimac Woolen Mills at Dracut early today.

Three men had almost miraculous escapes from the same fate which overtook the victim, who was scalded to death, had his skull fractured and both eyes blown out. Many women fainted in the mill and others tried to leap from windows. The men operatives were so badly scared.

Peter Pelletier was scalded, is the victim of the explosion. His body was stripped of clothing and thrown with terrific force when the main pipe of the boiler burst.

The grief of his family was heartrending when his fate was told them. He was the father of five children.

Pelletier, Joseph Zippet, Michael Kennedy and C. M. Hersey, master mechanic of the mill, were in the boiler room when the big pipe burst with a terrific report. Pelletier was on a ladder over it and at work making repairs when there was a tremendous roar and crash. Pelletier was thrown from the ladder like a feather in the grip of a cyclone. In an instant steam poured forth in a scalding cloud.

The other men could not see the door, for which they made a blind rush. All three almost collapsed when they met safety out of doors. It was impossible at first to approach within twenty feet of the boiler building. It was fifteen minutes before the boiler room could be entered and Pelletier's body found.

There are about 300 persons employed in the mill and two-thirds of the number are women. Fright gave way to horror when Pelletier's fate became known. The mill was closed down for the day.

More AMERICANS are read in the homes in Boston than any other paper.

DANCE WILL AID FUND FOR Y. M. C. A.

It is expected that a large sum of money will be realized from the receipts of the ball that will be given by the Fairview Outing Club in Bowdoin Hall, Charlestown, to-night, and 25 per cent of the total receipts will be added to the Y. M. C. A. fund.

The Fairview Outing Club ball is an annual affair and the club members have always given a percentage of the receipts to some worthy charity, but when the solicitation for the Y. M. C. A. fund was brought to the notice of the officers of the organization a meeting was held in which the members cast a unanimous vote to give a quarter of the amount received at the dance to the fund.

OLD STATUE LOST TO MRS. GARDNER

The failure of a cablegram to reach Mrs. "Jack" Gardner lost to Boston "The Girl of Anzio," the latest name given a superb statue supposed to be the work of Lysippus or Praxiteles, old Greek sculptors. The Boston woman had offered $100,000 for it, on it was sold to the Italian government for $80,000 and it has been placed temporarily in the Boston Museum.

The agreement for the purchase of the statue by Mrs. Gardner was completed and signed and the cablegram was sent to Boston asking her to send the money immediately for its transportation. But Mrs. Gardner was away, the cablegram did not reach her and Signor Bistolfi, himself a sculptor and an inspector of art in Italy, vetoed the sale.

STRIKERS STORM BRITISH CONSULATE

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 1.—The British minister and the Dutch government to-day began an investigation of a riot at Ijmuiden, where a crowd of striking fishermen stormed the house of the British vice-consul after an English fisherman who had refused to join the strike had taken refuge there. Vice-Consul Bergsteinegen was compelled to fire five shots at the mob before it would disperse.

NOT HERE TO WED, SAYS MARY ADELE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—Miss Mary Adele Case, the beautiful young contralto singer, whose engagement to Claude Spreckles, Jr., has been a subject of discussion throughout Europe and America, has arrived in San Francisco.

She denies that she has come here for the purpose of becoming the bride of Mr. Spreckles and she declines to make any direct statement in regard to the stories of her engagement.

POPE WILL REPLACE STOLEN GEM CROWN

CZENSTOCHOWA, Russian Poland, Nov. 1.—The Pope has sent a telegram to the general of the Pauline Fathers, offering a new diamond crown to replace that which was stolen a few nights ago from the chapel of the Pauline Convent when the venerated image of the Virgin was despoiled.

U. S. HAS GREATEST NAVAL GUN YET MADE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The biggest and most powerful naval weapon ever made is on its way here for completion. It is a 14-inch rifle.

It will weigh 63,565 pounds, be fifty-three and one-half feet long, use 385 pounds of powder to discharge its 1,400-pound projectile and will have a theoretical range of more than twenty-five miles.

KING MENELIK SINKING FAST

ROME, Nov. 1.—The latest reports received here state that King Menelik of Abyssinia is sinking fast. It is feared that complications will arise over the succession.

$30,000 FOR TOWN HALL.

Contracts for the erection of the new $30,000 town hall at Westwood have been awarded. The town has bought the land of Mrs. Ethel H. Crane. It contains about an acre and fronts on High street. The price was about $1,000. The building will be 80 by 45 feet in dimension and two stories high. The exterior material will be of light-colored brick and limestone. There will be an assembly hall, seating 500 a dining hall, seating 150; office room for town officials, and large vaults for records.

GUNBOAT TO CUBA.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 2.—The U. S. gunboat Hist, Commander Rice, which has been undergoing repairs at the navy yard for several months, sailed to-day for Cape Cruz, Cuba, to engage in survey

SULPHO NAPTHOL
The Original "Liquid Cleanliness"
A FEW drops added to a pail of water lightens the labor of house-cleaning besides killing all disease germs. Druggists and grocers, 50c., 25c., 10c. and $1.00.

MOODY NOT TO GO UNDER OPERATION

Dr. Joel Goldthwaite of No. 372 Marlboro street, physician to Associate Justice William H. Moody of the United States Supreme Court, issued the following statement to-day following a visit to the noted jurist at the Corey Hill Hospital, Brookline:

Justice Moody made the trip from his home in Haverhill to the Corey Hill Hospital yesterday in an automobile. He stood the journey well and passed a fairly comfortable night.

He is suffering from an inflammation of the joints, commonly called rheumatism, and comes here for special treatment for the relief of the inflammation in the joints.

Justice Moody is weak, as would be expected from a 14 days' illness, but is not critically ill. No operation is intended.

Dr. Goldthwaite made a very careful examination of Justice Moody to-day, being assisted by a number of Boston physicians. He approved the official statement by declaring that the noted patient was not to undergo an operation.

He further declared that Moody was at the hospital simply for rest and treatment and expressed the firm belief that the disease would eventually yield to a special course of treatment.

Justice Moody was taken to Brookline from his home in Haverhill early yesterday being accompanied by Dr. Goldthwaite and two old friends.

RICH TURFMAN IS DYING FROM KNIFE WOUND

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—With only a fighting chance for his life, R. L. Thomas, the rich Kentucky horse owner, who was stabbed, he said, by Carroll Shilling, a jockey, is to-day under the care of Dr. Joseph A. Blake. It is believed he will die.

Thomas was found in a stable at the Sheepshead Bay racetrack, where he had lain three hours unattended. He came here several days ago from his home in Kentucky, accompanied by his wife and daughter. He has been a prominent figure at the larger race tracks of the country.

Shilling, who rode for him six years, is well known as a jockey.

The horseman was stabbed over the heart after a terrible struggle in Stable No. 27. It is said that Thomas knocked Shilling down before the jockey drew the alleged attack with a knife. Shilling was arrested.

Shilling was produced to-day in the Coney Island Police Court and held without bail to await the outcome of Thomas's injuries. He pleaded self-defence and said the affair started over a discussion of his contract.

Mrs. Thomas and her daughter were at the injured man's bedside all night.

ESCAPED LUNATICS STILL AT LARGE

TAUNTON, Nov. 1.—Though the police of adjoining cities and towns are aiding in the search, no trace has yet been obtained of the whereabouts of Carroll Parsons and Clarence Hamilton, the insane patients who escaped from the Taunton Asylum Thursday evening.

Every night men connected with the institution have been searching for them. The woods between here and Fall River and New Bedford have been scoured by the detectives in vain.

GOES 7,000 MILES TO "DO SHOPPING"

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Mrs. G. F. H. Ennis, a former Chicago belle, whose husband is an official of the British Government in Uganda, Africa, left New York to-day on the last leg of a shopping trip by which she will have covered 7,000 miles. Mrs. Ennis came here from Uganda on October 20 to see her mother, Mrs. Joseph Kirkland, and to do some shopping. She was accompanied by her son, George Theodore Ennis.

The SUNDAY AMERICAN is the Seventh Day Wonder of New England.

SOUTH BOSTON MAN FOUND STARVING

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 1.—James Macklin of South Boston, twenty-five years of age, was found by Officer Coggeshall cold and hungry and penniless.

Macklin claimed he had not eaten for forty-eight hours. He was taken to the police station, fed and given a place to sleep, and upon his own request was sentenced to the State workhouse for six months.

IMPOSES LIQUOR FINES.

In the Dorchester Court to-day before Judge Churchill, John F. Egan, a druggist on Neponset avenue, in the Pope's Hill section, Dorchester, was fined $50 for the illegal sale of liquor. He appealed and was held in $300. George Stuart of South Boston was fined $50 for the same offence. He appealed and was held in $300 bonds.

Eaton E & W Marks
"Troy's Best Product"
Every one in Troy knows it. Thousands out of Troy believe it. We are going to make many more know it, By keeping right at it—making our goods Better than the other brands. Graywood collar. 2 for 25 cents. EARL & WILSON.

EARL & WILSON COLLARS FOR SALE AT Beckhard
TWO STORES
70 Tremont and 123 Summer Sts.

Double Legal Stamps will be given with every purchase mornings, until 12 o'clock noon, at Wolf's, "My Clothier," corner Hanover and Portland streets. Single stamps thereafter.

LEADING ENGLISH SUFFRAGIST, MRS. PHILIP SNOWDEN

'NO MILITANT PLAN NEEDED FOR AMERICA'

Mrs. Philip Snowden, leader of the militant suffrage movement in England and therefore a political opponent of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, is on her way to this side to begin a two months' tour in the lecture field. She arrives in New York Thursday.

Just before sailing from England Mrs. Snowden sent the following message to the suffragists of this country through a representative of the BOSTON AMERICAN:

"I think you can win over there without pursuing militant methods. I believe stonethrowing to be wrong and foolish and calculated to harm the movement temporarily, whether here or there."

Mrs. Snowden is a personal friend of Mrs. Pankhurst and feels great admiration for her as an earnest woman and as perhaps the greatest woman in England today. But Mrs. Snowden is a suffragette and Mrs. Snowden is a suffragist, and while recognizing the good points in another's tactics, they differ as to the best way and the quickest way of winning the ballot for women either in England or America.

The Difference.

Now the difference between a suffragist and a suffragette, to quote the English college girls, Miss Costello and Miss Randall, who were over here last year, is as follows:

A suffragist believes that the ballot is to be won for women by convincing men that women ought to have it and that it would be a good thing for the country if women were voters, while the suffragette believes that the only way for women to get the vote within a reasonable length of time is by combining various forms of militancy and forcing men to give them the ballot or suffer political defeat themselves.

Mrs. Snowden was brought up in the Methodist faith, for her parents were Wesleyans, and her home life was not only conservative but somewhat narrow. Consequently, when she became so interested in politics that she took part and declared herself a Socialist, she was outcast by her family.

She belonged to a well-to-do English family and of course had not been expected to earn her own living, but after she became estranged from her family she went to teaching school. Before her present engagement, however, she used to leave her home frequently to visit Rochdale Church, where Dr. Charles F. Aked, now of the Rockefeller Church in New York, was then preacher.

It was then the time of the distressing Boer War, and Dr. Aked was a great centre because of the firm stand he took on the war, deserting England with all his force and vehemence.

MOTHER ASKS AMERICAN TO FIND HER BOY

After a vain search all over the country for more than a year by parents and friends, Mrs. George Briffett of No. 12 Blossom street, Chelsea, the heart-broken mother of Simeon Briffett, has appealed to the BOSTON AMERICAN for aid, believing that in this way her son, who has been missing since September, 1908, might be found and returned to her.

One afternoon in September, 1908, Simeon, who was then but twenty years old, left his home on Shurtliffe street and has not been seen since. He had been sick for three years previous to his departure and was of a very despondent nature. His grief-stricken mother fears that he may have met foul play or that he may be wandering about the country.

He is described as being dark complexioned, 5 feet 8 inches in height and weighing about 140 pounds. Any information as to his whereabouts may be sent to the mother, who is anxiously waiting for her favorite son to come home to her.

Nearly everybody in Boston reads the AMERICAN.

DOUBLE STAMPS EVERY FORENOON
GILCHRIST CO
Washington and Winter Streets
SMART COATS and SUITS
Special Values for Tuesday

MULTIPLIED sales are an indication that our Handsome New Fall Coats and Suits are correct.

You owe it to yourself, from the standpoint of Fashion, from the standpoint of popular price, if you are contemplating the purchase of a Coat or Suit, to visit this department and inspect its large collection. Two especially attractive values are brought to your attention here.

Women's Broadcloth Suits

Made from a fine quality Chiffon Broadcloth, in a stylish 42-inch coat model, slightly trimmed with silk braid and neatly finished with jet buttons, satin lined throughout. Skirt in the new cluster side-plaited effect (one illustrated)—a high-class strictly man-tailored garment. Special for Tuesday only..... 9.75

Caracul Cloth Coats

Made from the finest grade Caracul Cloth in the new and lustrous broad-tail pony skin finish, large shawl collar, fitted back, large full sleeves with cuffs, fifty-four inches long and guaranteed lining throughout (one illustrated). Special for Tuesday's selling only, at..... 15.00

$15.00 $9.75

Vorenberg's
Washington, Hanover and Elm Streets

The GREATEST SUIT Values in BOSTON Are HERE

This is an exact reproduction of our $10.00 Suits

Just for your own satisfaction you must see these magnificent suits we are offering at $10. Nowhere else in town can you secure such splendid garments at anywhere near this price. There isn't a man looking for a suit today, that wouldn't come here for it, if he but knew how perfectly we could fit him with these quality suits of the finest fabrics at the wonderfully low price of $10—Just drop in and satisfy yourself as to these statements.

The unique value-giving policy of the House of Vorenberg will indeed delight you.

THE "Bostonia" A $3 Hat for 2.00

REGULAR $4 COAT SWEATERS $2.98

Be Sure and See Them To-morrow

Actually Worth $15, at $10.

ROUSING WIND-UP OF THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

CANDIDATES SWEEP CITY AND STATE AT CLOSE OF CAMPAIGN

Continued from First Page.

No. 40 Charles street; Ward 12, Deacon Hall, Washington near Concord street; Ward 17, wardroom, Vine Street Church; Ward 25, Warren Hall.

Torchlight Parade.

President James Donovan of the Democratic City Committee will accompany the candidates on their whirlwind tour. Torchlight demonstrations will be held by the ward committees in several districts, red fire will greet the candidates at the rally halls, bands will help to hold the crowds till the candidates come in those districts where near-millionaires have been induced to stand for ward committee election, and lustylunged cheer leaders will see to it that the ear doctors make a little money out of the campaign.

While Vahey, Foss and Pelletier are giving a few modest words for themselves in Boston to-night, other Democratic orators will hold forth in Watertown, Natick, East Cambridge, North Cambridge, Lowell and Saxonville.

Candidates Vahey and Foss have issued the following joint statement as their "last word" to the voters throughout the State:

"The Republican boss of the State sneeringly referred at Tremont Temple last night to the mental capacity of the Democratic candidates. Nothing else could have been expected of him. His machine has become so arrogant and insolent that it ruthlessly crushes down those who dare to disagree with it. In his own Republican county of Essex the Republican machine controlled by himself, his son-in-law, Congressman Gardner, and J. Otis Wardwell, the king of the lobby, is going to result in carrying the county for the Democratic ticket.

Insult to Citizens.

"Congressman Gardner openly insulted the citizens of Haverhill by saying that any man would be proud to accept the help and be the friend of J. Otis Wardwell. Returns from the recent primaries do not confirm a desire of the people in that section for the friendship which Congressman Gardner values so highly."

The Democratic candidates predict big Democratic gains in Worcester county, report a tremendous Republican defection in Middlesex county, back heavily on the harmony prevailing in Suffolk and feel certain thousands of Republicans will join Mr. Foss in "driving the Republican party out of power." In closing they say: "We look for an overwhelming victory for the Democratic ticket on Tuesday."

Here is Governor Draper's "last word":

"The campaign is substantially over, and the only thing that remains is for the voters to register their opinion Tuesday.

"The Democratic campaign has been irrelevant from start to finish. They have talked about things that have nothing to do with the State campaign.

"Their discussion of the tariff has been full of misinformation and misstatements.

"Vote," Says Draper.

"They have not attacked the State administration because they could not successfully do so. I do not believe they have succeeded in impressing the people with their own ability and virtue, nor have they succeeded in discrediting the present State officers who are the nominees of the Republican party in this campaign.

"This Republican campaign has been short, the speaking having begun just two weeks ago.

"The only thing necessary to insure a substantial Republican victory in the election is for the Republicans to come out and vote."

INCOME TAX FAVORED BY CANDIDATES

Of 337 replies to letters sent by the Harvard Political Club to 500-odd candidates for places in the Legislature, asking them their attitude on the income tax amendment, 206 are favorable. Twelve others have declared themselves to be in favor of the adoption of the amendment, but refused to be pledged, while eight announced themselves as being opposed to it and nine were undecided.

Only one Democrat in the list has declared unequivocally against the amendment, Representative Frank Curtis, who makes his home in Sheffield.

Thirty-six Republican candidates for Representatives favor the amendment.

The Republican candidates for the House who are against the amendment are: Lawrence S. Perry, New Bedford; Gerrett Gelis, Jr., New Bedford; Albert P. Langtry, Springfield; Henry E. Bothfeld, Newton; Grafton D. Cushing, Boston; George W. Boland, Boston; Augustine H. Scales, Boston.

The SUNDAY AMERICAN is the Seventh Day Wonder of New England.

Political Rallies

To-night at 8.

Democratic.

Boston—Ward 1, Boulevard Hall; Ward 2, Lyceum Hall; Ward 3, wardroom, Bunker Hill and Lexington streets; Ward 9, wardroom, Old Franklin schoolhouse; Ward 10, wardroom, Bliss schoolhouse; Ward 11, headquarters, 40 Charles street; Ward 12, Deacon Hall, Washington street; Ward 17, wardroom, Vine Street Church; Ward 23, Warren Hall. Vahey, Foss, Pelletier, Keliher and local candidates.

Watertown — Whitney, O'Connell, Vahey, Foss.

Natick—Bartlett, O'Connell.

East Cambridge—Vahey, Foss, Keliher, Fitzgerald.

North Cambridge—Vahey, Foss, Keliher, Mansfield.

Lowell—Coughlin, Shepard.

Saxonville—Connell, Bartlett.

Republican.

Somerville — Draper, Frothingham.

Luce, Stevens, Roberts, McCall, Sheldon.

Framingham—Walker, Higgins, Nash, Honston.

Chelsea—Hill, Frothingham, Carleton.

Neponset—Connell, Hill.

Revere—Hill.

Labor.

Natick and Malden.

Charter.

Plan one and Plan Two rallies in every ward.

DOES DRAPER CARD CANVASS TELL DEFEAT?

Does the Republican State Committee's card canvass of cities and towns in Massachusetts forecast the defeat of Draper and Frothingham?

For the first time in five years, the chairman of the State Committee has refused to show the cards sent in by the chairmen of Republican city and town committees forecasting the results in their districts.

The last time the card returns were bottled up was in 1904 when John L. Bates was defeated. The card returns in 1904 forecasted Bates's downfall.

Republican leaders from every corner of the State tried without success to-day to get some inkling of what the card returns say. "Draper and Frothingham will be elected by the usual off-year Republican majority," says Chairman Doty. But on figures he is mum.

Colonel Doty knows what the card returns forecast. So does Executive Secretary Groves. So does Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. And it was whispered to-day by persons who ought to know that the real reason for Lodge's appearance in Tremont Temple last Saturday night was the tone of the card canvass returns.

TAMMANY MAKES FIGHT FOR LIFE; LATE REPORTS GIVE TIGER BIG SCARE

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Carrying the fight to the very eve of election, Tammany to-day is making its last stand in the mayoralty campaign. In spite of all precedent in Tammany circles, to-day, Monday before election was the active campaign continued. The terrific battle waged against the Tiger on the "White Slave" and graft issues has put him at bay. The final meeting of the supporters of William R. Hearst, the Civic Alliance mayoralty candidate, at which he was cheered for 32 minutes at Madison Square Garden, was responsible for Tammany's chief anxiety to-day.

It was declared that Democratic leaders fear defeat not only for the head of their ticket, Judge William J. Gaynor, but for all the lesser candidates as well. At no time has the enthusiasm for Gaynor approached that shown for Hearst last night. It is understood that Tammany called off its Madison Square Garden meeting because of its fears of a direct comparison.

Murphy Hides Figures.

The election to-morrow, the climax of the triangular battle between Hearst, Bannard and Gaynor, is the most interesting political figure in the country. The residents of New York are aroused as never before, and a record vote is predicted.

The first refusal of Charles F. Murphy, the chief of Tammany Hall, to give out the figures of the Democratic expectations at the polls, gives credence to the reports of Tammany's fears. It has put a stop to what little betting there was as well. Less than fifty wagers of from $100 to $2,000 have been recorded since the campaign opened, whereas four years ago there were thousands.

Tammany's unique pose as a reform party was one of the developments of the fight to-day. James J. Higgin, Democratic leader in the Fifteenth district, told a crowd at Miner's Bowery Theatre that the real reformers are the Thirty-fifth district leaders, "who were ordained by Christ himself."

But the big event was the Hearst meeting, when Mr. Hearst closed his campaign. In the Garden were 16,000 persons madly enthusiastic and outside 10,000 were unable to get into the Garden. Even according to papers that are supporting the Republican candidate, Otto T. Bannard, the Hearst meeting was the largest and most enthusiastic that ever greeted a mayoralty candidate. Under Inspector McCluskey 300 policemen were on hand to preserve order as his speech Mr. Hearst reiterated his attacks on Tammany.

Attacks Gaynor.

Judge Gaynor created a sensation at one of his meetings by refusing to support the Tammany county ticket candidates. According to the explanation he gave from the platform, the ticket leader had decided that it was too late for him to bolster up any one who should not be elected.

The storm in Judge Gaynor by Father W. H. Dougherty of the Bronx to-day attracted much attention. The priest charged Gaynor created the "young man descent" the Christian Brothers. The assailed candidate replied the attack "Utterly cowardly."

Lists of delay in counting the ballots is expected to-morrow. On the four-foot ballot Gaynor's name appears eight times, Bannard's four, and Hearst's once. The length of the ballot has led William Jay Schieffelin, the Citizens' Union Chairman, to urge the adoption of the Massachusetts form of ballot. In an interview he said: "There are 104 duplications and numerous sary places, or 52 per cent. of the total number, on the ballot. Besides there are give columns blank except for the names and a few candidates.

The Republican forces to-day claim to have confidence that Otto T. Bannard will be New York's next mayor and that the other G. O. P. candidates will serve under him.

The estimate of the vote made by Herbert Parsons, the Republican leader, gives Bannard 250,000, 190,000 for Gaynor and 140,000 for Hearst. This leaves a plurality of 7,000 for Bannard.

"White Slave" Issue.

The fight waged over the charge that the Tammany organization utilized the political efforts of "White Slave" dealers has been one of the most important developments of the campaign. At the same time that former Police Commissioner Bingham was declaring that the accusations were true, "Big Tim" Sullivan in his first long speech in two years was denying the charges. Bingham made his speech in a church; Sullivan in the Bowery Theatre. Sullivan is displaying a list of his real estate holdings, proclaimed himself a "regular down town boy who keeps his head clear by not drinking." His speech took the form of a vindication of the political career in it he said: "The writer of the 'White Slave' magazine article, in which the allegations were first made, had better keep away from this neighborhood."

The 1908 election district captains gathered at Tammany Hall to-day. It was Tammany "dough day." They were given a total of about $23,000.

A Tammany registration fraud plot, involving the placing of 2,000 repeaters throughout Queens County for to-morrow's election, has been discovered by Attorney-General Edward R. O'Malley and District Attorney Frederick Dewitt.

After Tammany Plotters.

Attorney-General O'Malley arranged to have 300 warrants sworn out for the arrest of other repeaters when they present themselves at the polls throughout the county to vote to-morrow.

The Tammany fraud plot was discovered through letters sent out to hundreds of men supposed to be Tammany repeaters at the alleged addresses they had given when they registered throughout the borough. Hundreds of these letters were returned by the postoffice authorities.

Hughes Gives Orders.

Governor Hughes to-day issued election orders to Superintendent of Elections O'Leary and Police Commissioner Baker of New York, as follows: "You are directed to take all necessary precautions to prevent any willful fraud and to see that the election to-morrow is conducted without disorder, intimidation or fraud, and that the provisions of the election law are fully enforced."

TOM JOHNSON IS 10 TO 6 FAVORITE

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 1.—The fifth election of Tom Johnson as Mayor is the result expected in municipal campaigning. Johnson is a 10 to 6 favorite in the betting. His Republican opponent is Herman C. Baehr.

PREDICT 25,000 WIN.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 1.—The Democratic city committee is betting on 25,000. The Democratic leader, Judge William Hodges Mann, is a Prohibitionist, and again William P. Gunn is the Republican candidate.

SOCIETY PETS RING BRUISERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Six young bruisers are the wonder of the East Side to-day, because after entertaining a hundred society women with three lively scrapping matches on the beautiful estate of Mrs. Adolph Ladenburg at Meadow Brook, L. I., they were given three of the best bed chambers in the house, stayed there all night and were dined and feted all yesterday.

Society, however, is aghast at the boldness of the affair, for many of the women of the swagger Meadow Brook Hunt Club witnessed it and cheered the boxers on. And they were real, slashing bouts, in which the young scrappers, all prominent in East Side athletics, walloped each other and in one case nearly scored a knockout. The women were fascinated by the excitement.

Early in the morning, after the bouts, the bruised young fighters, couched in rubs manners by Joe Humphreys, who refereed the bouts, and Brinton Buckwalter, a young society man, sat down to a repast the like of which they had never seen before. The women and men, in evening dress, made heroes of the lads.

Afterward no automobile was available to take the boys back to town, so they were given sumptuous entertainment, and yesterday rambled about the beautiful grounds and had many good things to eat than they had ever heard of or may ever see again.

You see the AMERICAN everywhere—in the homes, clubs, restaurants, hotels, cars and boats.

TYTUS A REAL "CANDY KID"

LENOX, Nov. 1.—Representative Robb De Peyster Tytus, who has got so much money he hardly knows what to do with it, but who is working twelve hours a day, nevertheless, is the real, twenty-four-karat "candy kid" hereabouts. For, in closing his strenuous campaign for re-election to-day, he has put the bonbon into politics by handing a box of candy to each of the 1,000 women who work in the Lee paper mills.

The delicate remembrance to each of the working women and girls is, however, explained in quite aside from politics, but mainly as a substantial measure of thanksgiving for the arrival of a little daughter at Mr. Tytus's villa, Ashintully farm, in Tyringham—one of the most extensive country estates in Massachusetts.

Although he doesn't need to meddle with business or politics, and, anyway, is sure of re-election, Representative Tytus likes the excitement of it, and has not let the grass grow under his feet since the campaign began. He is taking no chances. He has visited personally all but twenty-six registered voters in the Seventh Berkshire District, and that means something, for there are 2,900 of them and they live far and wide among the Berkshires. He has traveled hundreds of miles in his automobile, calling on the farmers, and today closes the most active campaign in his career.

You see the AMERICAN everywhere—in the homes, clubs, restaurants, hotels, cars and boats.

28 REBELS IN CURLEY CLUB

Extra! Extra!! Rebellion against Jim in the Ward 17 Tammany Club!

Curleyville is all excitement to-day over the fact that twenty-eight members of the Tammany Club dared to vote against the proposition which was favored five minutes earlier in a speech by Alderman Curley himself.

"Who are the twenty-eight?" Ward 17 residents asked each other to-day.

Of course there were 203 loyal Tammanyites who voted for Alderman Jim's side of the proposition. But that's no excitement. Ward 17 folks, for twenty-eight to vote the other way.

It was all over the Plan One-Plan Two affair. Curley was in favor of Plan Two a week ago. Yesterday he called his Tammany Club together for an informal debate on the merits of the two rival plans. Jere Good was chosen to debate the plans with Alderman Jim. The aldermen drew lots—in his usual way—and picked Plan One. Jere asked if they were ever going to stop making him the goat and defended Plan Two. The ballot followed.

LABOR GOES TO AID RILEY

As the result of charges that labor leaders have been bought off from speaking for Representative Thomas P. Riley of Malden who is seeking re-election, the leaders in the labor campaign headquarters at the Quincy House to-day decided to send the three best labor speakers in the field to Malden to-night to speak for Riley. The speakers are Dennis D. Driscoll, secretary of the State branch of the A. F. of L., former Alderman Fred J. Kneeland of the Painters Union and Representative C. J. Carmody.

Riley has been a staunch supporter of labor measures in the Legislature. He is a Democrat running for his election which they regard as of great importance to the labor cause. It is only the charge that the labor leaders were bribed not to talk for Riley that has caused them to send speakers into his district to-night to refute the charge.

More AMERICANS are read in the homes in Boston than any other paper.

Political News of Both Parties.

It was a non-partisan crowd that attended the district attorney meeting in Odeon Hall in Lowe Hall, the majority of the crowd filed over to Congress Hall across the street and heard Pelletier tell why he should be elected.

Over in New York, where they are howling against the size of the fifty-cent-inch ballot for to-morrow's election, the argument is being used that Boston is superior upon a new city charter on a ballot that is one-fourth the size of that used in Gotham. "The questions are there and the people can vote on just what they want," says one of the New York circulars. "Besides, a good many voters who wish that this latter statement were true.

Redmond Fitzgerald of Dorchester, one of the original dyed-in-the-wool Plan Two rooters, is party to a bet with Dennis Cohoian, a local tonsorial artist, that the "people's plan" will carry fourteen out of the twenty-five wards of the city to-morrow.

Where was Curtis Guild, and why was he not among the speakers at the Tremont Temple rally on Saturday evening. Quite a number of prominent Republicans are asking the question, but the State committee is not furnishing an answer.

Alderman Curley explained that he let Jerry Good debate for Plan Two before the Tammany Club members because he was an undertaker. The result of the ballot taken after the debate indicated that the undertaker's judgment was good—241 for Plan One to 28 for Plan Two.

"The question now is not whether Pelletier will be elected, but how big his majority will be," said Manager Lavelle of the Pelletier forces to-day. "I place it at 15,000, and, everything considered, I think that is a conservative estimate. It may run as high as 20,000."

For the first time in many years the Republican machine in Ward 20 is worrying over the prospect of losing one of its candidates for the House. Roswell G. Hall, one of the Democratic candidates, has made a great campaign, and the Democrats are already claiming his election.

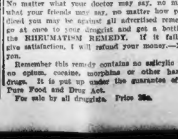
If you want to get the returns just as soon as they come in to-morrow night, with a few interesting moving pictures, cartoons, etc., thrown in while you're waiting, you should visit the AMERICAN screen in Adams square. Every spectator will have the privilege of learning the returns here just as soon as the candidates themselves.

HILL WORKERS ON ELEVATED TRAINS

Workers for District Attorney Hill canvassed the passengers on the elevated trains to-day. Twenty of them boarded the trains at Dudley street, North Station and Sullivan Square and went through the cars, particularly through the smokers, asking passengers if they were going to vote for Hill, and telling them, if they said no, just why they thought they should vote for Hill. It is a plan that has not been tried in Boston for at least ten years.

You see the AMERICAN everywhere—in the homes, clubs, restaurants, hotels, cars and boats.

RHEUMATISM

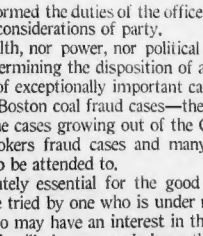


I want every chronic rheumatic to throw away all medicines, all liniments, all plasters and give MUNYON'S RHEUMATISM REMEDY a trial. No matter what your doctor may say, no matter what your friends may say, no matter how prejudiced you may be against all advertised remedies, go at once to your druggist and get a bottle of the RHEUMATISM REMEDY. If it fails to give satisfaction, I will refund your money.—Munyon.

Remember this remedy contains no salicylic acid, no opium, cocaine, morphine or other harmful drugs. It is put up under the guarantee of the Pure Food and Drug Act.

For sale by all druggists. Price 25c.

Political Advertisement. Political Advertisement. Political Advertisement.



Democratic-Republican-Independent Voters of Suffolk County

Tomorrow you vote for a district attorney. The choice should not be one of politics.

The one and only real issue in this contest is—which of the candidates will fearlessly and impartially enforce the law, punish city hall boodlers, jail grafters and work for the best interests of the county.

I have performed the duties of the office of district attorney without regard to considerations of party.

Neither wealth, nor power, nor political or social influence were factors in determining the disposition of a single case.

A number of exceptionally important cases—the steel cases now on trial—the Boston coal fraud cases—the schoolhouse collusive bids cases—the cases growing out of the Codman Street land deal—the stock brokers fraud cases and many others just as important have got to be attended to.

It is absolutely essential for the good of Suffolk County that these cases be tried by one who is under no obligation to any political bosses who may have an interest in their outcome.

If elected I will do my work honestly—show fairness—justice—and impartiality to all.

I want your vote for district attorney tomorrow—because I want to finish the work already begun.

ARTHUR D. HILL,
83 Mount Vernon St., Boston

Special Notice.

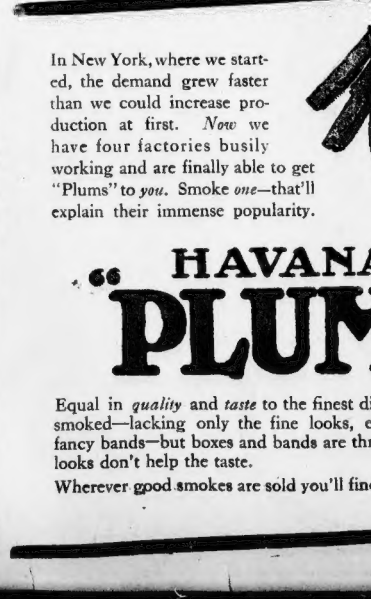
CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

"Plums" Made a Hit



In New York, where we started, the demand grew faster than we could increase production at first. Now we have four factories busily working and are finally able to get "Plums" to you. Smoke one—that'll explain their immense popularity.

9 Smooth, Mellow Cigars for 15c

HAVANA "PLUMS"

Equal in quality and taste to the finest dime cigar you ever smoked—lacking only the fine looks, elaborate boxes and fancy bands—but boxes and bands are thrown away, and fine looks don't help the taste.

Wherever good smokes are sold you'll find Havana "Plums."

LETTERS OF ST. JEAN GIRL TELL OF INJURY WHICH WAS DEATH CLEW

FALL RIVER, Nov. 1.—Among the pathetic letters in the possession of the police that were written by Amelia St. Jean, the victim of the Fall River-Tiverton tragedy, in one in which she refers to the injury to her hand which left one of the marks that led to the identity of her dismembered remains by her mother.

This and other letters were written to Miss Delina Le Blanc of this place, Miss St. Jean's closest girl friend. The letters are interesting as reflecting the life of the pretty mill girl who came to such a shocking end. Here are two of the letters:

Tells of Injured Hand.

Woonsocket, R. I., Dec. 1, 1908.

My Dear, Darling Friend:

No doubt you will be angry for me not writing, but I hurt my right hand in the mill last week, and was not able to even hold a pencil. My first finger is very sore, and it is with pain that I write these few lines. We are all well, and hope you are the same. Dearest freiend, how I would love to see you and kiss you. It seems years since last I saw you.

I would have liked to go and see you Thanksgiving, but really being sick, you know, put me behind. Went to see my grandma Thanksgiving eve. I went to the minstrel show. I had a lovely time, and I hope you had a splendid time also. I would gladly like to hear from you, and hope you are well. I wonder when you are coming to see me.

I think of you always. I am going to a dance next Thursday night, and a great time is expected. I love to dance. Do you go around with that young man you met at the show? You ought to go out a little oftener. It would do you good; you stay in the house too much. Just think how pretty you are when I feel you, and how your color is all gone from your cheeks. My darling, you are still pretty in your pallor, but you must try and regain your color. You must stop brooding over your illness, and think how happy your future life is going to be.

There was one while I would not eat or sleep at all, when I was so sick, in September, and I would not go out of the house except to go to work, but now I go out a couple of times a week to get the fresh air. So you must go out a little more. You don't want to stay shut up in the house and die. I don't want you to do that. I love you too much. So take good care of your health, dear. Just think, I never loved a girl as much as I do you.

I don't know why it is, but when I hear or mention your name my heart almost goes out of my body. It beats so hard. I would love to live with you. We would be so happy together. Do you think so? Good-by, my darling. Hoping to hear from you and also see you soon. With all my love to you. (crosses for kisses.)

(Signed) AMELIA ST. JEAN.

Inquires for Thibault.

Woonsocket, R. I., Aug. 8, 1909.

My Dearest Friend—Not having heard from one another for a few months I have decided to write and see how you are. Dear Delina, I don't want you to think because I didn't write to you that I never thought of you, for I have always thought of you. I haven't written a letter to anybody since I came home from Fall River. I never even wrote to my Aunt Eva.

I am fine and so are the rest of the family excepting Orianna. She has been sick about two weeks. She didn't work last week or this week, and is going to visit my Grandmother Blaine in Woonsocket. Grandma lives in a healthy place, all surrounded by water, so Orianna will get good fresh air. I worked in the mill last week doffing on the warpers. One of the warper tenders is sick, so I'm working in her place. I am going to work in her place again this week. That job pays $8 a week.

Dear Delina, aunty wrote that you have been sick a long time. I am sorry you are sick and I hope you will soon get better. Of course there is always something wrong in a family. Orianna has changed so since she is sick and its so warm here in the city. The country will do her good. I guess she will stay there for a couple of weeks and next week I will work in her place. Dear Delina, I wish you were living here and we could have a few good times together.

Prepares for Dance.

There's going to be an open air bazaar three nights next week and I'm going with the girls Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. There's going to be dancing and we are going dancing in a crowd. It will be at the Clinton oval ball grounds and they have got a dandy platform all ready to use. Next Wednesday night there's going to be a party at the fifth house from here and all the girls expect to go, so if they do I am going. Will have a god time for I know the people well.

I wish you could come for next Saturday and spend a few days if you couldn't stay a week. You are not working and you never come to see me at home. I wish you would come now, if only for Saturday and Sunday. When you write tell me how long you've been sick and how is the matter.

Do you still go around with Mr. ——? Tell him I was asking for him. I think he is a very nice fellow and he seems to care for you. I am going with a fellow named Lonsdale. He's a nice fellow, my name is ——, a French fellow. He's an active fellow for a few more weeks. He has travelled a great deal and you ought to see him dance the buck and wing and the waltz clog. He says he'll teach me a few of what he learns, so this is a chance to learn the stage dances. He only comes Sunday night, so I don't see him very often.

Invitation to Friend.

Just think, I've got to dress up when I finish this letter, and I hate to for it is so warm. I've got a short skirt and a dressing sacque on and I feel so comfortable. I am alone in the house, Orianna has gone for a car ride with her two friends. My brother Joseph has gone to play ball in Masonville. Mamma is sitting at the side of the house reading, and the others are out playing. Wilfred has gone to the race track to see the horses, as they are going to have races all this week.

Will you try to come for next Saturday, if only to stay until Sunday night? I would be so glad to see you. Poor Delina, you have certainly suffered in the last year. I am so sorry for you. You poor girl, how I forget all these things you've been through, so won't you come and see me? It will do you good, don't you think so? We could get along fine together just two, and we couldn't care for any one else.

Behind in Correspondence.

Because I never wrote doesn't mean that I don't care for you or ever think of you. I always think of you, but really I don't like to write, and always keep putting it off. I never wrote to my aunt Eva since Orianna left Fall River, and I got a card from her last night asking if I was dead. I'm in the land of the living or the land of the dead. So if you don't answer me this week sometime and let me know how you are and how you will come. Now don't be mad, will you dear?

How is your mother getting along now? Does she be sick again? I hope not. It's awful when the mother is always sick. When you come we will have so much to talk about. I think I will close now, hoping this letter will find you getting better every day. With love and best wishes to you, I remain forever your friend,

(Signed) AMELIA ST. JEAN.

No. 204 Pine street, Woonsocket, R. I.

P. S.—Try and come, won't you, Delina. Please answer me soon.

The L System Clothes

These Clothes

are distinctly of the better-sort—the very clothes you'll like.

This fact cannot be demonstrated either with words or pictures—but your own eyes will prove it when you have seen them.

Shops catering to better-dressed Young Men are glad to show you The L System Clothes and to give good service in selection.

Merchants who seek the trade of the best dressers should write us quickly for details of agency arrangement.

H. M. Lindenthal & Sons
Style Originators
Chicago New York
Boston

AMELIA ST. JEAN, WHO WROTE HER STORY TO FRIEND

TAFT AGAIN A BOX-OFFICE 'ATTRACTION'

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 1.—President Taft arrived at 8:40 a. m. for an all day visit to the capital city of Mississippi. He was met by a committee headed by Governor Noel and immediately after breakfast went to the Edwards House, where an informal reception was held from 9 to 10 o'clock. Jackson turned out a big crowd, which cheered the President wildly as he emerged from his car and entered an automobile at the head of the procession.

The President under military escort visited the State fair at 11 o'clock, remaining until noon, when he delivered a brief address from the grandstand. The President is again in the county fair section and for practically the entire week, the beginning of the end of his long trip, he will exercise that function of his office which he has described as "swelling the box office receipts."

Enroute back from the fair grounds the President made a brief stop to receive an address of welcome from citizens of Jackson. The city is handsomely decorated and crowded with visitors from every section of the State, not only is honey of the Presidents visit, but because the county fair is in session and a wild animal show and a circus are also on the ground.

Last night was one of unrest and disquiet on the presidential train. A swarm of mosquitoes took possession of the train at New Orleans and made life miserable until the breeze generated by the speed of the train gradually drove them off.

This afternoon the President had luncheon at the executive mansion with Governor Noel, after which there was a motor ride around the city.

At the Edwards House reception the President was presented with a bunch of American Beauty roses by Mrs. Chambers M. Williamson, state regent of the Daughters of the Revolution. Mrs. Taft is the first president who ever visited Jackson.

CARNEGIE DECLARES BUDGET WILL WIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Andrew Carnegie, arriving on the Baltic, was wearing a sprig of white heather in his lapel.

"My wife always puts a bit of heather in my buttonhole before I land in America," he said, "it's for good luck."

Mr. Carnegie had had a pleasant and socially fortunate Summer. In the Spring he had presented to France, to Italy, to Germany and to Austria a plaster replica of the reconstructed diplodocus in the Carnegie Institute in Pittsburg. These cost $20,000 each, and led to striking hauls with various royal personages, and nearly led to a strike of the hands employed in the Carnegie plant, who were refused wage advances of $5 a month.

"What are the chances of war between England and Germany" he was asked.

"Tong and le in a state of frenzy wholly unrelied for. Germany has no idea of any control except the competition of commerce."

He was sure the budget which is agitating rich Britishers would pass. "If it doesn't," he added, "I know what will happen!"

ALIEN'S DRINK GETS CAPTAIN IN TROUBLE

Captain Henry P. Smith of the fruit steamer Limon was arrested today by United States Deputy Marshal Ruhl on the charge that he had permitted an alien to land from his vessel. The Limon was boarded at Costa Rica by John Maher, who had been working for a construction company and claimed to be an American citizen. He had a check for $600 and $100 in gold. When the Limon reached Boston he was to be inspected by immigration officials, but before he passed that ordeal he asked Captain Smith to let him go ashore at Long Wharf just long enough to get a drink. He promised to return immediately, but he hasn't got back yet. Captain Smith was held in $500 bonds by United States Commissioner Hayes for a hearing on November 26. He was released on his personal recognizance.

More AMERICANS are read in the homes in Boston than any other paper.

REPORT IN ASTOR DIVORCE CASE READY

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 1.—The report of Charles H. Young, referee in the separation suit of Mrs. John Jacob Astor will be handed in next week, it was learned today. The suit was brought in Dutchess county, not Westchester, as was at first believed.

LONG FLIGHT BY LAHM.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 1.—In a flight to-day Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm of the United States Signal Corps broke the record for long time heavier-than-air flights at the Government field here. He was in the air 58½ minutes. The best previous record here was forty-two minutes. Another trip which began at 8:05 o'clock lasted sixteen minutes. Both were made by Lieutenant Lahm alone.

MURDER FOR JEWELS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Mrs. Anna Kessler of No. 321 East One Hundred and Nineteenth street was found dead in her flat to-day with a towel tied tightly around her neck, her head crushed and her diamond earrings and rings stolen.

11 IN PERIL OF BLAZE AT DORCHESTER

Eleven occupants of the modern family tenement house at Deacon street and Dorchester avenue, Dorchester, narrowly escaped death in a mysterious fire which destroyed the upper floors of the building early to-day. All fled in their night clothes or partially dressed, in imminent peril. Patrolman Stephen Higgins saved his wife and three children at the risk of his life, and was severely burned and overcome by smoke.

Nobody can account for the origin of the blaze, which started in the back hall of the apartments of Mrs. M. F. Richards, on the second floor of No. 7 Deacon street, where there was no fire or anything lighted that could start a fire.

Nearly apartment houses were in danger of burning and their occupants ran to the street, thinly clad and panic-stricken. They were taken into houses in the neighborhood, which was thoroughly excited by the fire.

Awakened by Screams.

Mrs. Richards, who slept in the rear room of the second floor, came to when the fire started, was aroused by the screams of a Mrs. Caldwell, who lived next door and who was awakened by the fire. She heard the crackling of the flames, and when she ran into the hall she found it ablaze and filled with smoke.

She hurried down to the room in the front, where her two daughters were sleeping, Grace, aged fourteen, and Beatrice, aged thirteen. She dragged them from their beds and all three dashed down the stairway and into the street, in their night clothes, where they were cared for by neighbors.

On the top floor lived Patrolman Higgins of Station 16, his wife, Catherine, and their children, Stephen, aged four; Mary, two, and Margaret, two months. Mrs. Higgins, with the two younger children, slept in the rear, directly over where the fire started. The father and young Stephen were in the front bed chamber.

Swept Back by Flames.

Higgins was awakened by the commotion and the crackling of the flames beneath him. He ran into the kitchen and unlocked the door leading into the back hall. The key was red hot and his fingers were burned to the bone.

He was swept back by a burst of smoke and flames, but seized a bucket and tried to extinguish the fire. He was fast being overcome by the smoke before he realized that the blaze was furious. He rushed in to his wife's room, aroused her and hurried her and the baby down the front stairs into the street. Then he ran and developed the part of the hero when they awoke. They managed to half dress and got out.

The occupants of the upper floors lost a large part of their property, and the furniture and household effects were damaged by water.

The loss to the building was about $3,000 and to the contents about $1,000.

MARINE ARRESTED AS AN EMBEZZLER

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Oscar F. Cochran, a private in the United States coast artillery at Fort Slocum was arrested today on the charge of embezzlement on a warrant sworn out against him in Indianapolis. Cochran was formerly a bookkeeper in the American National Bank in Indianapolis. He disappeared two years ago and until to-day could not be found. He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields today and held for extradition papers.

Nothing succeeds like circulation. The AMERICAN has quantity and quality.

BUGLE BLAST OPENS DOORS OF 1915 FAIR

The 1915 Boston Exposition is open. At 11 a. m. to-day the doors of the Old Art Museum in Copley square were thrown back and the public was at liberty to view the exhibition about which so much has been said, which has enlisted the support of more than two hundred of the city's organizations.

"Walk right up," all are welcome," said a tremendous voice from nowhere at all, and the group which stood on the sidewalk awaiting the opening were startled. "Do not hesitate. The 1915 Exposition is now open," said the voice in deep booming tones.

"I know what it is," exclaimed a girl with a roll of music under her arm. "It is the talking art lamp."

Chicago of the Future.

A big arc lamp had been placed above the door, and it was evident that the tones were coming from there.

"I suppose this is the 1915 barker," remarked a clergyman. "It is certainly effective." He entered, followed by the whole group.

The talking arc lamp is actually a sort of telephone receiver with a megaphone attachment which almost sends whoever into the telephone a hundred feet away.

The first thing that meets the eye upon entering the Exposition are the beautiful paintings of Chicago as it ought to be, not as it is. These paintings are very valuable and represent the life work of the artist. They demonstrate that Chicago is not the only city that has aspirations.

It was not expected that there would be a full representation of exhibits on the first day, and when nearly 100 persons walked up to the box office and bought tickets during the first hour Manager Rogers was assured of the ultimate success of the Exposition.

Camera Catches 20,000.

Two lecture halls have been provided where lectures on scientific and popular subjects will be given during the exposition. This evening will be teachers' night and a programme of speaking has been prepared. David A. Ellis of the School Board, Sara Arnold of Simmons College and James P. Monroe of the 1915 directorate will be among the speakers.

The 1915 orchestra discovered sweet strains of music during the day, and at 2 p. m. the North End Italian marionette show gave the first of its hourly exhibitions.

"Washington Street at Noon Time" is the title of a moving picture which was shown to-day for the first time. The picture was made by the Exposition in "1915." A man with a bugle attracted the attention of the throngs on the street, and as they looked they were caught upon the films. It is estimated that about 20,000 Bostonians were caught in the pictures and may see themselves at any of the 1915 moving picture exhibitions.

STEEL CASE JURORS MAY GO TO POLLS

Judge Watt ordered the trial of the "steel conspiracy" case adjourned until Wednesday morning when the jury report would be ready. To-day and to-morrow (from Friday until to-day) some jurors protested Friday against a delay of the trial over election day, on the ground that their service on the jury was subjecting them to danger. Judge Harris who had presided at the trial, instructed the jury to decide the adjournment matter for themselves. The jury unanimously referred it to the court's discretion. Judge Harris thereupon ordered the jury to report this morning for balloting. Election day is by custom considered a holiday by Democratic workers.

TWO WOMEN SLAIN; ROBBED OF $1,600

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Nov. 1.—The authorities to-day began the investigation of the murder of Mrs. Elias H. Marks and her daughter Gertrude, who had $1,600 from their home. The father and husband is leading a posse of farmers.

PASTOR KING CALLS DR. GORDON INFIDEL FOR 'MIRACLE' VIEWS

Dr. George A. Gordon, pastor for the past twenty-four years of the New Old South Church, Boston, has "gone over to infidelity," say loud language," declared the Rev. Dr. George W. King, pastor of the People's Temple, in a sermon yesterday in which he discussed Dr. Gordon's new book "Religion and Miracle," copious extracts from which were published exclusively in yesterday's Sunday AMERICAN.

Dr. Gordon declares that all miracles are myths and denies the incarnation and resurrection of Jesus in his book, and Dr. King asserted that if the faith of the church dispensed upon Dr. Gordon's position, Christianity would soon die out of the world. He declared that Dr. Gordon's religion will never save men, nor will it ever convert the world. It will not build up churches although it may live for quite a while on the wreck and ruin of a more heroic faith and by men of a more Christian spirit.

Discussing the exchange of pulpits, the Rev. E. E. Dunbar of the Reading Unitarian church said:

"We were born back on earth today. But would be one of the first to commend such an action, for His whole spirit was perfectly in harmony with the kind of liberty manifested by these men."

Junior Pastor Dunbar said in part: "When I realize that never before has a rabbi spoken in the old South church, and that in fact I consider how much history had to be made—religious, political, social and the like—before a fellow Jew of Jesus could address a Christian congregation as such followers of Christ, then I feel like fervently praising God for the liberty of which Judaism, praising God, 'because he has kept me alive, sustained me and permitted me to reach this festal day.'

"Such an occasion can be accepted as a symptom of the kindlier spirit which ought to prevail always among all religionists. It is a step in the right direction. It promotes the love of God and the universal of man. And if God and man is lifted by these years of human growth in Israel, we are glad to be among those are with the elements of the faith common to Jew and Christian."

"Religious Debt to Jew."

At Temple Israel Dr. Gordon spoke on "Religious Debt to the Jew." He said in part:

"The words of the text are the tribute of a Jew who had become a Christian to the greatness of the religion growing up in him, through his race and come the great words of God to men. History justifies Paul in this judgment. There have been two, and only two, supremely original races. They lived and they believed.

"The vision of the living God came into the world through the solemn prophets and poets, and the ethical ideals of the holiness of God. For these men God was personal. He was the eternal Father, lover and ideal, with an infinite moral life. He was living and working mightily. The sense of personality caused through moral life and a tremendous moral energy, hence the force of their personality."

This is the trade-mark which is found on every bottle of the genuine

Scott's Emulsion

the standard Cod Liver Oil preparation of the world. Nothing equals it to build up the weak and wasted bodies of young and old. All Druggists

Send 10c. name of paper and this ad. for our beautiful Savings Bank and Child's sketch-book. Each bank contains a Good Luck Penny. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl St., N. Y.

Political Advertisement. | Political Advertisement. | Political Advertisement. | Political Advertisement.

MEN OF BOSTON!

Control Your Own City

VOTE FOR PLAN NO. 2

IT WILL ABOLISH

The Municipal Boss
The auction sale of delegates
The discredited convention
The money-bought nomination
The party-serving officials
The irresponsibly large council
The wasteful division of public funds

IT WILL

Place power in the people
Give every voter political equality
Make way for honest, able candidates
Encourage voting for men of merit
Break no national party ties
Fix official responsibility
Make for a united Boston

PLAN NO. 2

is ENDORSED by the real leaders of both national parties—men whom you can safely follow. Plan No. 2 is OPPOSED by machine politicians and local ward bosses whom it will put out of business.

With the sole desire that Boston shall be a healthy, prosperous and well-governed city and that each individual shall feel a personal responsibility for its welfare, we earnestly urge our fellow-citizens to GO TO THE POLLS next Tuesday and mark their ballots for Plan No. 2—the people's plan.

JOHN L. BATES
DR. DAVID D. SCANNELL
CHARLES T. GALLAGHER
GEORGE W. ANDERSON
CARL DREYFUS
JOHN P. REYNOLDS
FRANCIS W. FALVEY
GEORGE R. NUTTER
LEE M. FRIEDMAN
GORDON ABBOTT
FRANK LEVERONI
BERNARD J. ROTHWELL

CHARLES S. HAMLIN
MORTON PRINCE
MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN
AUGUSTUS HEMENWAY
ROBERT A. WOODS
JOHN J. KENNEDY
JOSEPH LEE
JAMES A. McKIBBEN
AUGUSTUS BACON
CHARLES J. CARLSON
ARTHUR M. HUDDELL

RICHARD OLNEY
RICHARD C. HUMPHREYS
JAMES E. McCONNELL
ARTHUR C. ESTABROOK
ROBERT TREAT PAINE, JR
JOHN T. HOSFORD
RUSSELL G. FESSENDEN
W. DUDLEY COTTON, JR.
JOHN E. ROUSMANIERE
JOHN T. WHEELWRIGHT
JOHN C. COULTHURST
JOHN B. MURPHY

SAMUEL B. CAPEN
ROBERT HOMANS
LAURENCE MINOT
EDWARD KELLEY, JR.
JAMES P. MAGENIS
WILLIAM C. PREE
CARL EBERHARDT
CHARLES V. DASEY
HENRY L. HIGGINSON
GUY A. HAM

Jeremiah A. Desmond, 56 Crescent Avenue.

GERMAN OFFICIALS ON TRIAL FOR THEFT

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—The trial of nine high government officials and merchants accused of purloining stores valued at millions of dollars from the imperial navy yard opened to-day at Kiel. It is alleged that the wholesale thefts have been going on steadily for several years. The cases have created a sensation already throughout the country. It is believed that before they are finished further exposures will have been made.

M'CLUNG IS U. S. TREASURER TO-DAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Lee McClung, Yale's famous halfback of '91, became Treasurer of the United States to-day, receiving the money from Charles H. Treat, retiring Treasurer. With the departure of Ormsby McHarg, Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Labor, for New York Solicitor Earl of that department becomes Acting Secretary. McHarg has been acting secretary most of the past few months in the absence of Senator Nagel. He will assume new duties as member of the firm of Cole, Jackson & Hubbard in New York City.

BIG FIGHTERS PREPARE FOR STAGE WORK

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

ELIS STRONGER THAN HARVARD ON THE GRIDIRON

FOURTEEN DEATHS FROM FOOTBALL IS RECORD OF SEASON

Including the death of Cadet Byrne at West Point, who was injured in Saturday's game with Harvard, and that of Michael Byrne of the Philadelphia Medico-Chi College injured in the game with the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, fourteen players have given up their lives to the game in the one month of the present football season.

The number of injured, whose accidents have been made public, despite the secrets taken by all institutions to keep secret the news of all mishaps to a player, either in regular games or in practice, is more than 150. Of these 100 have been seriously hurt. Many have been injured of whom the public has never heard.

The Death List.

Among those who have died are Frank Trimble, tackle, at the University of Indiana; Charles Becker, halfback, of the Findlay, Ohio, high school, who died of injuries received in a scheduled game; Robert Millington, halfback at the Pottsville, Pa., high school, who was hurt in a game with the Shamokin high school; Walter Evans, fullback at Guthrie County, Iowa, high school, hurt in a game with the Yale, Iowa, high school; Joseph Walsh, guard at St. Mary's, Kansas, College, hurt in practice game; John McArthur, twenty, captain of the Huntington, Indiana, football team, injured in a game with the Wabash high school eleven; Charles E. Jack, former tackle on the Colorado College football team, died of injuries received in 1906; Langdon McCormick, left end on the Cornell University football team, died of injuries received in several years of football playing; Clarence Pierce of Wilmington, Del., hurt in a game on October 28; Charles Brown Kissam, fifteen, a student at the Mackenzie school in Tarrytown; Russell P. Heckel, fifteen, of Pittsburg, died of an injury to his chest; Clarence Pierce, nineteen, of Wilmington, Del., died of injuries received in a line scrimmage; Charles Stroppel, seventeen, of Cincinnati, died at Carthage, O., of injuries received in a line plunge; and Roy Spyhuck, died in Kansas City Hospital of fractured skull received Saturday in the Haskell University game.

Those Seriously Injured.

Heading the list of those most seriously injured this season is Cadet Wilson of the Naval Academy, whose skull was fractured in the game with Villa Nova Seminary. He is believed to be dying. Another serious injury was that of Ernest Stamm of No. 845 Sixth street, Brooklyn. His skull was fractured in a game between the Acorns and the St. Paul football teams of Brooklyn.

The following have collar bones broken: Sellers Underwood, tackle at Alabama Presbyterian College; Thomas Eggers, end at West Virginia (W.) High School; Harold Mosher, tackle at Brooklyn High School; Marshall Crede, guard at Academy of Mount Carmel, Illinois; Stanley Nelson, fullback at Illinois State Normal School; Coach Skinkard of Baltimore (Md.) High School of Commerce; Richard Day, halfback at Elgin (Ill.) High School; Arthur Evans, end at Elgin (Ill.) High School; Frank Seibert, centre at Washington (Mo.) High School; Frederick Hardrick, tackle at Fordham (N. Y.) College; Mitchell Miller, halfback at Pittsburg College; John Roberts, tackle at Mercer (Ga.) College; George Hall, guard at Moorhead (S. D.) High School; Frank Young, quarterback at Lewis (Ill.) High School; Captain Bostwick, halfback at the University of Georgia; Frank Hoffman, quarterback at Iowa City High School; Williams Hass, guard at Delaware (Ohio) High School; Fred Romig, tackle at Quakertown (Pa.) High School; and Roy Griffith, guard at the University of Georgia.

Some Broken Legs.

Those whose legs have been broken in the game are:

Clarence Rust, end at the Elgin, Ill., High School; Coe Minardo, tackle at Beloit (Kan.) High School; Patrick Quinn, halfback on Monitor Independents of Long Island; L. Clifton Hagar, centre at Somerville, Mass., High School; Frank Smith, guard at Brown University; W. F. Baker, halfback at University of Kentucky; George Morrison, halfback at Cumberland College; Wilson Jordan, tackle at Hammond, Ind., High School; Ralph Bowers, halfback at Swarthmore College; R. Becker, quarter back at Mount Carmel, Ill., School; Cecil Cockrell, end at Vanderbilt; Jack Hall, University; John Shick, halfback at West Branch, Mich., High School.

Eleven players have had ribs broken. They are James Cummins, end at South-ern Manual (Pa.) High School; William Johnson, end at Thiel (Pa.) College; Howard Shankweiler, end at Scotch Hill (Pa.) School; Thomas McDonough, end at Connecticut Agricultural College; Edward Lewis, fullback at Fountain Hill (Pa.) High School; James Fickering, fullback at University of Minnesota; Carl Anderson, fullback at Washington and Jefferson University; Cotton Berndt, halfback at University of Indiana; Clem Crowley, end at Denver (Col.) University; Harold Frith halfback at Central Pennsylvania High School, and Michael Kelleher, tackle at Fordham College.

Assistant Coach Clark Schwenke of the Washington and Jefferson College football team was kicked in the head and body in a practice game October 30, and is in a serious condition at Washington, Pa.

President Lowell's Views.

Deeply regretted as is the death of Cadet Byrne, the fatality will not affect the Harvard schedule for the Crimson team's remaining games. President Lowell said:

"It is a most unfortunate happening, a blemish on the game. My heartfelt sympathy goes out to the parents of the young man. About the future of football at Harvard, that is for the Athletic Committee to decide."

President Emeritus Eliot, who has always been an avowed enemy of football, would not be interviewed.

Coach Foster said:

"It is one of the fortunes of the game. It is indeed regrettable."

Coach Wray of the crew said:

"I think the death of Byrne, and also the mortal injury of Wilson will prove a hard blow to football. In my mind it shows conclusively that the new style of football has not eliminated the danger of the game. It will have to be greater modified to survive."

Coach William Quinn of the track team said:

"I look for football to be abolished in a very few years, and I think these casualties spell the beginning of the end. Now football has proven as dangerous to life and limb as the old."

Judging by telegraphed interviews with the heads of other colleges received today, the future of football does not seem to be threatened by the West Point tragedy.

Professor Howard McGhonahan, secretary of the Faculty Committee on Outing Sports at Princeton, said:

"We do not think that this will have any effect upon Princeton's position in football.

"In my opinion, canoeing and rowing are more dangerous than football," said Professor George W. Patterson of the University of Michigan. Professor Patterson is chairman of the Board of Control of Athletics at the university.

"In the twenty years that I have been watching football, at Ann Arbor, there has never been a death caused by a football game. But we have canoeing fatalities every year."

Professor Patterson expressed the opinion that football would not be eliminated from University of Michigan sports, but admitted the recent gridiron deaths might result in some colleges changing the rules, with a view to reducing the danger.

GAME MAY GET A DEATH BLOW AT MILITARY SCHOOL

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 1.—The fate of football at the Military Academy will be decided before the death of Cadet Byrne of Buffalo makes it possible to-day that the sport will be given a death blow as far as the academy is concerned, when the athletic council takes up the question Wednesday.

The abandonment of the games already scheduled with Navy and Yale will not be ready been decided on, the order of Colonel Scott, superintendent of the academy, cancelling the program. There is a strong sentiment in favor of the game, however, and Colonel Scott may uphold this.

Byrne's plucky fight for life, which he continued until his heart stopped, after his skull had been broken and his breathing stopped except for artificial respiration, was widely discussed to-day. His father, Colonel John A. Byrne, former chief of the Buffalo police, now head of the United States Express company's detective force, and the Academy officials to-day completed funeral arrangements. Mrs. Byrne, the mother, is said to be in a state of collapse.

Escorted by cadets and officers, the body of the dead athlete was to-day taken to the Catholic chapel in the Academy and at the post. There it lay in state. The funeral services will be held tomorrow at 10 o'clock. The funeral will be held with full military honors, and after lying in state in the Cadet Point cemetery. A large number of cadets will fire the last salute over the grave when it is lowered.

Monsignor C. G. O'Keefe, in charge of the Catholic chapels in this vicinity, will officiate.

So me Easy Money Before the Battle

BASEBALL NEWS AND NOTES

The annual meeting of the New York State League will be held in Elmira, N. Y., on Nov. 15, 16 and 17.

Dr. Cobb says that the Washington nine could beat any team in the world.

And now it is Redbuch who is to become a star pitcher in the New York league.

Reports from Chicago have it that Kling will not go to the Giants. Chubby Charley Murphy says he would rather leave baseball for all time than hit him go to New York.

Why not call off the series, considerately, though, might look better to the club president that a game should not be played?

Morphy, too, has a habit of saying things that he doesn't mean. He thinks this is part of the duties of a manager of a club.

Joe Cantillon still insists that he detected the "fix" in the world's series. Joe is very confusing, so his team says so for one of the race.

Although the national commission insists the club owners' meeting will not be held in Chicago, yesterday that Barney Dreyfuss has agreed to have it there. Dreyfuss is the only one who has the money and he pays for it. Of course, when will have to pay for each man, a mighty sweet sum for a mighty poor meeting.

The old cat has leaked out, no, she it does every season. It is that Fred Clarke is going to retire from the game at the end of 1910. Mr. Clarke has reached the height of his ambition as a baseball player and manager. He has made baseball history, he leader of the Pirates has been in the game a long time and would like to get out, but he has got to stay in the game or he is getting torn out in left field for the Rogers Hornsby.

Krayloski has been comparing the abilities of the Detroit and Cleveland third basemen. He can get away from the heaten path and compared their batting. He is said that Bill Bradley has Jimmy Austin's beat. Bradley batted .239 and Austin's mark. Mullin batted .239 and Sam Crawford the same. Crawford batted .323 and Mullin's average in the $10,000 stipend that Wagner receives, Mullin batted .323 and Crawford batted .239. Just a difference between $13,000 and $27,000.

The steadiest pitcher of them all was Matthewson, who gave but one base on balls in all games and never hit a man all season. Passmore, with 38, Mullin with 37, Donovan with 36, Summers with 34, Mayer got the largest number of bases on balls this season 102. Bender struck out 202 men in all games and Cicotte gained 201 and in 32 games getting the medal both for the total number and the average per game. Harry McIntire was the most dangerous pitcher, hitting 29 victims during the campaign.

How they do slide when once they get started! They are booming Charley Hemphill, outfielder of the White Sox max be traded before the next season starts.

John Bell Williams, the outfielder signed by Manager Mullane of the New Yorks, is a full blooded Oneida Indian and lives in a small settlement in Wisconsin. He played with Marion in the Ohio State League during the past season.

Word comes from Milwaukee that "Odd Hose" Hostetter, the Brewer catcher, who was hurt early in this season, is gaining ground now and that there is every indication in his appearance again next spring. Hostetter's injury was a severe blow to Milwaukee, and the loss of a chat of his hadn't been hurt McClellan's crew might have pushed the Sox.

Ball players who will winter in New York are looking forward to a delightful Billiard tourney, which will be arranged next month at McGraw's headquarters. Interest in the game is a big one, and there is sure to be a large entry list at the tournament. Manager Mack of the Athletics will be the tourney will be Hal Chase, who is simply a wizard at the game. Hal is a New Yorker and will be a strong factor.

Pitcher Guy Fred Cole has received in the big battles will come in more handy, but it will be up with the Powell-Pappalau bout.

Also Adams, who is best breaking into the game. Clarke is a Billiard player, while "Farm" at Winfield, Kas., is really a cue shark. Hal Chase is a wizard at the game, and Fred's brother, Ray, is a fine player. Ray has been in the game for some of his position at Pittsburg would look pretty good to Fred Clarke's friends.

Louisville fans took a rather unusual interest in the Pittsburg outfield in the world's series. It was a Louisville man who got Fred Clarke, Dots Leach and Hans Wagner became prominent players when they left Louisville. Leach was a star in the days of the old Louisville team and helped to win the pennant for Louisville last year and helped to win the pennant for Louisville last year and helped to win the pennant for Louisville last year

MATTY BALDWIN IN FEATURE BOUT AT NATIONAL A. C.

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

IMPORTANT PREP FOOTBALL GAMES ON CARD THIS WEEK

JEFF BEGINS GYM TRAINING FOR BIG BOUT

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Jim Jeffries tried to fancy himself trotting the blue waters off the Catalina Islands, in California, yesterday. Togged in a big chap pot and an old sailor hat and shirt and went down to Dan MacGinnis's ranch at Port Washington, Long Island. In the morning he tramped through the fields with MacGinnis and Bob Vernon and in the afternoon all hands went fishing. Jim has not been as happy since he left home to put in the day getting the benefit of the outing. This morning Jeff comes back and takes up his gym work at Cooper's.

Sam Berger had this to say yesterday about Jimmy Coffroth's fear that Jack Gleason and Berger would try to run away with the Jeffries-Johnson attraction:

"Every man will get an even break in the matter of bidding or securing this fight. But Jim is wrong if he thinks Gleason and I will get together in the matter. I will have all I can attend to when I look after Jeff's interests. I like both men and I couldn't switch Jeff to Gleason if I wanted to. If Johnson found that out he'd make an awful row of it.

"Gleason has secured a license to hold the fight in Alameda County, thirty minutes from San Francisco, and intends to build the largest arena in the world, they tell me. I have nothing whatever to do with it, however.

"Gleason's club, I understand, is to be called the Ocean View Athletic Club, and is to situated at Ocean View, in Alameda County, across the bay from San Francisco. Jeff, by the way, will stay in New York until all the bids are in."

Jack Johnson left on the Twentieth Century limited for Chicago yesterday morning to appear in court. He has been cited to appear in the suit brought by Yank Kenny to recover an amount alleged to be due him for working with Johnson. The Texas giant says he will display his receipts for the money in question and return to New York.

* * *

Lew Powell may be the next lightweight champion of the world. James Coffroth, knowing the great improvement in Powell's work, went along Broadway Friday night betting right and left that Powell would defeat Johnny Frayne. He was willing to bet that Lew would win Frayne in ten rounds, and was not a bit surprised when he learned that the police had to jump in to save Johnny in the fourth round.

"Powell is a great little man," said Coffroth last night. "He is clever and has a stiff punch. I think that he is the equal of Nelson in twenty rounds. Of course, I won't say that he can get Nelson over the marathon, or 'Thoratou route,' as we call the long-distance fighters over here. Nelson is king there, but he must go some to beat me. I honestly think that if he goes down it will be Powell who accomplishes his defeat."

IT'S THE STAGE NOW FOR JEFF AND JACK BEFORE FIGHTING

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Now that they are the best boosted fighters in the world, Jeffries and Johnson will return to the stage. Each fighter can make such a heap of coin on the stage that either gets cold feet he won't feel the loss of the $5,000 put up as a forfeit to fight.

The referee question also will be moved picture clauses are points on which a split can be made if the forfeit saved.

It seems a clinch, though, that Jeffries wants to fight. His offer to bet $20,000 and put in many times that amount if Johnson certainly did talk about a $20,000 bet, and without a doubt the big black side balked when asked to make good.

* * *

Sam Langford still keeps after Johnson. But the champion evidently recommends him right now, he says.

Langford Johnson would put up a dandy fight, but its questionable if they would draw much money.

James Coffroth, Esq., surely is IT. His boss work could be seen in the conditions of the articles for the big fight. That forty-five round clause practically gives him the battle.

* * *

Paris must agree with Joe Jeannette, for the cable says that he fought like a champion when beating Al Kubiak there. Kubiak had twenty pounds on Jeannette, but lasted less than ten rounds. He was induced to go to Paris by Charley Harvey, who told him he would have a snap with the colored man. As Kubiak is to return at once Harvey is going to buy a gun.

Leach Cross continued his honeymoon after the fight with Stone in Baltimore. With his wife he went to Washington for a trip. If Taft will be sorry he missed the New Yorker.

Brother Sam Wallach says Cross put up a very poor fight with Stone. He blames Stone's holding for spoiling the contest.

Promoter Herford threatened several times to have Cross and Stone thrown out of the ring unless they get busy, so poor was the go.

* * *

Johnny Frayne has paid the price for having a "good time." Had he stuck to business instead of going the pace he never would have been knocked out in eight rounds by Powell.

TEBEAU MAY LOSE LEASE

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 1.—It is not likely that the magnates of the American Association will get together to talk over matters for next season and to wind up the affairs of 1909 until the latter part of December, as none of the owners has requested that President Joe O'Brien call a meeting. This would indicate that everything is lovely on the home front and that the association will go along at the same speed and in the same path next season.

Reports from Kansas City are to the effect that George Tebeau stands a good chance of losing his lease on the present association baseball grounds in that city. It is understood that Tebeau had failed with the lease to purchase the property for improvements in the neighborhood of $65,000, and that he had been offered as high as $70,000 for the park. Should he refuse to lease now it would be a heavy loss to him, for it would be just like dropping that $75,000 in cold cash.

The American Association is thinking seriously of adopting the rule which is in vogue in the major leagues in regard to having the visiting ball players dress and undress in the game at home. This would give the home club to furnish a dressing room for the purpose.

SIRE FROM START.

Commodore Ledyard, the oldest son of Admiral Dewey (2:04¾) and that was taken to Prince Edward Island some years ago, is the leading sire of new performers in the Providences this year, having three standard performers to his credit. As his oldest crop of foals are but four-year-olds he has proven himself a sire from the start.

STRAIGHT DOPE
FOR SPORT FANS

THERE WILL BE BOXING GALORE of course denouncing boxing. It's football, though—the college sport—so it's all right.

Straight Dope, Boston American:
Please put this in your column for the benefit of cross-country running:
The first cross-country run which will be held annually by the Somerset Club, will be on Contestants ordering must be in shape to start at 2 o'clock sharp, eighteen and five in the boundary of Germantown. Delaman and ten-eighths miles to Penn Valley, thence to Penn Wynne, thence to Edward Johnson, No. 7 Penn Avenue.
Prizes will be given, the first a beautiful cup. Trusting you in advance, I remain, the whole Somerset Club of Germantown.

HERE IS A YOUNGSTER WHO IS there strong with the salve. I commenced to feel quite cheesy over his compliment until I got to the reason for it; but I'll print the reason:

Straight Dope, Boston American:
Dear Sir:
I have handled a number of fast men for the past year, but I ask a favor from you. I am manager of Harry Barry, the lightweight pugilist, and have just got him a match with Jack Burke, with fight at Cambridge on the State, young Bosox of Cambridge preferred. Hoping to see this in your columns, I remain, Yours truly,
H. C. DONOVAN.
Cambridge, Mass.

The "coming champion Barry" is an unknown quantity to me as is also his manager, H. B. Doherty, but messenger boys, especially fighting ones, are usually all right when you get to know them. Sometimes a little slow, but probably Dave will forget this when he gets in the ring.

Straight Dope, Boston American:
I noticed a piece in your column last Wednesday regarding the Furbush-Ott bout.
Would like to say in answer to their claiming the 113-pound championship that the Romar A. C. have done their best to arrange a match between Ott, from the old Fenway Preps, who went to battle beaten by a 4 to 2 decision, and Furbush, who is a 113-pounder, and I desire to say that I am willing to let Furbush go in with Ott while for Delmont to meet him again, and will bet on the result. O'Brien is very popular here, and we all wish to see him and Delmont meet again.
Hoping you will kindly insert a notice of this in your paper and oblige, I remain, yours truly,
R. O. JAMES,
Manager, Romar A. C.

EDW. O'DONNELL, WESTERLY, R. I.—There are several large hotels in Florida which gives ball players jobs during the Winter time, so I am afraid I can't help you out on the addresses.

Straight Dope, Boston American:
Am I one the fight at Lawrence the other night between Al Kubiak and Frankie Neil and I think the decision unfair, as I figured Neil the clever boxer and Kubiak the fighter. I am sure the Chelsea crowd are a little sorry while for Delmont to meet him again, and will bet on the result. O'Brien is very popular here, and we all wish to see him and Delmont meet again.
Hoping you will kindly insert a notice of this in your paper and oblige, I remain, yours truly,
Chelsea patrons of the game. I will close.
CHELSEA.

O'Brien is a good boy, but the consensus of opinion of those close to the bout is that Delmont earned the decision. However, I would like to see them matched again and I understand that Kubiak is confused of the National Club, of South Boston, staging the bout in the near future.

Straight Dope, Boston American:
Your column is fine and I detest it every night. What has happened to Mutt Dooley? He is supplied with Kubiak, Kennedy and Langford and Klondike Kid. Klondike is a good fighter, but he is not in the class with Langford or Kubiak. Say, old sport, what makes you so sore on Jeff? Why, he is the greatest fighter a warrior a square deal. Do you? Think it over.
Klondike is a tough negro and may last through the twelve rounds, but it looks to me like a 100 to 1 shot that Langford will win. Ten miles is about the distance. I'm a little soured on Jeff since he blossomed out as the star stalker of the country, but at that I hope he'll knock Johnson's block off, if they ever do meet. There's a lot that may happen in the next eight months to keep them apart.

HERE'S A CHANCE FOR SOMEONE to frame up a race, as Donato, the Sicilian runner, is ready to get down to business at any time and has money to bet on himself against any man in New England.
Straight Dope, Boston American:
If your goody friend Mr. Donato is serious in his challenge to run any man in New England for $500 a side, why not get him a match and set distance from one to twenty miles, his preference? His record I do not know, but we have a dozen men in the club who could beat him.
Joseph is too good to train up. Come, Joseph, be a sport.
Yours,
WATERS.
South Dec. A. A.

BIKE RECORD FOR CLARKE

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—A new record was made at the closing cycle meet of the Vallaborg, N. J., season, when Jack Clarke won the twenty-five-mile open race in 56 minutes 21 seconds, breaking the old record of 57 minutes 26 3-5 seconds. Frank L. Kramer, Joe Fogler and W. S. Penn did not start in the twenty-five-mile events, Clarke only professional race of the afternoon.

Root won the five-mile prize and stopped in the mile, Penn being the leader, reduced in the ninth, when Anderson, Halstead, Jones and Williams tumbled in a mixup that followed a sprint by Moran. Moran led at the six miles, and Dodach defeated West for the fifteen-mile prize. Fred Wam was leading at seven miles, Clarke led at the bell, followed by Lawson and John Bedell. The latter passed Clarke Lawson in the last turn, but was not fast enough. Clarke won from Lawson by a length.

You see the AMERICAN everywhere—in the homes, clubs, restaurants, hotels, cars and boats.

NO GAME FOR PENN WITH HARVARD

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—The University of Pennsylvania's basketball schedule, just announced, includes five games with all the big colleges, except Harvard. The season will run from December 1 until March 5. Three games each will be played with Yale, Columbia, Princeton and Cornell. The prospects for a strong team are bright.

WILL RACE IN 1910.

F. G. Walker of Rumford Falls, Me., will race his stallion, Achilleas, by Achille, 2:18¾, out of Valence, 2:12¾, next year. He is one of the handsomest young horses in New England, having been almost invariably a blue-ribbon winner where shown.

CONGRESSMEN AT RINGSIDE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—Three brisk bouts were pulled off at the West Side A. C. arena in Jefferson Parish, with several of the congressional party, including Speaker Cannon, present. George Kitson of Brooklyn and Young Fitzgerald of Milwaukee provided the feature of the programme, Billy Papke being referee. They went fifteen rounds, and it was declared a draw.

Joe Robinson of Chicago, sparring partner of Papke, knocked out Abe Hollander, newship champion of New London, Ct., in nine rounds.

The preliminary was between Fallon and Dixon, two good little boxers from the Crescent City. It was declared a draw in eight rounds.

The SUNDAY AMERICAN is the Seventh Day Wonder of New England.

WANTS TO FIGHT ANY OF THE BIG 'UNS

Willing to meet any of the local stars, including Jack or Mike "Twin" Sullivan, Jimmy Gardner and Bill McKinnon, Bill Hurley of Glens Falls, N. Y., arrived in town yesterday and hurled a defy at the local boxers. Hurley in the past year has made an excellent record for himself having met and held his own with Willie Davis in a six-round bout. Besides that he has defeated Joe Walcott, Harry Mansfield, Charley Hiltz, Tony Caputo and Mike Donovan. Hurley appears to be in the pink of condition and has the appearance of a second Papke.

WON MANY RACES.

Jack Leonard, the well known local trainer, has been training a public stable at Fredericton, N. B., this year, with excellent success.

Mutt Is After a Winner Today

The old sport refuses to quit till he lands a good one and is getting in steep with forty hard earned seeds on a steed that shows class and hopes to change his luck.

ELIS LEAD COLLEGES SCORING

Yale has proved to be the biggest scoring team this year, with Penn in second class. Dartmouth has a few points on Harvard in total of points scored, but in the records of the big college teams:

YALE.		PENNSYLVANIA.
11 Wesleyan	0	17 Villanova	0
15 Syracuse	0	22 Union	0
12 Holy Cross	0	18 Dickinson	0
28 Springfield T. S.	0	12 W. Virginia	0
17 West Point	0	6 Williams	0
38 Colgate	0	5 Penn State	0
34 Amherst	0	0 Cornell	0
191	0	117	0
HARVARD.		DARTMOUTH.
11 Bates	0	22 Mass. State	0
12 Bowdoin	0	6 Fremont	0
6 Holy Cross	0	15 Bowdoin	0
6 Maine	0	6 Holy Cross	0
12 Williams	0	0 Williams	0
9 West Point	0	12 Holy Cross	0
72	0	79	0
CORNELL.		WILLIAMS.
10 Rensselaer P. I.	3	18 Rensselaer P. I.	0
16 Oberlin	0	6 Harvard	0
6 Pittsburg	0	6 Dartmouth	0
15 Vermont	0	53 Mass. State	0
9 Williams	0	0 Cornell	0
57	21	83	0
PRINCETON.		BROWN.
47 Rutgers	12	6 R. I. State	0
12 Villanova	0	0 Yale	0
3 Fordham	0	12 Bates	0
5 Virginia P. I.	0	0 Holy Cross	0
29 Swarthmore	0	5 Pennsylvania	0
6 Lafayette	0	5 Harvard	0
5 Annapolis	0	12 Mass. State	0
95	27	55	0
WEST POINT.		ANNAPOLIS.
23 Tufts	0	16 St. John's	0
17 Yale	0	12 Fordham	0
18 Yale	0	0 Villanova	0
9 Lehigh	0	0 Virginia	0
9 Harvard	0	0 Princeton	0
76	32	37	0

GREAT BOXING AT NATIONAL A. C. TO-NIGHT

BOXING BOUTS ON CARD THIS WEEK

MONDAY.
Willie Riley vs. Matty Baldwin, Eddie Sheridan vs. Young Peter Jackson, Al Rothwell vs. Augie McDougall and Tommy Burns vs. Tom Foley, National A. C., South Boston; Rebbob Walcott vs. Young Williams, Crescent A. A., Lynn; Young Duffy vs. Tiger Taylor vs. Carney, Y. M. C. A., Salem, Tim Sullivan vs. Andrew Morris, Apollo A. C., Salem; Mike Glover vs. Tommy O'Keefe, Unk Russell, Athletic A. A., Lynn; Baker Bennett vs. Kid Beebe and Fred Corbett vs. Sammy Smith, Pythians.

TUESDAY.
Sam Langford vs. Klondyke, Mike Malia vs. Young Sandy, Crescent A. A., Lynn; Al Limerick and Dummy West vs. unknowns, Armory A. A.; Young Tabbs vs. Howard Morris, Boston Harbor; Mick Young Kid Brood vs. Young Peloton, Tuxedo A. C.

WEDNESDAY.
B. A. A. amateur tournament (trial bouts), Fred Sweeney vs. Maurice Lemoine and Harry Wentz vs. Baker Bennett, Fred Peck vs. Miller vs. Eddie Lang, Philadelphia.

THURSDAY.
Young Britt vs. Young Nelson, Baltimore.

FRIDAY.
Austin Rice vs. Harry Ford, New Haven; Al Harry Stone vs. Joe Storey, Savannah.

SATURDAY.
B. A. A. tournament (final bouts), Johnny Wallace vs. Young Ertz, Philadelphia.

With one of the best boxing cards ever put together, the National A. C. opens for its members to-night for the Winter season, and the directors, who have the control of the club, are going to put on good shows with well-matched talent, will flock to the Dorchester avenue clubhouse on this auspicious occasion.

To begin with there is Matty Baldwin opposed to Willie Riley. There has always been a lot of discussion whether the South Boston boy or the Charlestown lightweight was the better, and that little trouble will no all settled this evening. Baldwin has had a little rest from ring-going, but Riley is one of the gamest lightweights who ever stepped in the ring.

When the boys get mixing it up the two factions from opposite sections of the city will make things howl in support of their champion.

The State street members will back Eddie Sheridan, the Roxbury lad, to the limit against Johnny Burdick of New York, in spite of the latter's greater age in the game. Eddie tells down in the financial district when he isn't exercising with some opponent, and is one of the rugged sport in his only diversion.

Those who followed the fistic sport know what to expect when Tommy Foley and Tommy Burns get into the ring for six rounds. Such lively steppers are not often found, and the ability to keep the action hot makes them popular.

Jimmy Ridlon, the amateur champion, turns professional to meet Angus McDougall, and this bout promises well be one of real class.

It's a great all-round scrap bill and will furnish plenty of entertainment for the lovers of the ludicrous.

SANDOW HERE FOR WILLOUGHBY BOUT

Young Sandow, the Chicago middleweight wrestler, who put up such a grand struggle at the national games against Walter Willoughby, the present holder of the middleweight title, is in Boston and is now in the best form with his old antagonist, Willoughby, at the Columbia Wednesday night. The latter seems to have gained considerable experience since his last visit to Boston, and while he can not afford to hold his own against the Cleveland man, he will put up a fast bout. This will be one of the best of the season, and looks to be the star attraction. Willoughby is expected to reach Boston some time this evening and will finish his training at the Armory A. A.

WANT FENCING REVIVED.

An attempt is being made by Harvard students to revive the fencing team which disbanded last year. T. E. Hunt, a prominent senior, and several others have held meetings to arouse interest.

JACK O'BRIEN TO COLLINS WILL PLAY THIRD

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—Jack O'Brien, in coming back to the limelight to the Phillies as third baseman, has evidence baseball team. will probably take place at is well known to Philadelphians as a member of Bert Kennedy's professional football team which has played at Philadelphia's Baker Park a few seasons ago. In his next flight, A club about twenty miles from Seattle, Wash., has offered O'Brien a match, and the promoters of the proposed event believe that the date of the contest was arranged for the latter part of November, and they believe that this arrangement will satisfy the pugilist.

The match will be for twenty rounds. O'Brien has been offered big inducements to take Dr. Roller on. O'Brien says he has a number of bouts in view for the Eastern Shore, including from the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Roller has lived in the West, where he has secured considerable fame as a professional wrestler, he being one of the severest heavyweights in this country at this game.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 1.—Jimmy Collins in addition to managing the Providence baseball team, will probably play shifted to first, Anderson being sent to the field. Secretary Lavin of the club, who secured Collins's signature, said today that he had had his eye on an especially different pottery when he went to Boston Friday. Meeting Collins there, the two talked over matters and it was brought up, when, to Lavin's surprise, it came out that Collins could make a deal from Minneapolis with comparative ease.

While nothing would be said about the amount offered to Collins, it is believed that he would hardly accept the berth here under $4,000, while the arrangement may have involved a considerably bigger figure.

DURHAM-DUPLEX RAZOR

The sharpest instrument pushed or scraped against anything will not cut half as easily as if drawn lightly across the object. This sliding diagonal stroke—down and across in one motion—is the only correct cutting-stroke. Old-style, open-blade razors have this stroke, but they also cut the face. Hoe-shaped "safeties" do not have it—they scrape and pull the beard.

The Durham-Duplex is the only safety razor that has the correct diagonal stroke, enabling you to shave correctly and with safety. Interchangeable blades make stropping or honing unnecessary.

In handsome leather case, with six double-edge blades, price complete, $5.00. Sold at all the better stores. Extra blades, six for 50c.

NOW ON SALE IN BOSTON AT THE STORES OF

The Jones Bros Drug Stores
Walker-Gordon Dairy Co
Walker-Hinkels Co.
Stiles & Van Orsdel Co.
National Sportsman, Inc.
H. H. White Co.
Houghton & Dutton
Jordan-Marsh Co.
Allen & Lutts
Shepard Norwell Co.

Geo. Wright & Co.
Harvard Co-op. Society
Wonderland Theatre
S. Saunders & Co.
Chandler Cigar Co.
Arthur L. Johnson Co.
David M. Pomeroy
Eastern Drug Co.
B. H. Hunter & Co.
Thomas Weeks

DURHAM DUPLEX RAZOR © 511 FIFTH AVE. NEW YORK

Theatres.

HOLLIS ST. THEATRE
Class, Freiman, Rich & Harris, Lessees & Mgrs.
TWO WEEKS ONLY, BEGINNING
TONIGHT AT 8:15
Matinees Wed. and Sat. at 2:15.
"America's Foremost Comedienne."—New York World, Feb. 23, '09.
GRACE GEORGE
(DIRECTOR OF WM. A. BRADY)
FIRST TIME IN BOSTON
In Thompson Buchanan's Comedy.
"A WOMAN'S WAY"
"The Season's Most Substantial Success."—New York Tribune

TREMONT THEATRE
TONIGHT
Mats. Wed. Sat.
HENRY W. SAVAGE, Offers
THE MUSICAL HIT OF THE YEAR
THE LOVE CURE
By Oliver Herford and Edmund Exeter with
CHARLES J. ROSS
AND
LINA ABARBANELL
And 100 Other Sterling Favorites

BOSTON Mats. Wed. and Sat. 25c. Prices 25c to $1.50
FIFTH WEEK
CONTINUOUS SUCCESS OF THE MUSICAL COMEDY
3 TWINS
CLIFTON CRAWFORD
BESSIE McCOY

HOWARD
Sam T. Jack's giddy bunch of jolly girls in a carnival of fun and song. Big variety bill. Always something doing from 1 till 11. SMOKING ALLOWED

BOWDOIN SQUARE Daily 2 THEATRE and 8
"THE HOUR OF RECKONING."
Including a Moving Picture Display. Last week but one in the house 20c. Next week: "Heart of a Hero."

Theatres.

Evs. 8:00 Mats. 2:00
MAJESTIC
ONLY 16 TIMES
BEGINNING TONIGHT
MATINEE WEDNESDAY
Lew Fields Presents
The Musical Play
The Rose OF Algeria
Music by Victor Herbert
Book by Glen MacDonough
Staged by Ned Wayburn
A Musical Play For All Playgoers
ORIGINAL NEW YORK CAST
A SPLENDID CHORUS.

PARK 7th Week. Evs'gs at 8 Mats. Wed. & Sat.
Sen. LANGDON and "BUD" HAINES
With real Election Returns tomorrow night.
A GENTLEMAN FROM MISSISSIPPI
With Thos. A. WISE and DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS
Seats Selling 2 Weeks in Advance

Castle Sq. Daily at 2 & 8
Opp. Boston Theatre
The John Craig Stock Company in
A PARISIAN ROMANCE
Also Three Special Performances of HAMLET
Tuesday and Thursday Evenings and Friday Matinee.
Prices 15c, 25c, 50c, 75c
Down Town Ticket Office, 15 Winter St.
Next Week—A Bachelor's Honeymoon

COLUMBIA Daily Mat. Sunday
WINE, WOMAN and SONG
Election Returns Tomorrow Night
Willoughby vs. Sandow Wednesday Night

GAIETY Washington St., Near Boylston
FOLLIES OF PARIS AND NEW YORK
Daily at 2:15 and 8 P. M. Tel. Oxford 26.

Theatres.

TODAY AT KEITH'S
First Boston Appearance of
PRINCESS RAJAH
NAT WILLS
CLAYTON WHITE & MARIE STUART
"The" Quartette, Rafferti & Co., Magnan Troupe, Rooney and Bent, Swan and O'Neil, Zora Carmen Trio, Emma Raymond Co.
Evenings 7:30

AMERICAN MUSIC HALL
Mats. 2:15, 25. Reserved Seats 25c & 50c. Eves. 8 & 9. Reserved Seats, Seats, 50c.
CLARICE VANCE
THE SVENGALIS
Music, Mimicry, Mystery.
With Dillon, Bogany Troupe, Anna Blanche Comstock, Emma Krause & Picks, Ed Cheney & Co., And Other Clever Specialties.
SPECIAL—First Time Here. Pictures of HLEHOTT'S SENSATIONAL FLIGHT Across English Channel.

COLONIAL THEATRE
TONIGHT Every Eve. at 8:15.
Mats. Wed. & Sat. at 2:15.
All Boston Enthuses Over Radiant
ELSIE JANIS
In Charles Dillingham's Exquisite Production of George Ade's Newest College Comedy
THE FAIR CO-ED
Music by Gustav Luders

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
Election Returns Tuesday Nights 8:30, 20c, 25c, 50c, 75c. Matinee Wed. & Sat. 25c, 50c.
The SMART SET
50 Colored Musical Entertainers including N. R. DUDLEY
Next Week—Rosinus After Cafe

HUB THEATRE 10c
VAUDEVILLE
Moving Pictures

Theatres.

GLOBE TONIGHT
Mats. Wed. & Sat.
See Your Buttons On Tight When You Go to
THE BLUE MOUSE
By Clyde Fitch
Sensational and Laughing Hit of the Century
ORIGINAL NEW YORK CAST
Mabel Barrison, Harry Conor, Zelda Sears, Hall McAllister, 20 Others
Wed. Mat. Always 25c to $1.00
Evenings & Sat. Mat. 25c to $1.50

PREMIER
BEST BIG SHOW
WASH. ST., COR. BEACH

Amusements.

"1915" BOSTON EXPOSITION
NOW OPEN
Boston's Greatest Educational Exposition Occupying the ENTIRE OLD AND NEW MECCA
HUNDREDS OF ATTRACTIONS!
Wonderful Models of Boston, 875c Art Exhibit at Chicago, Life-Size Good and Bad Tenements, Underground Subway, Panama Canal, Aviation, Electric Railroads, Foreign Italian Performing Marionettes, Band Concerts, Symphony Orchestra, Edna Frances Trio (opens Saturday).
MONDAY NIGHT—BOSTON PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS' DAY. Lecture by Dean Briggs of Simmons College on Recent Developments in Industrial Education for Girls.
TUESDAY NIGHT—R. COLLEGE AND UNIVERSITY DAY. Lecture by President Huntington of Boston University, subject "How the University can Help Young Men to Cheer Business."
Open Daily 10 A.M. to 10 P.M. Sundays 2 to 10 P.M. ADMISSION 25c.
Boston Nov. 1 to 27, 1909 Boston
CHILDREN 15c.

JOY LINE 240 BOSTON NEW YORK
Via Rail and Boat. Daily except Sunday. Ticket Office, 359 Washington St., Boston.

BOSTON AMERICAN'S DOUBLE

Acid Thrower Showed Brutal Side of Love

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

THE young woman who has resolved to marry the man who threw acid in her face because he was jealous of other men may or may not be happy "forever afterward," like the lovers in fairy books. But it is quite certain that she could never be happy if she did not marry him.

He has spoiled her face for other men, and it behooves him to take what is left of it and make such amends as lies in his power while she lives.

The man unquestionably loved the girl in a primitive manner, as the male animal loves for his mate, and is ready to fight and kill to obtain her.

But the male animal does not wound or kill the female single-heartedly or revengefully; he only wounds and slays his rival.

The man who mars a woman for life, because he is jealous, is a little lower than the beast, and it will need a great transformation to make him a many a man, with the affection, courage, faithfulness and patience which are qualities constantly demanded of a husband in every-day life.

Almost any woman save the highly evolved New Woman will be able to understand the girl's attitude toward her savage lover.

There is no happiness, no real happiness, in life for the normal, natural woman, unless she is loved by the man of her choice.

There may be much interest in life, in doing good; much enjoyment in earth's pleasures; much satisfaction in achievement; much hope and even ecstasy, in anticipated spiritual life. There is gratification in having and doing the things which the mind craves. But happiness can only be found in loving and being loved.

Nothing Takes Love's Place

When a woman loves a man, she wants continual proof of his love for her; proof given in the thousand and one unstudied and impulsive ways in which real love speaks.

She can endure poverty, hunger, cold and even shame without a murmur or regret and be happy if he continually shows a desire for her companionship over that of all other women; if his steps lag when they leave her presence, and hasten when they return to her; if his eye lights when it rests upon her face with the unmistakable and unfeignable look of abiding affection.

No amount of worldly wealth, no equipages, diamonds and stately establishments, no public acts of attention, and no show of allegiance can make her happy if the unwritten language of love is not spoken by his heart to hers; that language which love alone can read, or having read, can understand.

Nothing can make a woman unhappy while the man of her heart gives her these silent and eloquent proofs of love.

Nothing can make her happy if they are lacking.

Few men are capable of understanding this peculiarity of the woman they love, loyal and kind men are satisfied and happy if they have the material proofs of a woman's affection, if they have her loyalty, her patience, her obedience to their wishes, her attention to their physical needs, her sympathy in their pride, and her sustaining of their honor, they are satisfied. They do not look for the subtle expressions of love, nor miss them when they are not given.

His Proof of Preference

The man who was scarred for life by a woman who wanted to spoil his attractiveness for others would thank the fate that kept him from making such a woman his wife. He would despise her.

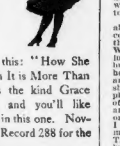
But even while the proof of the man's love came in such a brutal manner, it brought to this unfortunate woman that special element of happiness which alone could make her satisfied with life. It convinced her that she was preferred above all other women in the world by this man, and that his desire for her had shut out every other thought from his heart.

Knowing this to be the fact, she has been able to forgive his brutality, vindictiveness and meanness.

Had he left her beauty unscarred, married her, given her gowns and jewels and dutiful attention, yet shown a preference for the society of other women or neglected her for his club, she could not have extracted this same emotion of happiness out of life which this tragedy has supplied.

All because of her feminine weakness, the intense longing for the proof of preference.

One of Those Songs



That's All Talk

with a title like this: "How She Gets Away With It is More Than I Can See," is the kind Grace Cameron likes, and you'll like Grace Cameron in this one. November Amberol Record 288 for the

Edison Phonograph

Get complete list of November Records from your dealer, or write to National Phonograph Company, 75 Lakeside Avenue, Orange, N. J.

"THE PHILANDERER"---By NELL BRINKLEY

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

His trophied rapier spins out of the Philanderer's hand at the sight of the Woman, who aids Love in paying him off with his own coin

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

OH, SUCH JEALOUSY

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young woman 20 years old, and have been going about much in company with a young man three years my senior. Of late I have seen the man in company with another young woman. He still pays me marked attention and invites me to attend various affairs with him. Knowing that he goes about with another girl, should I accept his invitations?

AN ANXIOUS READER

SINCE you are not engaged to the young man I can hardly see what right you have to insist that he pay no attentions to any other girl. If you care for him, go and win his love. Don't show jealousy, it is quite proper to accept his invitations, in so far as this other girl is concerned. If he is engaged to some other girl, or if he were not treating you with due regard, it would then be different.

WANTS TO MAKE FRIENDS

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young woman twenty-five years old, and work in a large department store. Because of my work I have no chance to become acquainted or make friends. And my evenings are very lonesome at times. I would like to know how I can make friends. I am fond of theatres, dancing and skating, etc. GOLDIE.

A GREAT many girls in the city find it hard to make friends because of the long hours of labor. I would advise that you become active in church affairs, join in the socialities, become a member of the church societies and clubs, and you will find the other young women of the church will invite you to parties and the like, and if you improve your chances you will have no cause to complain of loneliness.

IT ALL DEPENDS

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

While on my vacation this Summer I met a young man who has since corresponded with me. Now, his business calls him to a city not far from my home, yet he does not ask me to meet him nor does he ask to call. Should I invite him, or should I wait for him to ask me to call?

IF YOU were very good friends during the Summer, ask him to call, otherwise it might not be just right. I'm quite sure that if he entertains any deep regard for you he would call without the invitation and at least leave his card.

WILL COME OUT ALL RIGHT

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Kindly advise one that never was really in love until six months ago, in a case like this: I am a travelling man and I trade with women only, and you must know that no matter what the women in or looks like I have to jolly to get the business.

When we became engaged I told her about this, and said when the trade comes to New York and I go out with this one and that one don't feel bad. While on this trip one of the trade in a small town wrote me to the hotel, but I left before it got there. The hotel people sent it back to the office, and as I told her any mail that came she should open, as many of my people address their orders to me instead of the firm. She opened the letter and sent same to me with these words on the bottom: "You go your way and I will go mine. The money you gave me to save I will send to your bank." The letter said: "Mr. S——— if you have nothing better to do come over to-night. Rob is away and I am lonesome. Mrs. R——."

Now, if my girl could see this woman it would be O. K. She is about seventy years old and I am thirty years of age. I have written, but have had no answer. What is my duty? Four weeks more, so you see it is hard. S. R. S.

IT is hard; there is no doubt of that, but I think it will come out all right. Never tell any one to open your mail. Misunderstandings are sure to occur. Write again and tell her the exact facts. She is jealous, that is all. When you get back tell her that she must look upon your customers as customers only and not make both of you unhappy by needless jealousy. I am sure it will turn out all right.

THE scene is a bachelor's hearth. The light is low and warm-colored. The bachelor has plenty. His chimney piece is white and rich and three-cornered, and a flame, tireless and golden, leaps up like gleams of laughter and makes unearthly hobgoblins to dodge and loom and dance upon the walls. The rug is russet, moss under the bachelor's foot.

On his table with the twisted legs, sprawl his comrades—his brown pipe, a little mound of books, flabby and soft from much fingering; his riding whip, a shimmering wine glass with its dregs turned into a single wrathful ruby in the bottom; his soft hat, his ink bottle with the pen chucked into it, and flushed pink in the fire light and thrust into a jug, a graceful white flower that a young girl drew through the knot of his hat in play.

All these things are there every night save the flower, but every night there is some new little guest among the old comrades where the flower leaves flushed for this night. For the girls are always giving him something.

A blue bow, or a glove, or a rug of hair, or a little blue ribbon knot, or only a heart or two!

If you look through the table legs you will see the play. The bachelor is playing a game, and the bachelor is going to pay.

The bachelor maid who rides the same little hobby will pay, too.

The Philanderer's legs are crossed in careless ease, and while he breathes smoke through his mouth and nose like a very Satan, and chuckles like one, he holds forth a thin rapier. He goes through the delicate pantomime of mimic blade-play. And when he tires of smiting at this he counts his rapier—full.

And the hobgoblins on the wall, a-dancing, fly all in terror up to the ceiling, where they lean over to look down at the hearth transfixed and the maids impaled on the toy.

And the Philanderer grins, for this is the night when his blade is almost crowded down to the needle point, and he is getting to be quite old now, a man entirely sure he's proud of himself forty now, and never even a creak in his grand, tough heart.

"I've fences to stick it out, he thinks, until he turns up his toes to the death candle and it flings down them.

But he's got it doped out wrong.

And the hobgoblins come down from their right, they sink down from the ceiling to their places, and dance to watch the end of the play.

Keek well and keep a skinned eye around the twisted table leg, kitten-cat, and we'll see the finish.

The bachelor cools, in safety. He dreams. The fire sinks and the goblins bob up and down. Off his guard and not a soul at the door!

"THUM-m-m-m-m-m-m"

The cymbals and the drum and the viol, all together, come down in a terrorizing clash like a pirate's oath, and quiver out in a long-drawn, dramatic tremolo. The fire leaps into a spotlight and opens a blinding eye on the opened doorway and the climb across the table.

The Philanderer lifts himself out of his chair and leans among his comrades, his eyes looking some like the eyes of some of the transfixed maids on his blade have looked. His trophied rapier spins out of his hand.

He leans and looks. Love sits on the edge of his chair, arms folded, brow heavy with coming events. And in the doorway, her white hands holding his curtains, stands the woman.

Love and to and fro to pay the Philanderer off.

And while you keek at this thrilling little tableau with a thankful soul, a sudden gust of wind makes everybody jump and even the hobgoblins jiggle goes through the silence, cracks for a little minute and silence falls again.

It was the Philanderer's heart.

"Vengeance is mine," saith Love.

NELL BRINKLEY.

THROUGH THE WALL

By CLEVELAND MOFFETT.

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

CHAPTER XI.

The Towers of Notre-Dame.

I was a distressed and sleepless night that Alice passed after the torturing scene of her lover's arrest; she would almost have preferred her haunting dreams to this pitiful reality. What had Lloyd done? Why had this woman come for him? And what would happen now.

Again and again, as weariness brought slumber, the sickening fact stirred her to wakefulness; they had taken Lloyd away to prison charged with an abominable crime. And she loved him, she loved him now more than ever, she was absolutely his, as she never would have been if this trouble had not come.

Ah, there was her only ray of comfort that just at the last she had made him happy, she would never forget his look of gratitude as she cried out her love and her trust in his innocence and—yes, she had kissed him, her Lloyd, before those rough men she had kissed him, and, even in the darkness of her chamber, her cheeks flamed at the thought.

The Beautiful Visitor

Soon after 5 she rose and dressed. This was Sunday, her busiest day. She must be in Notre-Dame for the early masses, and there was a worn place in a chasuble that needed some touches of her needle. Father Anselm had asked her to see to it. And, this duty done, there was a special Sunday sale of candles and rosaries and little red guide books of the church to keep her busy.

Alice was in the midst of this when, shortly before 10, Mother Bonneton approached, coming at the side of a visitor, a lady of striking beauty whose dress and general air proclaimed a lavish purse. In cab horses, clanging with gongs of yonder trolley cars curving from the Pont Neuf past old Charlemagne astride of his great bronze horse. Then, on along the treelined river, on with widening view of towers and domes, until their eyes came on the green spreading hills and the distant heights of St. Cloud.

And straightaway Alice began to point out familiar monuments, the spire of the Saint Chapelle, the Square of the Louvre, the gilded dome of Napoleon's tomb, the crumbling Tour St. Jacques, disfigured now with scaffolding for repairs, and the sorry ruin of the Hotel de Ville reduced on the Montmartre hill.

To all of which the lady listened indifferently; she was plainly thinking of something else, and furtively she was watching the girl.

"Alice," she asked abruptly, "is your name Alice?"

Yes," answered the other in surprise.

The lady hesitated. "I thought that was what the old woman called you." Then looking restlessly over the panorama, "Where is the concierge's?"

Alice started at the word—among all the points in Paris this was the one toward which her thoughts were tending. "The concierge's, the grim prison where her lover was!

"It is there," she replied, struggling with her emotion, "behind that cupola of the Chamber of Commerce. Do you see those two pointed towers? That is it."

"Is it still used as a prison?" continued the visitor with a strange insistence.

"Why yes," stammered the girl, "I think so; that is, the depot is part of the concierge's or just adjoins it."

"What is the depot?" questioned the other, eyeing Alice steadily.

The girl flushed. "Why do you ask me that? Why do you look at me so?"

The lady stepped nearer, and, speaking low: "Because I know who you are, I know why you are thinking about that prison!"

(To Be Continued To-morrow.)

Up-to-the-Minute Jokes

"I shall miss my train," she said petulantly.

"Oh, no you won't," the dressmaker assured her. "You will soon get used to these gowns which haven't any."

* * *

"When I know a friend is on the water wagon I don't urge him to have a drink."

"Neither do I. I invite him to a wine supper. Nothing like being lavish when they're not going to call you."

* * *

"Been abroad, I hear."

"Yep."

"I understand that living is very cheap in Europe. How about it?"

"Can't say. We only hit the high places."

* * *

Bacon—I understand some of your beaus have stopped laying.

Egbert—Two of them have.

Bacon—What's the cause?

Egbert—Automobile.

* * *

"Your husband says he prefers baseball to the theatre," said one woman.

"Yes," answered the other, "and I am anxious to encourage the preference. The theatre tickets cost him to try to sing popular airs when he gets home, but a baseball game gives him all the vocal exercise he can stand."

* * *

"Illigitus says his youngest boy is going to make a diplomat."

"What makes him think so?"

"He asks all kinds of questions, but never understands to answer any."

* * *

"Don' git indignant, wif de man dat refuses to give you credit at de store," said Uncle Eben. "Maybe he'll be de means of savin' you some worry in de future."

* * *

"Do you think that is all her own hair?"

"Yes. I heard her husband say the other day that he didn't owe a penny to anybody in the world."

You see the AMERICAN everywhere—in the homes, clubs, restaurants, hotels, cars and boats.

Buckwheats

The frost is on the pumpkin patch,
The fire is in the stubble,
Vacation's o'er and business here
With all its toil and trouble
And from the city's crowded homes
To farmsteads lone and sunny,
A million wait at breakfast time
For buckwheat cakes and honey.

Away with costly caviar,
And canvasback and salmon
And truffles, only in the reach
Of Midas or of Mammon;
A symphony in brown and gold,
Each morning gets my money;
It is a smoking pyramid
Of buckwheat cakes and honey.

To-Day's Best Story

A MINISTER, frequently called out of the city, had always arranged for someone to stay with his wife and little girl during his absence. Recently, however, he was called away so suddenly that he had no opportunity to provide a guardian.

The wife was very brave during the early evening, but after dark had fallen her courage began to fail. She stayed up with her little girl until there was no excuse for staying longer, and then took her upstairs to bed.

"Now, go to sleep, dearie," she said. "There be afraid. God will protect you."

"Yes, mother," answered the little girl, "that'll be all right to-night, but next time let's make better arrangements."

NONE TO SPARE.

"Have you an ear for music?" asked the society maid.

"No," replied the matter-of-fact young person; "we use one of my ears for telephone communications and the other for a pen rack."

On Giving Up Friends for Acquaintances

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"YOUR mail is unusually large these days, Miss Fairfax," said the editor of the Magazine Page to me the other day. "How do you account for it?"

"It is always large at this time of year," I answered, "and the reason is that all my young friends are back from their vacations."

"What has that to do with it?" was the puzzled answer.

"Most of the girls have met men during their vacations to whom they have become engaged, or with whom they have fallen in love. In many cases the men have promised to write or to call and have not done so. The girls have quarrelled with their sweethearts or have found out that they have been mistaken in them, and the result is an appeal to me. Hence the size of my mail these days."

The editor gazed thoughtfully across the expanse of roofs and seemed fate perplexed at the ways of maids and men.

Old Friends the Best.

The trouble with many girls is that they are too ready to take up with new acquaintances.

It is a great mistake to drop an old friend for a new one, unless you are very sure that you like the new one best.

The man who has been paying steady, serious attention to you for the last year is much more dependable than the casual, good looking stranger who has played at love making during the Summer vacation. But the steady, earnest man is not to be lightly dropped and taken up again.

There are some men who consider their Summer incomplete without the zest of half a dozen flirtations.

They make love to every pretty girl they meet and promise to write and to call as soon as they get back to town.

But they never do so, for they forget all about these trifling Summer affairs. That they may have given some girl a sore heartache troubles them not one whit. It is affairs of that sort that make my mail so large at this time of year.

Avoid Quarreling.

I do not want to tell my girls not to believe what men say, for that would be disloyal to the many good men who are absolutely honorable in their attitude toward all women.

But I do tell you to try and use judgment in your choice of men friends.

When a man is over-glib of tongue and ready with all sorts of smooth promises, stop and consider if his words ring true.

If you paid more attention to that there would be fewer heartaches at the end of the season.

Quarreling with the man you love is sorry work, and very often the quarrel is over some trifle that is not worth the thinking about twice.

My advice is always be ready to take the first step toward reconciliation. It is better to hurt your pride for a moment than your heart for a lifetime.

Write to me if your trouble grows too heavy for your little shoulders. Perhaps I can help you out, but try to get on without quarreling, life is too short for that unnecessary misery.

Autumn's Menace

By WILLIAM SHARP

AMBER and yellow and russet, gold and and red,
The autumnal leaves dream they are Summer flowers;
Day after day the windless sunny hours
With feet of flame pass softly overhead.

Day after day ever each perishing leaf
The windless hours pass with slow-fading flame;
No song is heard where floods of music came;
Long garnered on the fields the final sheaf.

One day a wild and ravishing wind will rise,
One day a paralyzing frost will come,
And all this glory be taken unawares.

Dark branches then will lean against the skies,
Bear leaves will drift the forest pathways bare
And wold and woodland lie, austere and bare.

If you follow the advice of the greatest food experts, you'll eat more

Quaker Oats

The greatest strength builder.

Regular size package 10 cents.

GOLD DUST is a powdered soap of magic power

Soap is often made from cheap refuse animal fats.

But don't worry.

GOLD DUST washing powder is a clean, wholesome, vegetable oil soap, blended with carbonate of soda, and ground to a fine powder.

Not a trace of animal fat in it.

Our workmen at the factory never use gloves, but handle GOLD DUST, year after year, with bare hands, thus proving it harmless to skin or fabric.

"Let the GOLD DUST Twins do your work"

Made by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY
Makers of FAIRY SOAP, the oval cake.

Priscilla Stackpole of Vincent Club Soon to Marry Robert Grant, Jr.

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

The latest of Cupid's victims from the Vincent Club ranks is pretty Priscilla Stackpole, whose engagement to the well-known young clubman, Robert Grant, Jr., has just been announced. It was rumored long before Mr. Grant, set sail for Europe and the many friends of both were gratified when shortly after his return on the Saxonia Miss Priscilla's name was whispered about as the few intimates that it "was really an."

Miss Stackpole, who is one of the most interesting girls of the younger set, is a tall, slender brunette, with much vivacity and charm of manner. She is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stackpole of Beacon street and Nahant. Her sisters are Mrs. J. Hariston Parker and Miss Margaret Stackpole, who was a bud of two winters ago, and Grace Stackpole, one of the leading buds of last Winter. The only brother is William Stackpole, who for the past several years has made his home in New York.

Mr. Grant, who is a Harvard '00 man, is the oldest son of Judge and Mrs. Robert Grant of Bay State road. The wedding, it is said, will be a brilliant church affair in the early New Year.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Pettigrew of Jamaica Plain have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Florence, to George Wright Hinckley of New York, formerly of Boston.

* * *

Another betrothal of interest is that announced by Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Dean of Weston of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Howard Dean, and Langdon Pearse of Chicago. Mr. Pearse formerly resided in Boston. He is a Harvard '99 man and M. I. T. '01.

* * *

Mrs. Hibbard Heyward of New York is being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Choate at their country place, Naumkeag, in the Berkshires.

* * *

Mrs. George Westinghouse, Jr., who has been visiting in Boston recently, is entertaining her sister, Miss Sylvia Brockbank of London at the Westinghouse country place in Lenox.

* * *

Mrs. Phillip Snowden of London is due in New York next Thursday, and though she is coming to Boston at an early date, the time of her arrival here is not known as yet.

* * *

The John D. Longs of Hingham are to have the daughter of the house, Dr. Margaret Long, of Paris, with them for a visit through the Thanksgiving holidays.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Boardman are not to establish a town residence here this season as they have decided to spend the Winter at Beverly Farms.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Mellen have returned to Council Hill in Stockbridge after spending some time in New York. They will probably spend the remainder of the Autumn in the Berkshires.

* * *

Richard C. Dixey and Miss Rosamond Dixey of Tanglewood, Stockbridge, were in Tuxedo Park over Sunday and were entertained by friends.

* * *

Captain and Mrs. John S. Barnes have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kelloog at Cold Brook, their country home in the Berkshires.

* * *

Senator and Mrs. George Peabody Wetmore and family, who have been spending the greater part of the Autumn in Newport, are going to Hot Springs, Va., shortly for the remainder of the Autumn. They are going down for the Fall hunting.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Whitwell have recently left their country place in Milton and have opened their town house on Marlboro street for the Winter. Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Whitwell, will soon start for the Pacific coast. They are to spend the Winter in California.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Eggleston of this city are among the Bostonians who have gone to Hot Springs, Virginia, within the last few days. They will probably spend the remainder of the Autumn with the visiting contingent at that resort.

* * *

Miss Edith Wetmore, daughter of Senator and Mrs. George Peabody Wetmore, is visiting her aunt, Miss Alice Rotch, at her home on Webster street, in Newport, this week.

* * *

Nathan Matthews and family have taken apartments at one of the Back Bay hotels for part of the Autumn. They will open their town house on Beacon street a little later in the season.

E. Boyal Tyler of this city, who has been visiting in New York during the week, is registered at the Belmont Hotel at present.

* * *

Mrs. Ida Mulle besides giving a character sketch will appear as the Marchioness in the play, "Dickens Remonstrants" written by the club's president, Mrs. Allen Peirce, at the entertainment given by the Thursday Morning Fortnightly club at the Franklin Square House to-morrow evening for the benefit of the Mt. Hope home.

Mrs. Florence McAuliffe appears as Miss Squeers, Mrs. Emma Haliburton, as Betsey Trotwood, and Miss Ethel Potter as Mrs. Bumble. All of these are to be costumed as the old Cruikshank plates represent the characters. Mrs. George A. Hibbard as Rose Dartle will wear a riding habit.

The entertainment also includes musical numbers by Mrs. Charles Allen Cantrell, Edwin L. Gardner and Mrs. Cora Gooch Brooks.

* * *

The wedding of Mrs. Thomas C. Wales (Edith White) and Chester Allen Howes takes place to-day at the home of the bride on Commonwealth avenue.

* * *

Miss Edith Waterman marries Ralph S. Richmond, Harvard, '07, to-day at the home of her mother, Mrs. William H. Waterman, Brook street, Providence. Mr. Richmond is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua B. Richmond of Beacon street.

* * *

Mrs. Mary Alden Ward gives "Current Events" at the meeting of the New England Women's Clubs in Chauncey Hall building to-day.

* * *

The business meeting of the New England Woman's Press Association will be held at the Vendome Wednesday afternoon. The annual breakfast will take place November 17.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Norman P. Hicks of Brooklyn have announced the engagement of their daughter, Helen Hicks, to Alexander Graham, formerly of Somerville, now of New York. Graham was active in high school athletics during 1899-1900-1901, being captain of the 1901 football team.

* * *

Cards are out from Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson Smith for the marriage reception of their daughter, Eleanor Sargent Smith, and Arthur Eldridge Goddard, Thursday, November 11, at No. 419 Marlboro street.

* * *

There will be a large gathering tomorrow at the Tuileries, where the Chromatic Club will open its season with a concert and luncheon. Amy Fay Sherwood and the Appleton Quartet are to sing, with Edith Dalton at the piano. Mrs. Frederic L. Milliken of Brush Hill, Milton, is the president.

* * *

Miss Eleanor Hall of New York, who has completed the colleges hereabouts, has returned to town for a few days, and is the guest of Mrs. Fred Grant Potter.

* * *

North Bridge Chapter, D. R., of Salem, will hold a regular meeting next Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Carlton of No. 16 North street. It is expected that Rev. Peter Goldsmith will give a paper entitled "The Reign of the New England Parson."

NORA IASIGI, JUST RETURNED FROM VIRGINIA VISIT

IN REGARD TO FEET.

ANTHROPOLOGISTS assert that the Frenchman's foot is long, narrow and well proportioned. The Scotsman's foot, according to these authorities, is high and thick, strong, muscular and capable of hard work. The Russians foot possesses one peculiarity, the toes being generally webbed to the first joint. The Tartar's foot is short and heavy, the foot of a certain type of savage, and the toes are the same length. The Spaniard's foot is generally small, but finely carved. The Englishman's foot is is most cases short and rather fleshy, and not as a rule as strong, proportionately, as it should be.—London Globe.

Two More New Premiums as Coupon Gifts

The announcement of two additions to the series of household premiums being offered by the BOSTON AMERICAN—a library art lamp and set of dishes—brought crowds of interested readers to-day to the pretty display room on the fifth floor of the BOSTON AMERICAN building, where the four premiums already announced and several others are on exhibition.

The substantial Mission wall clock, the two beautifully artistic lamp creations fully lighted, the graceful plates and the other surprises held in store for the readers of the AMERICAN all attracted much favorable comment and admiration.

Surprising as it may seem, the number of callers at the display room was almost equally divided between men and women, showing that the premium plan offered by the BOSTON AMERICAN not alone appeals to the housewife, but to the head of the household as well.

Men Also Interested.

While the women discussed the artistic effect the premiums would have in decorating their homes, the men folks were figuring upon the use of various articles to help decorate their offices or places of business.

Among the callers early this morning, shortly after the premium room was opened, were husband and wife who hailed a cab from Hazelett to see the wall clock. The woman quickly decided that she must have the clock for her dining room, while the husband decided that he must have one for his office.

Then the pretty library art lamp caught their fancy, the woman suddenly discovering that their library was badly in need of a light to read by. The husband decided that he did not have enough light on his desk in the office, with the result that when the pair left the room it was with the announced intention of immediately starting to save the necessary BOSTON AMERICAN household premium coupons.

How to Get Premiums.

There were many similar cases, where a caller came in for some one article and before departing decided to have one or more others. The premiums are easy to acquire, there is no competition of any sort. All that is necessary to obtain any one of them is to save thirty consecutive coupons which appear daily and Sunday on Page 2 of the AMERICAN, all of them of conservative date and these with a small cash payment will enable any AMERICAN reader to secure one of the premiums home.

Start saving the coupons to-day. You can start any day, just so you save thirty of consecutive date. Those with a small carry account will be all that will be required to obtain any one of the articles.

EXCEPT ANY THAT APPEAR WITHIN MAY BE OF CONSECUTIVE DATES MAILING AND SHIPPING DEPARTMENT.

All readers of the AMERICAN are cordially invited to visit the premium display room and inspect the various articles offered.

LYDIA LIPKOWSKA, FAMOUS RUSSIAN, TO MAKE DEBUT HERE

Lydia Lipowska, the Russian coloratura soprano, known as the "Russian Tetrazzini," Celestina Boninsegni, the Italian dramatic soprano; George Baklanoff, Russian baryton; Jules Nivette, French bass, and Enzo Leliva, the Polish tenor, world famous singers from abroad, have arrived here for the opening of the season at the new Boston Opera house.

Right in the centre of the group loomed the giant form of M. Nivette, smoking a gold-tipped cigarette which immediately caused several to question him regarding the effect of smoking on the voice. He declared he never smoked on the day of his performance until after the show, and said he never experienced any ill effects.

With him was his wife, a little, pretty woman, light haired and smiling, hardly to be seen at the side of her great husband. On her head she wore a sort of wine-colored fur velvet toque which came down on both sides like a hood. This, she declared, was the chosen Herlot, named for the latest pet of France and the hero of a novel among the ladies of Paris.

With these artists the only singers lacking are Mmes Nordica and Nelson and Dr. Ludwig Wuellnerr. The two former are now on concert tours in the West, but will be here in a few days. Mme Constantino is expected to arrive in New York on the Adriatic. The same steamer will also bring Mrs. Henry Russell, the wife of the director of the company.

Asked if Constantino would surely sing in Boston, Mr. Russell said: "I received the following cable message from him from Queenstown: 'Sailing to-day; notify friends.' Positively sing in Boston."

Old Country Folk Dances Taught Girl Students to Stimulate Work at School

Making girls graceful and bulny by exercising their feet has been put into practise at Quincy Evening School and the girls there are now going through the steps of the folk dances of foreign countries.

By the development of the graces, the women instructors hope to stimulate the girls mentally, afford them a healthful recreation and inspire them with a better knowledge of geography, besides making them, all around, better specimens of femininity.

The school authorities are still "from Missouri" and want to be "shown" the value of the odd new teaching, and that is the reason why the work is being conducted at private expense.

Mrs. James Storrow has defrayed the cost of the dancing classes in the Quincy School and the day classes in the North End. All the city has to do with it is to furnish the room and the lights.

Stimulate Facilities.

Mrs. Storrow believes that the teaching of folk dances to the pupils will be fraught with good results. Not that the knees edge of the Swedish or the Italian or the Irish dance will directly benefit the students intellectually, but the exercise will stimulate their mental facilities and the enjoyment obtained will enable them to attack the school work with more zest.

The class at the Quincy School has almost outgrown the school board, but they want to be shown some more and the second year has begun without their active support.

Miss Bertha Hazard, principal of the Quincy Evening School, is strongly in favor of the teaching of folk dances.

"We do not aim to equip the pupils for the public dance hall," she told an AMERICAN reporter. "The dances taught in these classes are not of that sort at all.

Reward of Merit.

"They are folk dances. Mrs. Storrow has defrayed the expense of a teacher and Miss Emma Wright is in charge of these classes. Only one period a week is devoted to these exercises and only those girls who have been regularly in attendance are allowed to attend. The dancing classes in a way are a reward of merit and the pupils are eager to be admitted.

"It is my opinion that the folk dances have stimulated the pupils as their they have been more successful with their other work. It also excites an interest in the countries where the dances are practised and in this way their geography lessons are assisted.

"The exercise is healthful and the music pleases them. Some of them have no ear for music and are awkward and clumsy, but they improve wonderfully and finally give really creditable performances.

Only Girl Students.

"Last year we had two sections of about thirty girls each. They learned the Italian tarentella so that they could dance it gracefully, and were taught several other famous dances during the season. This year's class has just been formed and the work will have to begin all over again.

"The teaching of folk dancing in the schools has been done for some time in Hull House and the teachers report very favorable results. It is done there on quite a large scale.

"I do not know whether Boston school authorities will come to look upon it as desirable or not, but the lack of money is likely to make them slow about adopting it generally.

"Only girl students are taken in these classes, and there are no classes in dancing for men or boys in the Boston schools.

A WAIST CONTRACTION.

"LAURA," said the young lady's mother, not unkindly, "it seems to me that you had the gas turned rather low last evening."

"It was solely for economy, mamma," the maiden answered.

"There is no use trying to beat the gas company, my daughter. I have noticed that the shutting off of the gas is always followed by a corresponding increase of pressure."

"Well, that lessens the waist, doesn't it, mamma dear?" replied the wise girl.

"ADVANCE OF SAVAGERY."

MR. GRUMP (a savage bachelor)—I don't see why a man should get married when a good parrot can be bought for $25.

Miss Readywitt—As usual, we women are at a disadvantage. A grizzly bear can't be bought for many times that.

End of the Feud — A Short Story

WHEN the Orchard Hill Billingsly's came to town and walked down Main street the sunny side of Main street doing their Saturday shopping it was certain that the Billingsleys of Crimp Heights would confine themselves strictly to those shops on the shady side of the street.

So the sight of them, once, caused grumbling among the merchants of Hunterton, for the Billingsleys and their relations by marriage represented a considerable proportion of all those who did their trading in that town.

Questioning any resident of Hunterton as to the reason for the feud was likely to result in straining the imagination of the person seeking to give information, for so long had the breach lasted and so deeply buried was its origin under a mass of later accusations and counter accusations and general gossip that no human being, to be strictly honest, really knew what was the original cause.

Hunterton children were born in the knowledge that the Orchard Hill Billingsleys must not be asked to the same tea parties with their kinsmen from Crimp Heights. They accepted the fact—as they accepted twenty-four hours in the day and Winter flannels on October 15—without curiosity. The present generation of Billingsleys had inherited the quarrel.

All these things being so, it was natural that business on Main street should stop on the day that Leonora Jones did what she did.

Leonora Jones was a girl from a town eighty miles to the east, who was visiting Cassie Billingsly. The two had driven in from Orchard Hill in a light cart. As they turned from the curbing on one side of Main street, Leonora suddenly beamed and cried, "Wait a minute!" Then she grabbed the lines from Cassie's hands and leaped directly across to where a young man, flippantly, at the end. "I never Frenchman's foot is long, narrow and heard the like! Why, Arthur Billingsly is splendid. He visited a college friend in my town! You're a goose—he looked at you all the time! It's easy to see that he's dying to know you!"

"I don't care to know him!" said Cassie, stiffly. The memory of his eyes still made her feel bewildered, yet furious.

"I'm!" commented Leonora. "I'd like to meet a few of your gilt-edged family prejudices! Of all bilgotic things!"

Cassie had the lines the day she and Leonora were driving over to a neighboring village, so the latter cannot be accused of being entirely responsible for what happened. But the fact remains that Leonora saw who the man was approaching on foot with gun and dogs and

Cassie had the lines the day she and at a scurrying rabbit Leonora took occasion to scream and clutch at the driver's arm. There was a swerve and then a crash and the two girls were thrown out, while the Billingsley horse galloped off.

Leonora sat up with a confident laugh and put her hair straight. Down the road the man came running, as she had expected. Then as she turned triumphantly toward her companion she grew suddenly white and shaken.

For Cassie was neither laughing nor frowning at the misadventure. She lay still and the sharp stone beneath her head was stained crimson. Arthur Billingsly raised her up and the fright in his eye met the fright in Leonora's.

"Through those fields," he ordered. "To the Beckett house!"

Leonora ran for help. She had indeed thrown Arthur and Cassie together, but at what a price!

Back in the road Cassie opened her eyes once and smiled unknowingly at Arthur. It was the first time in years that the lips of an Orchard Hill Billingsly had curved up instead of down at a Crimp Heights Billingsly—and even this smile was a bit delirious. But it was a smile.

When Arthur Billingsly had brought Cassie home and actually entered the house nobody thought much about it in the excitement. When he called the following day to inquire about her it was too late to do anything but let him in.

"Anyhow," said Cassie's helpless and bewildered family, "Arthur seems to be an exception!"

When Leonora finally went home she laughed in Cassie's face.

"What do you think of me as a dove of peace, anyhow," she demanded. "I'll come back and be maid of honor whenever you say, Cassie!"

And several months later she did.

Nowadays you will find the Orchard Hill Billingsleys and the Crimp Heights Billingsleys shopping peacefully on both sides of Main street, thus restoring the financial equilibrium of Hunterton. Be everybody is satisfied.

LLOYD'S EYEGLASSES & SPECTACLES

KRYPTOK BIFOCAL LENSES

Far and Near Glasses in a single pair. An enormous convenience over separate pairs for far and near.

ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.
10 Washington St. | Boston.
16 Boylston St. | 72 Summer St. | and
1252 Massachusetts Ave. Cambridge

Visit Our Premium Display Room

And See the Handsome

HOUSEHOLD PREMIUMS

.. OFFERED BY THE ..

BOSTON AMERICAN

For 30 Coupons and Small Cash Payment

Series of most useful, valuable and ornamental articles that will appeal to all good housewives. They will serve to beautify not alone the home, but will prove most useful ornaments as well to any office or place of business.

Start Saving Coupons To-day

Start Any Day, but Save 30 of Consecutive Dates

Visit Our Display Room

Fifth Floor—BOSTON AMERICAN—80 Summer St.

REAL ESTATE TRADING GOOD IN OCTOBER

October proved a good month of the yearly business and in Suffolk county, the total number of mortgages filed at the registry of deeds, as well as the aggregate amount of mortgages, went ahead of the record for the same month of both 1908 and 1907. The total number of transfers, however, fell short of the record for last year but not sufficiently to mark and decline in the general strong tone of trading.

The following table, compiled by the Real Estate Exchange, gives the entries of record for the months of October at the Suffolk registry of Deeds:

	1909.	1908.	1907.
No. of transfers	1,200	2,159	1,972
No. of mtgs.	976	883	791
Amt. of mtgs.	$3,841,526	$3,693,882	$3,777,450

Last week's business showed an improvement in business over the previous week in the number of the total number of transfers and mortgages, as well as the aggregate total of mortgages, short of the record for the corresponding week of last year.

The accepted table, compiled by the Real Estate Exchange, gives the figures for the week:

	1909.	1908.	1907.
No. of transfers	301	266	256
No. of mtgs.	253	197	230
Amt. of mtgs.	$953,328	$1,370,050	$724,215

Following is the table, also compiled by the Real Estate Exchange, of daily transfers for the week beginning October 25, and ending October 30:

Date.	No.	Amt. of Sale.
October 25	119	$186,150
October 26	63	186,100
October 27	63	42,750
October 28	57	214,127
October 29	66	190,912
October 30	102	114,852
Total	505	$934,382

Trading in realty today was very brisk and a number of good sales were reported.

In the name Ray Martins A. Nicoll, as trustee, to Frank D. Comeau of 1 Ashland, Brough W. Stanley Tripp, the property at No. 400 Saratoga street, between Bennington and Chelsea streets, each. This comprises a three-story brick building with trading and lot 20 by 100 feet, assessed for $11,900, of which $4,800 is on the land.

In South End, Harry L. Lucas has sold to Frank H. Bather the three-story and basement brick and granite dwelling and land at No. 20 Hanson street, near Carleton square, for the property is taxed for a total valuation of $7,900, of which $3,000 is on the land.

Also in South End property sold is on West Concord street, near Clement street, which has been purchased by Frederick Keim of Roxbury from Daniel J. A. Herr from Robert F. Conroy. The land is rated for $2,200.

The three-story house and 12,000 square feet of land at No. 220 South Hill avenue, near Denny street, Dorchester, have been bought by Harriet H. Frazer from Malcolm K. Dexter. This is taxed for a total of $7,400, of which $2,500 is on the land.

Another Dorchester property sold is that at No. 22 Auckland street, near Bedford street, and comprising a frame house and 3,000 square feet of land, sold by William Riley et ux. to Annie A. Riley for $5,200, of which $1,000 is on the land.

Andreas Rimes, as executor, has sold to Mary E. Estate Exchange, one parcel of land containing 5,000 feet of land, all assessed for $5,000, at No. 2520 Dudley street, between Shawmut and Harrison avenue, Dorchester. The land is taxed for $4,500.

Mary Keller has transferred to Joseph E. Dezotelle the frame house and 4,287 square feet of land at No. 30 Falcon avenue, East Boston, for $6,500, of which $1,000 is on the land.

Another Dorchester estate sold to-day is that at No. 244 Vernon street, near Crest avenue, which has been conveyed by John F. Kingsley to Perley Eldridge. The property is taxed for a total valuation of $2,800, of which $900 is on the land.

John Wright, as executor, has sold to Albert P. Hopkins the frame house and about 15,000 square feet of land at Nos. 5 and 7 Idaho street, and taxed for a total of $2,500. The land is rated at 10 cents a foot. He has sold the adjoining property at Nos. 9-11 Idaho street to Joseph A. Gallagher. This is taxed the same as the other parcel. Both are to be used for flats.

Hilden L. Davidson has sold to Augustus L. Gilfillan a tract of 11,616 square feet of land at the corner of Pleasant, Howes and East Cottage streets and Fiske Meeting square, Dorchester. It is assessed for $6,000.

The same buyer has sold to Mary A. Reilly et al. a lot of 4,000 square feet of land, taxed for $1,000, on Wheatland avenue, adjacent to that bought of Gilfillan.

In Roxbury Edward T. Curtis has sold to Ira N. Bond a lot of land on Intervale street, opposite Hales street, and containing 3,208 square feet, taxed for $1,600.

To West Roxbury the frame house and 9,760 square feet of land at No. 15 Sheridan street, corner of Chestnut avenue, have been sold by Alice H. Goodwin to Mina Wirth. The estate is taxed for a total valuation of $3,000, of which $4,000 is on the land.

Ronald I. Joyner et al. and Henry S. Tufts have sold to Samuel H. Stelling a lot of land at the corner of Columbia road and Ensworth street, South Boston, containing 30,110 square feet, and taxed for a total of $2,000.

DENY HOPE BOOTH IS "BROKE" IN EUROPE

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Friends and relatives of Miss Hope Booth, the American vaudeville artist and wife of Reynold Wolf, the dramatic critic, expressed surprise at the cabled dispatches from Genoa, Italy, that she was ill and in need there. Maurice Meyer, Miss Booth's attorney, said: "Mr. Wolf gave her $1,000 on May 28, the date of sailing, which we believed to be more than ample for the contemplated trip. Later in response to messages Mr. Wolf sent large sums of money by cable until Miss Booth has received an aggregate of $4,225 during the five months she has been abroad."

MRS. W. B. LEEDS TO MARRY A PRINCE?

LONDON, Nov. 1.—For a long time there has been gossip in Paris that Mrs. W. B. Leeds would wed DeWard Cutting, who was been very attentive in the past two months. Both Mrs. Leeds and Mr. Cutting had engaged passage on the Kronprinzessin Cecile, now bound for New York shortly before the boat sailed some differences arose between the two and Mrs. Leeds suddenly cancelled her reservation. It is said the rich American whom will wed Prince Delwchage.

REVIVAL IN ROXBURY.

A three weeks' series of evangelistic meetings under the leadership of the Rev. Jos. S. Gray and Charles F. Allen will be opened Thursday evening in the Wilkhrop Street M. E. Church, Roxbury. Services will be held every evening except Saturday, and on Sundays there will be additional meetings forenoon and afternoon. Mr. Gray and Mr. Allen are members of the Chapman-Alexander staff.

YOUNG GIRL FALLS FROM THIRD STORY

Ellen Howes, age eight, of No. 9 Seckle street, Cambridge, is at the Cambridge Relief Hospital suffering from a broken thigh. The child was playing at an open window at her home on the third story of the building and tumbled to the yard below.

CANNIBALS KILL SHIPWRECKED MEN

MANILA, Nov. 1.—The slaughter of two Englishmen and three Chinese by cannibals on the Admiralty Islands was reported here on the arrival of the Pacific squadron of the United States Navy. Only one of the party of six men who fell into the hands of the cannibals escaped the fate of being eaten. The survivor was an Englishman. The six men were in a small boat and are believed to have been rescued from a wreck.

KILLED BY BALLOON.

ROME, Nov. 1.—As the dirigible balloon Jose Ilis was making a landing here on its return trip from Naples to Bracciano, Lieutenant of Engineers Pietro Rovetti, in keeping the crowd back, stepped too near the whirling propeller of the dirigible and was instantly killed, half of his head being torn away.

LABOR MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT, GUESTS OF CITY, OFF TO-DAY

With expressions of praise for the labor officials who have made their five-day stay in Boston replete with good instruction, A. H. Gill and J. R. Clynes, labor members of the British Parliament and fraternal delegates to the coming American Federation of Labor Convention at Toronto, left to-day for Fall River, where they will address a mass meeting of textile workers to-night.

They will leave Fall River for Lowell tomorrow, and on Wednesday evening go to New York. From that city they will go to Niagara Falls, and from there proceed where the convention opens on November 8.

The delegates and their wives were given a farewell dinner by Frank H. McCarthy, New England organizer of the A. F. of L., and President Michael A. Murphy and Vice-President William H. Gribbon of the Boston C. L. U., who have been their hosts since their arrival. The delegates had a farewell conference with the prominent labor leaders whom they have met during their brief visit.

The party included President Phillip H. Sweet and Secretary-Treasurer D. D. Driscoll of the Massachusetts State Branch, A. F. of L.; James W. Wall of Worcester, vice-president of the branch and the chairman of the political activity committee; Fred J. Knockhoff of Boston, E. Gerry Brown of Brockton, Joseph P. Convery of Lowell, J. J. Giffin of Lynn, William F. Grady of Springfield, members of the political activity committee; Martin T. Joyce, ex-president of the Boston C. L. U.; George F. Tuson, chairman of the C. L. U. union label committee, and Secretary Thomas J. Mahan of the teamsters.

BOSTON MEN SAVE HIGH WINE DUTIES

Boston importers were saved thousands of dollars by the arrival in New York a few hours before the expiration of the old trade agreement with France of the La Touraine and other liners laden almost to capacity with champagnes, wines, brandy and liquors. It is estimated $20,000 were saved to Boston men on the cargo of the La Touraine alone.

The customs house here was kept open all day yesterday. At least thirty men spent the day at their desks.

About noon Capt. McDonald of the Collection boat in sight of the collector's office with a manifest of his cargo. The 42 cases of goods in Capt. McIvay's cargo affected by the new tariff were ten cases of brandy, fifteen of French gin, five of rum and two of cherry. They were admitted under the low rate of duty. Such goods coming in to-day will be assessed a duty of about 63 more a case.

UNCLE TO CONTEST CHARITY BEQUESTS

George F. Willard, of Waltham, has given notice that he will contest the will of his niece, Carrie F. Abbott, of Cambridge, who died on June 14 last, and left an estate of $43,000, of which $25,000 goes to charity. The beneficiaries under the will are: Cambridge Hospital, Radcliffe College and Cambridge Home for Aged People, $5,000 each; the Sodality for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children and Animals, First Parish of Cambridge, and American Unitarian Association, $1,000; Cambridge Associated Charities and Home for Destitute Children of Boston, $500. A friend of Miss Abbott's estate was appointed administrator in the Probate Court to-day under bonds of $50,000.

RAILWAY CLERKS' STRIKE POSTPONED

The threatened strike among the 2,000 clerks of the N. Y., N. H. & H. road has been postponed pending further conferences between the men's adjustment committee and the officials on the road at New Haven. There will be no strike to-day, the time originally set for the men to suspend work if their demands for an increase in wages and betterment of working conditions were not granted from the Hartford line to Boston, however, by almost unanimous vote of the chairmen of the locals of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, it was been decided to tie up the road before the conferences at New Haven does not bring the desired results.

More AMERICANS are read in the homes in Boston than any other paper.

ORCHESTRA OF NEW OPERA WINS PRAISE

An orchestra of selected players from the orchestra of the Boston Opera House was enthusiastically received at Ford Hall last night by an audience of more than 500. The conductor was Blonisio Cerlesio of The conductor was Blonisio Cerlesio of The Conservatory, and his five singers rendered in the program. Nearly every piece on the program was encored, and the orchestra was especially generous, answering every demand and pleasing the audience with its brilliant playing. The work was uniformly good and showed the results of recent playing together. The singers were Miss Assunta Michelini, Biagio Saturno Rinaldi, Miss Idia M. Clark, Miss Anna Rein and Gludice-Fabri.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS; FINANCIAL NEWS

STATE ST. NEWS FOR INVESTORS

To-day is a Stock Exchange holiday in London.

$ $ $

The big bull interests in the market hold the same position they have held for months

$ $ $

The most striking feature in the situation is the growing conviction that the foundation upon which business rests is constantly growing larger.

$ $ $

The high prices that prevail in the stock market and the high prices that are coming are part of a remarkable phenomenon which no financial plans can further or avert.

$ $ $

An era of high prices for all forms of products and securities is as inevitable as fate itself. Gold is the basis of the immense increase in the output of gold from the mines, the remarkable economies that have been adopted in various nations to increase the forms of credit, and to the general prosperity and good will of all nations.

$ $ $

Owing to the great demand for food as a result of the disproportion of crops in countries, the farm products of the United States have this year a total value of more than $7,000,000,000. They must money is usually spoken of with reverence. And yet the new gold produced by the end of 1909 the crest of the last boom has been sufficient to furnish only 40% of the value of the crop of the United States without the use of another ounce of gold or the stretching of credit more than it has been stretched three years ago. Banking methods multiply a billion and a quarter of gold into seven billions and a half of banking power.

This one fact is enough to base a bull market on.

$ $ $

It is generally admitted that the boom in business is actually under way, and is probably greater than that it has reached its greatest proportions. The crest of the boom probably will come in the future. But even now, at the beginning, the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Erie, the Reading and the Harriman lines report the greatest business ever done, and of any date in their existence. The reports from these three railroad systems last week caused an upheaval of prices on the New York stock market. The report for November and December, January and February must be even better.

$ $ $

It will be a pity if the railroad managers so far lose their self-control as to become less intelligent as the laboring men were in the previous boom. They are giving evidence of ineffectual efforts to counteract such a campaign for increasing freight rates. Knowledge of this kind has developed in the first place, there is no justification for it, because it is based upon an increase in proportion of net as their gross increases. The country is in no mood to listen further to such ill-founded cant.

$ $ $

Railroads of the United States would be unable to accomplish their object unless their employes could intelligently help them. The Canadian railroads are under the supervision of public officials who would not for a moment countenance such a proposition, even if Canadian managers were to demand from their public body of a square deal and attempt such a thing.

$ $ $

Most of the railroads need new equipment, and they will have to issue a considerable volume of securities to obtain the money. They had better let the public mind be in a state of rest, and not raise any question that will perplex their prospect of selling the securities.

$ $ $

Peace has reigned in every department of the industrial and financial world except where copper was involved. In this case the relations of leading producers were so unfriendly as to be a national scandal. The organization among the copper producers became so serious that J. P. Morgan & Co. undertook to establish peace by calling a meeting three or four men into friendly relations they have apparently accomplished that great object.

$ $ $

D. Lorne McGibbon, president of La Rose, and some directors are making an inspection of the mines.

$ $ $

Gay & Sturgis to-day occupy their new quarters on the first floor of the Converse building, 101 Milk street.

$ $ $

William B. Long and Chauncy C. Nash have formed a copartnership under the firm name of Long & Nash.

ROXBURY BOY IS KILLED BY AUTO

Joseph Schmitt, ten years old, who lived at No. 26 Field street, Roxbury, was fatally injured in Blue Hill avenue to-day when he was crossing Columbus avenue at Ruggles street. The automobile, which is owned by F. E. Parker of No. 243 Columbus avenue, was operated by James W. Reid of No. 14 Marion street, Wollaston. Reid applied the emergency brakes and did all in his power to avert the accident. The chauffeur picked up the boy and rushed him to the City Hospital in the machine. The boy died soon after.

Chauffeur Reid was brought to the Roxbury Crossing police station, where he was held pending an investigation. Half an hour later he was released by the police. Witnesses told the police that the boy ran directly in the path of the machine.

MONTREAL HOLDS SHIP CELEBRATION

MONTREAL, Nov. 1.—The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the birth of Canadian steamships occupied nearly all of Montreal's attention to-day. Every craft in the St. Lawrence was decorated and the city was bedecked as well. The centenary day of the construction of the Accommodation at Montreal by John Molson of materials brought entirely from Three Rivers on the St. Lawrence. Following the banquet at the Windsor hotel, the celebration will be concluded by the unveiling of the memorial tablet to John Molson.

SCHOOL TEACHER SUED BY AGENCY

WISCHENDON, Nov. 1.—Miss Ida Bancroft, teacher in the High school here, is being sued by the Boston Teachers' Agency to recover $24 as commission for a position which the agency says it secured for her, but which she never accepted. The teacher says she has written the agency and give notice that she did not take the place, but the agency claims the agency a chance to fill it with another patron.

TROOPS OUT FOR KENTUCKY ELECTION

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 1.—The Lexington company of the Kentucky National Guard arrived to-day at Jackson to preserve order at the election here. The ballots to be used in the election are protected by a heavy guard by Democrats, who have been locked in a safe. Governor Wilson is hurrying to Frankfort from New Orleans, whence he was recalled by an urgent message.

FIGHT FOR REFORM.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—A victory over the reform element for District Attorney Rotan by 40,000 was the prediction made to-day by the Republican campaign managers. Clarence De Gibbons, Rotan's opponent, is confident he will win.

STATE STREET STOCK PRICES JUMP A POINT

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Railway equipment shares assumed leadership of the stock market in Wall Street to-day. With American Car and Foundry most active, these issues advanced an average of two points each. A new high record of 75⅞ was recorded by American Car and Foundry, and rumors were heard in the street that owing to the company's enormous business, the dividend on the common stock would be increased at the next meeting.

Standard railway and industrial shares were not very active, although prices were almost one point higher. Atchison showed over one point in the early trading. Pennsylvania continued to show strength and was also firm. Rock Island was also strong. Consolidated Gas was the leader of the speculative, with a gain of 1¼ points.

The London stock exchange was closed because of a cyclone in that city. On New York curb trading was fairly active with prices not materially changed.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Following is the range of prices to noon for leading New York stocks:

RAILROADS.	High.	Low.	Noon.
Atch., T. & S. F.	124⅜	122⅝	124⅜
Balt. & Ohio	117⅝	115⅞	116⅛
Brooklyn Rap. Tr.	75⅞	75⅛	75⅝
Canadian Pac.	184⅜	182⅝	183⅝
Ches. & Ohio	88⅛	86⅝	88⅛
Chi. & N. W.	179¼	178	179¼
Chic., M. & St. P.	158	157⅛	158
Col. & Southern	53⅜	52⅝	53⅜
Denver & Rio G.	48⅜	48⅛	48⅜
Erie	34⅝	34	34⅝
Erie 1st pf.	48½	48⅛	48⅜
Erie 2nd pf.	145⅜	144⅝	145⅛
Int. Metropol	19⅞	19⅜	19⅜
Int. Met. pf.	59⅝	58⅝	59⅛
Kan. City So.	24⅝	24⅜	24⅝
Louis. & Nash.	141	140	141
M., K. & Tex.	48¼	47⅞	48
Missouri Pac.	69⅝	69	69⅜
N. Y. Cent. Rcd.	135½	135⅛	135⅝
N. Y., Ont. & W.	47	46⅞	47
Norfolk & West.	78⅝	78⅛	78⅜
Northern Pacific	148⅛	148⅛	148⅛
Pennsylvania	126⅝	126⅛	126⅜
Reading	162⅝	162⅛	162⅝
Rock Island	40⅝	40⅜	40⅝
Rock Island pf.	80	79⅝	80
Southern Pac.	130⅛	129⅝	130
Southern Ry.	31⅜	31⅛	31⅜
Southern Ry. pf.	71⅝	71⅜	71⅝
Texas & Pacific	20⅞	20⅞	20⅞
Union Pacific	201⅞	201¼	201⅝
Union Pacific pf.	103⅛	103⅛	103⅛
Wabash pf.	32⅝	32⅜	32⅝
INDUSTRIALS AND MISCELLANEOUS.
Amal Copper	86⅝	86⅛	86⅝
Am. Ag. Chem.	47	46⅝	47
Am. Car & Fdy	75⅝	74⅞	75
Am. Cotton Oil	77	77	77
Amer. Locomo	64	62⅜	63½
Amer. Sm. & R.	118	117⅛	118
Amer. Sug. Ref.	118	117⅝	118
Amerconda Cop	48⅝	48⅜	48⅝
Am. Tel. & Tel.	137	137	137
Con. Gas (N. Y.)	145⅛	142⅝	144⅝
Consol. Tobacco	74⅛	73⅝	73⅞
Cons. Leather	46⅛	46	46⅛
Gen. Electric	154	153⅛	153⅝
National Lead	89⅝	88⅝	89⅛
Pacific Mail	47	46⅝	46⅞
Press Steel Car	53⅞	52⅝	53⅛
People's Gas	116⅛	115⅛	116⅛
Rep. I. & Steel	47⅞	47⅛	47⅜
Rep. I. & Steel pf.	106⅛	106	106⅛
Sloss-Sheffield	74⅝	74	74⅝
U. S. Steel	91	90⅜	90⅝
U. S. Steel pf.	128	127⅞	128
Utah Copper	50⅝	50	50⅛
Va.-Car. Chem.	43	42⅝	43
West. El. & Mfg.	87	87	87

BOSTON CURB MARKET.

Range of Prices from 10 a. m. to 12 m.

Stocks.	High.	Low.	Last.
Amer. Consolidated	6⅝	6⅜	6⅝
Amal. Nev.	14c	12c	14c
Bay State Gas	49c	45c	49c
Boston Ely	3	3	3
Chief	7⅞	7⅞	7⅞
Colonial	73	72	73
Consol. Arizona	13-16	13-16	13-16
Cons. Ariz. 6s	81	81	81
Corbin	3⅝	3⅜	3⅝
Cumberland Ely	7 5-16	7 1-16	7 1-16
Davis Daly	5 1-16	5	5
Eclipse Oil	21⅝c	21c	21c
Ely Central	3 5-16	3	3
Ely Consol.	85c	85c	85c
Ely Witch	4c	4c	4c
Fleg. Nat'l Copper	9 13-16	9¾	9¾
Goldfield Con.	7 1-16	7	7
Laramie	4c	4c	4c
Majestic	6¾	6¾	6¾
Mayflower	95c	90c	95c
Nat'l Explor.	57c	55c	56c
Nevada Utah	4¾	4¾	4¾
Raven	10c	10c	10c
Rawhide Coal	31c	30c	30c
Ray Central	2⅝	2⅝	2⅝
San Sofia	2⅛	2	2⅛
Shawmut	10c	10c	10c
Union Copper	4 3-16	3 15-16	4¼

Boston Bank Statement.

	Dec. 30, '09.	Decrease
Loans	$208,859,600	$4,498,000
Specie	7,965,000	1,000
Legals	182,938,000	4,400,000
Deposits	78,442,000	2,100,000
U. S. deposits	2,814,000	*1,000
Res. agents	20,761,000	1,091,000
Exchange clear	18,153,000	*1,502,000
Gross deposits	225,846,000	2,543,000
5 per cent. funds	339,750
Circulation	4,509,750	170,000
Specie	23,878,000	208,000
Res. excess	2,987,000	*170,587
Exc. with res. agents	3,560,000	943,145

*Increase.

Excess of reserves last year: In Boston, $3,-913,714; with reserve agents, $18,224,714.

COPPER MARKET.

London opened steady: Spot 65l 10s., futures £58 12s. 6d., each up 2s. 6d.

Closing easy: Spot £57 5s.; futures £56 7s. 6d., each off 5 shillings.

SILVER MARKET.

London bar 25d., up 1-16 pence. New York bar 50½, unch. up ⅛ cent.

LOCAL STOCK LIST STRONG

STATE STREET, Nov. 1.—Naturally the stock market was quiet to-day as to-morrow (election day) is a stock market holiday. The tone of the copper share list was firm even though brokers had few orders to execute. The fact that it was a stock held by in London also mitigated against activity. Copper warrants there were off a little at the opening. An official quotation of 13 cents is now recorded by leading interests in the domestic market, but no improved demand is noted. Present wants have been pretty well met.

Amalgamated only had an extreme fluctuation of a point up to the noon hour which indicated the lack of interest. It varied from 86⅝ to 86⅜. Steel common shares fractionally to 90⅝. Rotary Ring was the feature outside of copper and had a point advance to 14⅝. Greene-Cananea was a strong spot and touched 8⅛ with a fair local demand for it. North Butte was heavy, varying from 69¼ to 66.

On the Curb First National was the feature, with very heavy trading in it. It touched 65⅞ for high. The market there was strong throughout the list. Union Copper and Chino were next to First National in activity. The former rose to 4⅝ and the latter touched 5.

BOSTON STOCKS.

Following is the range of prices to noon for leading Boston stocks:

RAILROADS.	High.	Low.	Noon.
Boston & Maine	151	151	151
N. Y., N. H. & H.	164	164	164
TELEPHONES.
American	141⅝	141½	141½
New England	135	135	135
MINING STOCKS.
Adventure	5		5
Arizona Commercial	45½	45	45½
Butte Coalition	21	20⅝	20⅝
Calumet & Hecla	670	665	665
Copper Range	81½	81¼	81¼
Franklin	17	17	17
Granby	104	104	104
Greene-Cananea	11⅝	11⅛	11⅝
Mohawk	60½	60	60
Nevada Con.	25⅝	25⅛	25⅝
North Butte	69½	66	66½
Old Dominion	52⅜	52	52
Quincy	89	89	89
Shannon	10⅞	10⅝	10⅞
Trinity	11	10⅞	10⅞
Utah Con.	40	39⅝	40
Utah Copper	49½	49¼	49½
Winona	7¼	7	7
Wyandotte	3⅞	3⅞	3⅞
MISCELLANEOUS.
American Pneumatic	9	9	9
Am. Pneumatic pf.	22½	22½	22½
Am. Sugar	118½	117½	118
Mass. Gas pf.	93½	93½	93½
Mex. Tel.	18½	18½	18½
United Fruit	148	148	148
United Shoe Mach.	49	48⅞	49
United Shoe Mas. pf.	30	30	30
UNLISTED SECURITIES.
Amalgamated	86⅝	86⅛	86⅜
Am. Agri. Chem.	47	46⅝	47
Am. Zinc	27	26⅝	26⅝
Boston & Corbin	21	21	21
East Butte	14½	14½	14½
Kerr Lake	8⅞	8⅝	8⅝
Miami Copper	19¼	19¼	19¼
Superior & Pittsburg	18⅝	18⅝	18⅝
U. S. Smelting	55	54½	54½
U. S. Smelting pf.	52⅝	52½	52⅝

BAY STATE COUPLE IN POISON PACT; GIRL WIFE REPENTS, SAVES BOTH

Preferring to die together rather than separate after their failure to secure employment, John Hollis, twenty-two, whose home is in Woburn, and his seventeen-year-old bride, Mary, who came from Springfield, spent ninety-five cents of their last $1.35 for a sirloin steak and used the remaining forty cents for carbolic acid.

They divided the poison into two portions, which they placed in separate bottles, and then, standing back to back in a room in the Chicago Hotel, Chicago, so that neither should see the other drink the death draught, swallowed the acid and lay down to die.

By a strange intervention of fate the girl bride was but little affected by the poison. Repentant of her suicide attempt she worked for hours over her husband, and dispatches from Chicago to-day say that both will probably recover. They are being cared for at St. Luke's Hospital, Chicago.

Their story of a six months' battle for a livelihood is pathetic. Hollis has tramped Chicago streets every day vainly begging for a chance to work. He gave up when his savings had dwindled to $1.35 and the room rent was two days overdue. He and his bride faced starvation together or the pain of separation to seek employment alone.

Bride Cried "It Burns."

As she raised the poison to her lips, Mrs. Hollis spilled a drop on her cheek. "It burns," she cried and this so startled them that the suicide attempt was nearly spoiled.

They hesitated a moment and then drank the poisons. Several hours later they were discovered by hotel employes and rushed to the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis were married in New York city six months ago. Both were orphans and had known each other since childhood. Since Mary's father died when she was thirteen years old. Hollis had cared for her. He was a machinist and made $3 a day when he could get work. He had saved $200 and his proposal of marriage was readily accepted by the homeless girl.

"It seemed a terrible thing to do," said the girl to-day. "But we did not have a friend in this city. There is something so hard about going about a strange city with no friends and no money. Jack tried so hard to find something to do, and I know he is awfully smart and could do just anything. Now we seem to have a lot of friends, for everybody says they will help us and the police say they will help Jack find work."

THIS THE DAY OF ALL SAINTS

Special services were held to-day in all the Catholic churches of Boston in honor of All Saints' day, which is a holy day of obligation. Solemn high mass was said at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross and at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The services in both churches were attended by large congregations.

The priests who officiated at the Cathedral mass were: Rev. Fr. McCarthy, celebrant; Rev. Dr. Crane, deacon; Rev. Fr. McGee, subdeacon. Rev. Charles J. Bulfin, van. D. C. L., was master of ceremonies.

This evening at 7:30 there will be solemn vespers at the Cathedral.

To-morrow is All Souls Day. In every Catholic church requiem masses will be said for the repose of the souls of the departed faithful. A solemn requiem high mass will be offered at the Cathedral at 9 o'clock.

TURKEY TO FIGHT CITIZENSHIP RULE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The attitude of the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization that subjects of the Ottoman empire cannot become citizens of the United States is not to be changed by the objections of the representative of the Sultan. At the Turkish Embassy here it was announced that a statement would be issued to-night showing that the bureau is wrong in precedents and French and Turkish cost.

MRS. TAFT IN HEALTH AGAIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Close friends of Mrs. Taft were gratified to-day on learning that Surgeon General Torney, the White House physician, considers her completely recovered from her nervous breakdown earlier in the year and now as well as any of the other women who will participate in the season's social events.

Reports that Mrs. Taft's illness last Summer was more serious than first supposed are likewise dissipated. The fact is that Mrs. Taft was never seriously ill during the last year and is now long past the stage of feeling the effects of her recent indisposition.

HALL FIRM HAS FINE FUR STOCK

There is an exceptionally fine stock of furs now on sale at the establishment of the W. G. Hall Fur Company at No. 420 Washington street, Campello, and every one that the prices appeal to those who appreciate fine furs. The house announces today regarding the sale: "We are not going to sell furs only, and after the lots set aside for this extraordinary occasion are disposed of no orders will be accepted except at the regular price of each garment." Among the garments offered at the sale are Russian baby paw skin coats, fine pony coats, sable coney coats and French coney coats.

"Nothing to Wear"

JUST what the American Ambassador is up against when he goes abroad to represent his country, attired in the dress coat of commerce, which in European countries is the uniform of the waiter, and the many shifts he is put to to devise a court uniform, is most entertainingly told by Charles Edward Russell in the

November COSMOPOLITAN

All News-Stands—15 Cents

Read American Want Ads For PROFIT

THE HOME PAPER OF BOSTON

Use AMERICAN Want Ads For RESULTS

SHUN WOMAN UNTIL 40 IS CLUB MOTTO

For we are the bachelors gay;
Marry? We answer, nay, nay:
For food is so cheap
That a good house to keep
Requires a millionaire's pay.

At forty we'll think, not to-day.
If a maiden comes right in our way;
But single we'll keep
For in debt we are deep;
Here's hoping that's where we will stay.

Anthem of the "We Forty Bachelors' Club."

Real bachelors, dyed in the wool, but not women haters, have organized Boston's latest bachelors' club. They have vowed a solemn vow not to be married until they are forty, and perhaps not then.

There are to be forty of them—there are thirty-nine now—and the members will assign for their new undertaking to that the rest of living is so high that it is unjust to the woman to marry her and make her live on the paltry salary that men now earn.

"It's a protest against the present high cost of living," said George A. Nelson, president and organizer of the club. "And until the cost of living comes down with a thud we are going to stay single."

Some of the Conditions.

The organization of the club was not a sudden act nor a dream. It was the result of long, careful thinking on social and economic conditions and has a definite, practical form. A beautiful new clubhouse has been fitted up at an expense of over $1,000 and the palace on Beacon Hill, overlooking Dorchester, has been made as cozy as a place can be made by grants.

"It's a real liberty suit," says Mr. Nelson, "and we are going to stay there until it is possible to marry and be happy. And now that is impossible.

Here are the conditions for membership as laid down by Mr. Nelson and endorsed by the club members:

Every member must swear not to marry until he is forty.

Every member must be able to earn a fair living.

He must have a hobby, for if he has none he is likely to turn to vice instead of recreation and be ensnared.

Every member must be healthy, fair looking and personally attractive to the other sex. He must not be deformed in any way. Otherwise there is no reason for joining a bachelors' club. He can probably stay single without persuasion.

No person dependent upon a woman for support, even if it be his own mother, is eligible. A man who is a slave to women is not much account.

High Prices to the Cause.

"After weeks of hard thinking on the subject," said Mr. Nelson, "and there was a reason for that thinking, we decided to form the bachelors' club and to stay single until we are forty.

"Why? Look at the prices that must be paid for household articles now, and you will see the reason. Eggs are 70 cents a dozen now when a husband. Look at butter, for instance. When my mother lived in my home we paid 29 cents a pound for butter. Now you pay 40 cents and the pay has not increased in proportion.

"Take meats, again. Good steak cost about 20 cents in my mother's household. Now you pay 35 cents and don't get the high quality.

"And rents. The whole thing is ridiculous. One can't get a flat for less than $40 a month, and after you are through paying for that and your gas bills and your butter you haven't enough to buy bread to eat, much more.

"Are we going to miss the social life? Yes, but we won't. We are going out once every two weeks and at those meetings we expect the time of our lives. On Thursday we are going to have a stag whist on Winter Hill."

Shun Women, the Motto.

"Are you going to admit women to your social functions?"

"Of course, not. Shun women is to be our motto. Once a year we are going to let them in so that our members can get a peek at them and see for certainly that at least when the forty age limit comes around and they are allowed to wed. But that's all. Only once a year."

If the gatherings at the clubhouse that were seen by an AMERICAN reporter are any sign of the fun that the new club is to furnish its members there will be few desertions. Still, W there are any the members will profit. For each one properly expelled the deserter will have to buy the dinners of the club one day in each week for forty. For until that age he will not be properly married under the rules of the organization.

The officers of the club are: George A. Nelson, No. 224 Bunker Hill street, Charlestown, president; Francis B. Sayre, secretary, and Arthur A. Gibson, treasurer.

Following are the members of the club: Frank Bankart, Joseph O'Neil, Harry Thompson, Robert Cranny, Lewis Schofield, Augustus Loring, Francis Loring, Harry Vanderson, Alfred A. Gorman, Richard Whittington, William Watson, Alexander L. Smith, Albert Brady, William White, Edward Walter, Harold S. Sawin, Frederick Farnum, Everett Daley, Arthur Houston, John Nesbitt, Chester B. Kilroy, Harry Thompson, Daniel McCarthy, Fred McGuire, George Burke, Edward Burke, Edwin Cummings, Clarence Haggerty, George Stahl, Henry Gould, Louis Brady, Eben F. Stillman.

LABOR

With an increase of $1 a week, the wage scale of Boston Typographical Union 13 for the book and job printers of this city goes into effect to-day, making the minimum $18 a week for compositors and $16 for machine operators. The new agreement has several new clauses, the most important being an old-age provision and the abolition of piece work. It has been signed by the greater number of union shop proprietors before becoming operative.

Following a ten-months' strike, six additional shops start up under straight union conditions at Orange and Newark, N. J., to-day, officers of the State Federation of Union say, leaving only twenty of the eighty-two shops affected by the strike of the hatters' strike still unsettled. The trade unionists of Boston have contributed liberally toward the strike fund of the hatters since their trouble started last January.

To provide for the present organizing campaign, the State executive committee of the Steam Engineers' Union to-day announced that the annual convention of the organization will be held at Red Men's Hall, No. 814 Tremont street, on December 15. It is reported during the last few months the number of members of the State having benefitted by the added interest in the organizing campaign since the present organizing campaign started.

As a mark of appreciation for his services to the cause of labor, the entire membership of the Steam Engineers' International Union is appealed to by the Massachusetts State executive committee of that organization, to raise a fund by voluntary contribution, to place an appropriate monument over the grave of Frank P. Monaghan of this city. Mr. Monaghan at one time was international president of the union, and at the time of his death last Summer was editor of the Steam Engineers' official journal.

PRESIDENT OF NEW BACHELOR CLUB IN DORCHESTER

GEO A. NELSON

CALL MARSHAL TO PROBE FIRES

Men from the fire marshal's office were called to the three-story brick house at No. 855 Columbus avenue, Roxbury, by Lieutenant Fessenden of police station 10 to investigate a suspicious fire in the apartment on the top floor.

The apartment is occupied by a young woman who has been known as Miss Freeman to the other occupants of the house. She is said to be about nineteen years old. Neighbors reported to the police that she left the house and rode away in a taxicab.

CHILD BORN AFTER DEATH OF MOTHER

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—After Mrs. May Schneider had committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid, a healthy baby girl was born to her. Mrs. Schneider, who was eighteen years old, swallowed the poison in the room she occupied with her husband. She was quickly removed to a hospital, where she died shortly after her admission. After hasty preparations had been made, performed a cesarean operation and succeeded in saving the life of the baby.

You see the AMERICAN everywhere—in the homes, clubs, restaurants, hotels, cars and boats.

"ONE" AND "THE OTHER"

The One

Wanting work,
He'd "nothing shirk."
Stating it clear,
The ad ran HERE.

★ ★ ★

No worried brow,
He's working now.

The Other

"I want a man,"
The Want Ad ran.
"Good hours and pay,
Come here today."

★ ★ ★

The man was "right"
"Rings in" to-night.

Deaths.

DEVLIN—In south Boston, October 26, Mary (nee Flanagan), beloved wife of Patrick Devlin, Funeral from her late residence, 12 East Fourth street, Tuesday morning, Nov. 2, 9:15; solemn high mass at St. Augustine's Church at 10 o'clock. Relatives and friends respectfully invited. Interment in Cedar Grove and Attleboro papers please copy.

Special Announcements.

We make your money go further.
Connolly's Drug Store Fields Corner.

BOARD, room and care, before and during confinement; American. 1 Lenox st., Boston.

ITALIAN lunch room, 1944A Tremont st., cor. Northampton, serves delicacies, fruit, cigars and tobaccos. N. TANCREDI.

ROUND TRIP ROOM before and during confinement. 50 East Canton st., Boston.

HARRY BROWN, Piano Mover, South Boston.

1,000 BUSINESS CARDS, $1; also all kinds job printing. BELL PRESS, 81 Leverett st.

Information Wanted.

I WANT

3 LINES FROM YOUR HEAD

if your hair is not growing send me a lock; scanned in color, paper for chemical analysis. BYRON EFFORD, Specialist, 194 Boylston st.

Printing.

I WANT YOUR printing at your own fair price—you can't beat that. NOYT, Inc., 30 A Tre. tree.

Male Help Wanted.

WANTED
Experienced Young Man Stenographers, 21 to 25 years old. Excellent opportunity to learn Newspaper Business. Moderate Salary to start. Write, giving age, experience, references, Box S 500, Boston American.

LINEMEN WANTED.
Experienced linemen for work in city and suburban work. Apply FRED C. LEY & CO., 142 E. First st., South Boston.

CARPENTER wanted to do jobbing; ready job for right man. Inquire at 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

FIVE HUNDRED strong young men wanted immediately for firemen or trainemen on quarter rail road; good wages, steady employment; transportation sent to positions last two months, $75-$100 monthly; permanent position; 25 cents per hour to start; send stamp. RAILWAY ASSOCIATION, 1270 Broadway, New York.

GALVANIZED iron workers and assistants wanted. R. T. DAVIS MFG. CO., Boston, Mass.

TAILORS and tailoresses wanted at once; apply to M. LICHTENSTEIN & CO., Cambridge st., (factory entrance on 7th st.).

WANTED—Able-bodied men for the U. S. marine corps; between the ages of 21 and 35; must be native born or have first papers; monthly pay $15 to $30; additional for foreign service; free clothing, quarters and medical attendance free; apply at once at recruiting office, 341 Washington st., corner of Beach st., Boston; also on board ship and others in all parts of the country. Enquire at office, 341 Washington st., Boston.

WANTED—Railway mail clerks; salary $800 to $1,200; examinations in Boston soon; common education sufficient; candidates examined free. Write immediately, FRANKLIN INSTITUTE, Dept. 102, Rochester, N. Y.

WANTED—2 first class women weavers at VASSAL-BORO MILLS, North Vassalboro, Me.

WANTED—Bindery girls; good wages; must be 250 York, near. G 476, Boston American.

WANTED—Young man to learn printing business; big opportunity for right person who can start at once; small salary to start; send for free booklet; tells how. HEACOCK, Lock-port, N. Y.

COLLATERAL LOAN TICKETS, old gold, and silver bought, highest prices paid. 1 Bowdoin sq., Room 1, Boston. GOODYEAR welting, rounding or stitching; also cutting, pumping, edge trimming or setting; prices reasonable. 1 Lenox st., South Boston. SPRING mattresses, old iron bedding. Linen, bedding, table linen bought.

THE MAN who is looking for a job would be money ahead to learn the automobile business; we can teach you in a few weeks; call at our store. 4-12 REED, 509 Tremont st., Boston.

MOVING PICTURE MACHINES, $20; operator will teach; no experience. MOORE, 222 Tremont st., cor. Boylston.

MEN to run picture machine, $20 week; will teach; no experience necessary. 222 Tremont st., cor. Boylston. REID'S BUREAU, 120 Tremont.

YOUNG MAN to learn the automobile business; old new work; terms $10 per month. Call NUDD, the engraver, 1 Lott old South Bldg.

Male Situations Wanted.

AL COLORED MAN would like to get a job working around stock. Has been in the horse business coming to Boston. H. T., 71 E. Dedham st., suite 6.

A COLORED MAN would like a position as porter or janitor; has had experience in both positions. DANIEL JONES, 38 Bockingham st., Boston.

A YOUNG man, 20, wants situation in real estate office; would like to learn the business; other lines considered. C 168, Leverett st., Beacon Hill.

A YOUNG COLORED MAN wishes employment as steward by or with family; has had years' experience; references. Address P. N. H., 27 Fallon st., Boston.

A COLORED man wants work, carpenter, small; work guaranteed; will do work by day. Address J. 626, 3d st., Cambridge.

CHIROPODIST, six years' experience, wants position in first class shop. Address CHIROPODIST, 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

EXPERIENCED electrician's helper (taking 3d year course) wants position in machine shop; can furnish best of references. P. 181, Boston American.

FARM FOREMAN, practical farming, 20 years; life and general farmer. Address L. LOUDY, Hanford, Conn.

HANDY MAN with tools wants work; wood working preferred. M. 620, Boston American.

MAINE young man would like position working around stock or garage; has had experience in repair shop. Address Room 21, 87 Pearl st., Lynn, Mass.

PORTER, JANITOR—Colored man would like position; will work nights in city or suburbs; reference. Address 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

POSITION wanted by a young man as porter in hotel or store. Address 27 Fallon st., Boston American.

PRACTICAL nurse, experienced, wishes a case (sister, mother); reliable, best references. Address 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

POSITION as manager of butter and egg store by a man of 20 years' experience. Address Box 62 Dorchester, Mass., or 20 Congress st., Roxbindale, Mass.

SPECIAL sale—Colored man wants to sell shoe polish to gentleman's stable, taking care of horses and carriages; can furnish best of references; 10 years' experience in wholesale and retail grocery store. Address 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

SIXTH st., 9 Cambridge, Mass.

STENOGRAPHER—Colored man, has had 18 months' experience, would like position, will start for $10 per week; can furnish best of references. P. 182, Boston American.

STORE MANAGER wants position, experienced, neat, steady, reliable, good appearance, good trade; can furnish best of references. Address Box 56 East Pepperell, Mass.

GIT wanted by young man as fitchenman or to get washing or either man to board. FRED ALAGE, 65 Lowell st., Somerville.

WANTED, SITUATION—strictly temperate and reliable young man; can take references; please state wages. Address 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

WANTED—Position as waiter; can bring highest references; 10 years' experience. Address Waiter, Tremont st., Mass.

WATCHMAN, sober, reliable, wants position day or night; understands care of boilers. Address Boiler, 23 Park drive, Mapleleaf Mills, Boston.

WANTED—By young man, position as companion and assistant about the house; best of references. P. 183, Boston American.

WANTED—By young man of good character, grade position. 42 Pleasant st., Charlestown.

WANTED—Position as janitor, by colored man; can or shipyard. P. 179, 24 Trent st., Roxbury.

YOUNG MAN 20 years old wants position in general office; stock broker's office preferred; willing to work hard for small wages to start. Address 18 Sterling st., Roxbury.

YOUNG MAN, 22, wants position as office boy; has knows washes and drives. Address JOSEPH KNOX, 74 Friend st., Gloucester, Mass.

Agents and Canvassers.

AGENTS, ATTENTION!
SOMETHING NOT, sells like ——— needs no soliciting; just show it; carries in your hand; every man, woman and child wants one; exclusive territory; sample, 25c. Write quick. MARMON NOVELTY CO., 101 Hanover st.

AGENTS, I'll start you selling Dr. Peal's Pile Ointment. Stands racket; complete outfit free. Write quick. Dr. PEAL MEDICINE CO., Boston.

AGENTS—If interested send 14c. in stamps for sad hair, anti-rust, stainless window cards and big sample offer. Write quick. MARMON NOVELTY CO., 104 Hanover st.

AGENTS—LARGEST and finest line of novelties; permanent; big pay. GLOBE CHAIN CO. Closet 1, Boston.

LADIES—Send for sample of the famous 10 W. Collar Supporter; 25c. Write quick. MARMON NOVELTY CO., 104 Hanover st.

WANTED—Men and women agents to handle new Brown daisy dusper; 100 per cent. commission. MARMON NOVELTY CO., 104 Hanover st.

Female Help Wanted.

CHOCOLATE DIPPERS
CHOCOLATE PACKERS
Experienced girls wanted at LOWNEY'S, 447 Commercial st.

EXPERIENCED finishers wanted on ladies' welts. Apply to HAND AVERY SUPPLY CO., 117 Purchase st.

EXPERIENCED finisher wanted on machine; steady work and good wages. 10 Tremont st., top floor.

GIRLS wanted by United Fruit Co., 41 Long wharf, Boston; those who have worked at fancy fruit packing preferred.

GIRLS wanted, not less than 18 years, to work in factory; steady work; $7 to $9 paid weekly. OPTICAL CASE CO., Oakdale st., East Dedham.

SHIRT WAIST makers wanted to make ladies' shirt waists; steady work. 10 Tremont st., top floor.

WANTED—Experienced chain power makers; steady work; good pay. 219 Atlantic ave., Boston.

WANTED—Girl for general housework; small family; good wages. 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

WANTED—Women to learn to make rubber use; steady work; good wages. CLIFFORD RUBBER WORKS, 44 Albion st., Monday until Friday, Friday and Sat., 19 Bromfield st., 4th st.

WANTED—At once, 2 cooks, general, second, nursery, waitress, green girls, day women.

Female Miscellaneous.

LEARN DRESSMAKING AND MILLINERY AT M'DOWELL'S, "THE KIND THAT PAYS."

Fall season now open; individual instruction in dressmaking, cutting, fitting, tailoring, designing and millinery, by the famous McDowell method; expert teachers; every pupil taught by hand; the best equipped school in America; if you wish to learn dressmaking or millinery, call or write for circular; call or write this week for our special offer. McDOWELL'S DRESSMAKING AND MILLINERY SCHOOL, 3 Boylston st., Boston.

Female Situations Wanted.

A CAPABLE young woman with hospital training would like position as companion to elderly lady; will travel; a trivial or full charge; highest; willing to travel; best reference. 218 Columbus ave., Boston.

AL COLORED laundress wants laundry work by the hour; reasonable charges; best of references. Address MRS. E. THORBERT, 4 Lenox st., Boston.

A CAPABLE lady would like home laundry work; will go out by the day; reasonable charges; good references. Address MRS. HARRIS, 10 Malta st., Cambridge; tel. 1852-2.

A CAPABLE young woman wishes position as stenographer; has had years' experience; best of references. Al satisfaction guaranteed; reference will be given if desired. Address Miss V. 648, 3d st., Boston American.

A NEAT English Protestant cook, first-class all round, wants, sobers; excellent; broad and plain cooking; good home more than wages; city or country. Call 5345 Tremont st., 21000 Tremont.

A NEAT girl wants housework; prefers downstairs work at home; reasonable charges; good references. Call 5345 Tremont st., 21000 Tremont.

A NEAT, capable lady wants to go out as nurse or any work anytime; has experience and well recommended. MRS. GRAY, 67 E. 7th st., cor. Boston.

A YOUNG lady would like a situation as housekeeper with her boy, 9 y. s.; is willing to go a short distance. Address MRS. E. Daniels, P. O. box 28.

A RESPECTABLE COLORED woman would like day's work and laundry at home. MRS. L. WATSON, 30 Cedar st., Roxbury.

A CAPABLE WOMAN wants work by day or week; good cook; reasonable wages. Call 1586 Dorchester, or 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

A CAPABLE young woman would like plain sewing or dressmaking; willing to go out by the day; reasonable. MRS. M. C., 109 Clark st., Cambridge.

COLORED laundress wants work by day, 75c. and carfare; also washing of rugs, 5c. per square foot; price reasonable. MRS. A. R. FRANCIS, 20 Union park, Boston; tel. 1852-2 Richmond.

COMPETENT young colored woman would like laundry work to take home or would go out by the day; good references furnished. M. 27 H., Boston American.

COLORED GIRL wants work morning and afternoon; can do house work, or take care of the work. Minutes and Thursdays. Write to 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

CAPABLE woman would like chamber work or will take in laundry to take home; would take office work. 43 Dundee st., suite 2.

CAPABLE English girl wants place; can go small family; good wages. 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

COLORED GIRL wants work by lady's day; reasonable. MRS. L. B., 7 Dartmouth Place, Boston.

COLORED girl would like laundry to take home; good washer and ironer. 1 Lenox st., top floor.

COLORED girl wants housework, small family; good wages; good home more than wages. Call 1586 Dorchester, or 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

COLORED girl would like laundry to take home. Call 1586 Dorchester, or 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

COLORED WOMAN would like general work in family. 1 Lenox st., cor. Dorchester st., city.

CASHIER'S position, experienced; references; Boston American.

CARE of children or apartments wanted by a competent woman. Address S 401, Boston American.

DRESSMAKING—Will go out by the day; also would take work home; can do repairing and making over; reasonable. MRS. E. A. MORRISON, 1 Lenox st., city.

DRESSMAKER—Will go out by the day; also would take work home; can do repairing and making over; reasonable. 218 Columbus ave., suite 7.

EXPERIENCED colored woman wants cooking, good restaurant; best reference, please call, 71 W. Dedham st.

EXPERIENCED woman wants cleaning two or three days a week; can do plain cooking; references required. MRS. OLSON, 109 Tyler st., city.

EXPERIENCED woman wants work cleaning, washing and ironing to do at home. MRS. HARRIS, 10 Malta st., Cambridge.

EXPERIENCED woman wants cleaning offices, stores or banks; good references. Address Miss M., 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

FRENCH LADY, visiting governess, speaking French and English, wishes to travel with children. GALLEY, 84 Warrenton st., Boston.

GENERAL WORK by day, hour or permanently; small wages, all of Saturday. 65 Tyler st., Boston.

HOUSEKEEPER'S position; immediately; by young woman, 23; best of references; can furnish best take every care of a comfortable home; very moderate wages; 1 to 3 in family. Address Housekeeper, 39 Lexington st., Dorchester, suite 3.

HOUSEKEEPER or housework by Swedish lady; will go out to a small family; good references; wages $20 to $25. 1 Norfolk st., Dorchester.

LAUNDRESS would like washing and ironing to do at home; can do it reasonably. MRS. E. A. MORRISON, 1 Lenox st., city.

Female Situations Wanted.

LAUNDRY work to take home, wanted by an experienced laundress. MARION GREEN, 85 Washington st., Roxbury.

LAUNDRY WANTED to take home. MRS. V. BLACKWELL, 8 Burbank st., Mattapan, near Harvard station.

MISS ANNIE E. STAIG would like work by the day or any kind, would take laundry work to take home; reasonable. 1 Lenox st., South Cambridgeport.

MRS. CHAMBERS would like washing or children's clothes or plain sewing to do at home; reasonable. 1 Lenox st., South Boston. MRS. Emma st., South Cambridge.

MANICURE, hairdresser wants a position; graduate of New York School of Dermatology; position preferred in a first class establishment. Call by mail, Hairdresser, 85 Dundee st., suite 3.

MISS CARRIE DENNIS wants work; she is willing to go out or town washing and cleaning; please write. MISS CARRIE DENNIS, 3 Washington pl., 67 Phillips st., Boston, Mass.

NEAT AND SPRY, colored, would like a place in private family or store; man for inside work, wife for cooking; best of city references. Address 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

NURSERY WORK by colored girl or would care for children by the day; can go out Sundays; reasonable. Address with only particulars as to wages, 27 M. H. HARRIS, D, Bromfield st., suite 3.

NURSE or governess wants care of an invalid or work in a doctor's office; would take the care of children by the week or month. CARRIE E. SAWYER, 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

NOVA SCOTIA maid wishes second or night work; best of references. S. S., 5 Lenox st.

OFFICE position by one desirous of experience; has had some; will work cheap. MISS PHILBRICK, 21 Ash, Boston American.

PRACTICAL nurse, housekeeper or take care of invalid or convalescent case; NURSE, 76 Cambridge st., Boston.

P. C. ISLAND girl wants position to do housework; small family; good home more than wages. Vernon st., Tel. 1362-2 Ros.

POSITION as housekeeper; $10 per week. Write or call MRS. ROW, 457 Dudley st., Bos.

REFINED lady wishes position as companion or housekeeper in a widower's home; no fifties. Address Box 1, Boston American, or 1 Lenox st., South Boston, Mass.

SITUATION wanted as stenographer by young lady; has had experience; will work for the present for small salary; will experience in teaching; call evenings, 5 to 7 o'clock. 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

SITUATION wanted as attendant to elderly person or to care for children; by young girl; has had experience; best of references. Address 1 Lenox st., South Boston.

SITUATION wanted by colored girl as cook; best of references; can go out by the day

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN BOSTON NOVEMBER 1, 1909

BOSTONAMERICAN

80 AND 82 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, NOVEMBER 1, 1909

What the Government Does for Animals Rockefeller Does for Men

An Example of the Intelligent Use of Money That Ought to Be Followed by the People as a Whole

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

Since nineteen hundred and two it has been known that the cause of the "shiftlessness" of certain poor white people in the South was not malaria, and not laziness, but a tiny parasite called the hookworm, lodging in the human digestive tract, and literally sucking the life blood of its victims. Had this been a domestic ANIMAL disease the Agricultural Department at Washington would have gone to work vigorously to stamp it out. There is nothing in the constitution, apparently, which prevents the federal government from interfering to stop the spread of epidemics among cows, and hogs and horses.

But it was not an animal disease—that is, not a disease of the lower animals.

So the federal government did nothing about it.

Had any member of the Senate or the House of Representatives suggested that something ought to be done, he would have been told by Mr. Aldrich or some other constitutional specialist that the constitution forbade the federal government taking any part in treating diseases outside of the District of Columbia.

While the government was doing nothing, physicians continued to study the disease.

They found out a great deal about it, among other things that it was both curable and preventable.

They also found that it was responsible for the weakened condition that leave men easy prey to more deadly diseases, like consumption and pneumonia and typhoid—diseases which attack only people whose resisting powers are low.

It was discovered that the vicious little creatures which spread the disease—worms, not microbes—fasten themselves within the human body and not only suck the blood, but form tiny scars, which in time spread over the surface of the stomach and other organs and prevent the absorption of food.

Soon the victims, from a state of anaemia or "thin bloodedness," began actually to starve. Their food did them no good, as they are unable to extract from it its life-building qualities.

These facts were at last laid before Mr. Rockefeller, who has now instructed his charities board to expend a million dollars in fighting the disease.

This million dollars will go a long ways. The treatment of the malady is simple; the drugs required are cheap. It is estimated that spending seventy-five cents a year on every victim will in twenty years altogether eradicate the hookworm and rescue a large number of people from lives of misery, wretchedness and uselessness.

Mr. Rockefeller's million dollars will last for ten years.

At the end of that time, let us hope, the people as a whole will awaken to their responsibility in this matter, and, through Congress or through the Legislatures of the States, vote the remaining million that is required.

It is creditable to Mr. Rockefeller to do this public work, but it is discreditable to the people to let him do it.

A government that can care for its sheep and chickens and pet rabbits, studying their diseases, and checking every epidemic that threatens them, surely is strong enough to protect its citizens.

No one man should be permitted to do such a public work as this any more than he should be permitted to build the battleships of the navy or pay for the construction of postoffices and other government buildings.

Many times the money needed in all the medical research now in progress or projected is wasted every year by government extravagance and graft.

Until the people realize their responsibility and power Mr. Rockefeller and other men of wealth will be obliged to do the intelligent spending of money.

It is well that they are willing to do it, but it would be far better if the people, through their government, did all such work so well that no man, however rich, could have the opportunity to shame them by doing what they neglect to do.

"Let the Future Take Care of Itself"

The conservation policy to which the National Administration is committed is opposed by a class of men who are under the illusion that the protection of the public interest in coal and forest lands and water power involves a sentimental sacrifice of the present to the future.

Senator Heyburn of Idaho represents this class. He wants powerful monopolies in his State, and does not hesitate to say that it is only through the rapid rise of monopolies that a new country can be developed so that the present generation can enjoy life.

While admitting that this policy may entail a disadvantage to future generations, he thinks that they should be left to take care of themselves.

This theory of Senator Heyburn, which was acted upon by thousands of people before anybody had the hardihood to frame it, is not merely morally offensive—it is economically unsound.

The actual effect of the establishment of monopolies is not the sacrifice of the future to the present; it is THE SACRIFICE OF THE MASS OF THE PEOPLE TO A CLASS. A feverish activity is set up by the offer of huge privileges to those who can first lay hands on them.

But a privilege is at bottom simpy a taxing power lodged in private hands.

The advantage to general civilization is wholly illusory.

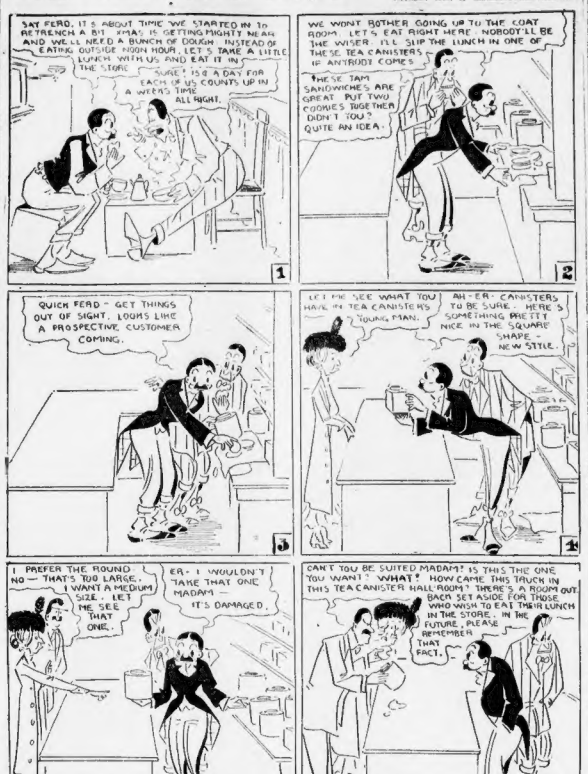
The gain of the privileged few is the loss of the multitude.

It is generally conceded that the Boston American has a greater circulation than all the other Boston evening papers combined, and that it is as strong in Boston in the evening field as, for example, a paper of the combined strength of the Evening Journal and Evening World would be in New York city, or the Evening American and Evening News in Chicago.—Advertisers' Magazine.

The Hallroom Boys

By H. A. MacGILL

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

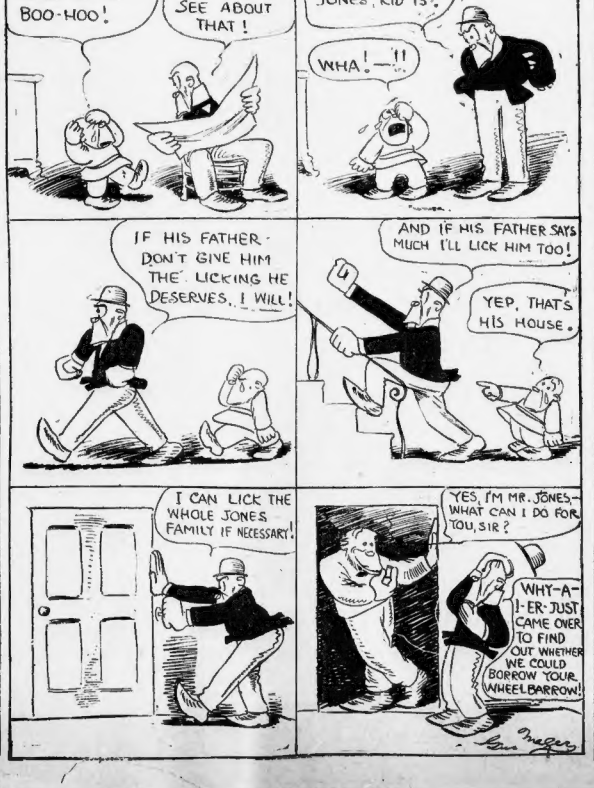


SAY FERD, IT'S ABOUT TIME WE STARTED IN TO RETRENCH A BIT. XMAS IS GETTING MIGHTY NEAR AND WE'LL NEED A BUNCH OF DOUGH INSTEAD OF EATING OUTSIDE NOON HOUR, LET'S TAKE A LITTLE LUNCH WITH US AND EAT IT IN THE STORE
SURE! IS A DAY FOR EACH OF US COUNTS UP IN A WEEKS TIME ALL RIGHT.
WE WONT BOTHER GOING UP TO THE COAT ROOM, LET'S EAT RIGHT HERE. NOBODY'LL BE THE WISER. I'LL SLIP THE LUNCH IN ONE OF THESE TEA CANISTERS IF ANYBODY COMES
THESE TAM SANDWICHES ARE GREAT. PUT TWO COOKIES TOGETHER DIDN'T YOU?
QUITE AN IDEA.
QUICK FERD - GET THINGS OUT OF SIGHT. LOOKS LIKE A PROSPECTIVE CUSTOMER COMING.
LET ME SEE WHAT YOU HAVE IN TEA CANISTERS YOUNG MAN.
AH-ER- CANISTERS TO BE SURE. HERE'S SOMETHING PRETTY NICE IN THE SQUARE SHAPE - NEW STYLE.
I PREFER THE ROUND NO — THAT'S TOO LARGE. I WANT A MEDIUM SIZE. LET ME SEE THAT ONE.
ER- I WOULDN'T TAKE THAT ONE MADAM — IT'S DAMAGED.
CAN'T YOU BE SUITED MADAM? IS THIS THE ONE YOU WANT? WHAT? HOW CAME THIS TRUCK IN THIS TEA CANISTER HALL ROOM? THERE'S A ROOM OUT BACK SET ASIDE FOR THOSE WHO WISH TO EAT THEIR LUNCH IN THE STORE. IN THE FUTURE, PLEASE REMEMBER — THAT FACT.

Coldfeeto the Monk!

By GUS MAGER

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner



PAPA', WILLIE JONES HIT ME — BOO-HOO!
HE DID, DID HE? — WE'LL SEE ABOUT THAT!
SHOW ME WHERE THIS JONES KID IS!
WHA! — !!
IF HIS FATHER DON'T GIVE HIM THE LICKING HE DESERVES, I WILL!
AND IF HIS FATHER SAYS MUCH I'LL LICK HIM TOO!
YEP, THAT'S HIS HOUSE.
I CAN LICK THE WHOLE JONES FAMILY IF NECESSARY!
YES, I'M MR. JONES — WHAT CAN I DO FOR YOU, SIR?
WHY-A-I-ER-JUST CAME OVER TO FIND OUT WHETHER WE COULD BORROW YOUR WHEELBARROW!

To Preserve a Government by the Consent of the Governed, the Boston American Advocates:

First—Direct nominations, that the people may select such public servants as they deem worthy;

Second—The recall, that the people may dismiss such public servants as have proved unworthy;

Third—The initiative, that the people may compel action upon such legislation as they deem necessary;

Fourth—The referendum, that the people may accept or reject legislation as they deem desirable;

Fifth—A Corrupt Practices act that will limit election expenses to legitimate purposes and make men, and not money, the deciding force in American politics;

Sixth—Public ownership of public utilities, that the values created by the people shall belong to the people, and a referendum upon every public franchise, that no public servant shall barter the people's property for his private gain;

Seventh—The election of Senators by the people, and of Judges for short terms, that no branch of government shall feel itself too far above the people or too long removed from the people.

A "TALK" BY GYPSY SMITH

REBELLIOUS CHRISTIANS

Especially written for the Boston American by the great evangelist, Gypsy Smith.

JUST a word with you men and women who have heard the Gospel of Jesus Christ and have sat convinced of its truth but rebellious.

I say to you that you will never be able to look into the face of your maker and say: "I should have been a Christian had I been given the opportunity."

If you never had a chance to make your peace with God before, or if you think you had not, here is your opportunity—here and now. If you have never had any one willing to talk confidentially to you about this great matter of your soul's salvation, here is your chance now.

Listen!

That which the mighty Gospel of Jesus Christ does not soften it hardens. You are hardened by the process of listening to a gospel that you do not WANT to believe.

I have seen two people sit together under the same sermon and one of them would tremble and weep beneath the strain of resistance to the power of God. The other would be rebellious and hard. I have seen one want to come to the Cross and I have seen the other pull back.

Often that other has been a woman. When a woman sets herself against Christ she is hard set. I have not been an evangelist for a quarter of a century without finding out that when a woman does come to Christ she comes all the way.

There sat Drusilla and there sat Felix. Felix knew that if he became a Christian that woman must go home to her husband. He knew that and he looked at her. In that look he was lost.

Samson lost his strength through a woman.

The daughter of Herodias danced Herod into hell.

Drusilla was the chain that bound Felix for time and eternity. What is binding you men of Boston who turn away from the message my Master sent?

What is getting you by the heart and fettering your life?

What is it that holds you in so tight a clutch?

What is it? You know.

And the truth will come out some day. He sure your sin will find you out at last.

I care not what your evil influence may be. It may be gold, it may be drink, it may be appetite in another form. Ay, even it may be ambition, which is just as damning.

Brothers and sisters of Boston, don't mix for yourselves the bitter drink. Don't fight against God. Don't hug your sin. If a man goes to hell, wherever that is—and I don't know—I say it's a man go there it is not the fault of God.

You don't go to hell because you are a sinner, but because you refuse to walk over the bridge that God has built for your passage to safety and eternal life.

Listen, you people.

If I knew what your individual sins were I would hold them and dangle them before your eyes until you loathed them. I would make you face that sin. I would hold it in front of you until you ran away from it.

I don't know, but God knows.

Turn from that sin now. Come to the cross before your limbs tremble and you are too weak to reach it. If it is a real surrender you will hear the voice saying:

"Thy sins are forgiven thee."

And if your ears were a little keener you would hear the angels singing:

"The dead is alive, and the lost is found."

Ethel—I rather like that young Doubleday. He has a good, firm mouth and chin.

Myrtle—Goodness! Has he been kissing you, too?

Popular Songs

TELL MY WIFE I DIED LIKE A HERO

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

I.

LOUD rang the cannons everywhere, and loud the bugles roared,
The gallant ship was sinking with a thousand souls on board.
The famous general and his staff came galloping along,
And shouted, "At them, men! Come on! Let us kill the red devils before they scalp our loved ones!"
Nobody moved, nobody stirred, and o'er the general's face,
In this moment fraught with anguish, swept the shadow of disgrace.
But, stay! One gallant soldier saved the flag and gave him life,
And muttered while a-croaking: "Take this message to my wife:

CHORUS.

"Tell my wife I died a hero while the ship was going down,
Tell her to sell the country home and move into the town.
She'll know I died a hero, she'll know it very well,
For no one but a hero could have married my Estelle."

II.

They took his wife the message when they got back home again,
She heard each word that he had said, but didn't show no pain.
"And so he died a hero," she mused, upon the porch,
"So them was his dying words, eh? Gee, the old boy certainly hated himself, didn't he?"
The sad and downcast messengers were far too shocked to speak,
They had expected for to see some tears roll down her cheek.
They little knew that there was grief too deep for any tears,
When that last tender message fell upon her shell-like ears.

CHORUS.

"Tell my wife I died a hero while the ship was going down,
Tell her to sell the country home and move into the town.
She'll know I died a hero, she'll know it very well,
For no one but a hero could have married my Estelle."

Why Women Should Vote

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

The recent rapid advancement of the women suffrage movement would seem to indicate that the time is not far distant when women will take an active part in politics. To my mind, there is no reasonable argument against women suffrage. A woman spends the best part of her life in bringing up her boys and girls and when her boys become of age they naturally become more or less interested in politics. Does anyone believe that their mothers are any less interested in the affairs of their country than they are. It has always been argued that a woman's only place is in the home where her influence can best be used over her husband and children and that her sole interest and duty in life is to raise a family and take care of them, "just as a hen takes care of her chickens." It is of course true that a mother's influence is a very great one over her children during their earlier years, but upon reaching their majority, other and even more powerful influences are brought to bear.

A certain clergyman in Boston preached last Sunday a sermon unfavorable to women as suffrage, stating among other things that woman should not vote, as they would have to lower themselves to the level now occupied by the men voters themselves."

The disgraceful political conditions which have existed and which now exist in certain districts throughout the country are undeniable and are, of course, to be deplored, but surely it is hoped that the argument is not offered that women would lower these conditions to a greater degree. To my mind it is quite apparent that with the ballot box accessible to women, the tendency would be decidedly to elevate politics. The arguments which have been offered for many years against the right of women to vote are few and illogical although unfortunately accepted by a large number of women who do not value the right of citizenship.

It is on the whole, quite evident that there is soon a reckoning day to come for the men and they may as well commence now to raise their political standards for this event, first by granting women the right to vote and then by co-operating with them in the work of political purification.

HERBERT RICHARDSON.

Roxbury.